

Milliners and Hairdressers Agree on Bangs For Autumn

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Correspondent
New York—The millinery and coiffure people finally have halted their hair-pulling.

Usually at an undeclared war with each other, they now have created hair styles to go with hats or vice versa.

The result is the hairdo with the fringe on top—to balance the hats which sit well back on the head.

By fall, we women will be hiding our foreheads or part of same under bangs for the first time on a grand scale since the pompadour bangs of the 1930s.

Soft Curis
The new forehead covers aren't flat. Nor are they frizzy. They feature soft curis, half-curis or just wisps. Some are brushed across the forehead and down to eyebrow level in what one style group dubbed "Prince Charlie" cut—after Charles, heir apparent to the British throne.

"Bangs are a must with the new hats—especially the berets and turbans which are worn well back on the head," said a spokesman for Coiffures Americana, which runs a chain of beauty shops in leading department stores. "Otherwise the forehead is harshly exposed."

Coiffures Americana is featuring the "cascade cut" for daytime; the "balloon coil" for dress-up occasions. The cascade has a soft, slightly curled bang formed by brushing the hair forward from the crown.

Short in Back
It is short at the back, and brushed from either side of the head toward the center to form a "puffed swan's tail." The balloon cut consists of big, soft curls brushed high and full.

"The millinery and hair style people finally are getting together," said Kenneth Battelle, head stylist for Lilly Dache. Battelle shows bangs of all types for fall, some of them brushed forward on the face, others brushed up in a soft pompadour effect. "A little height in the hair-do is becoming to all women," said Battelle.

The National Hairdressers and Cosmetologist association adopted the "siren cut" as the official style its 50,000 members will feature for fall. The hair is short "but not a butch," said Thomas Colesant of the association's fashion committee. "The length should be from three to four and one-half inches in length, depending on the shape of the face and head," he explained. "There is a trend to brushing the hair up and away from the nape of the neck."

The siren cut has bangs with lift and some fullness. "A little puff," said Colesant, "so they look good both front and profile."

Auxiliary Wins Award, Citation From Department

Shady Cove—At a meeting of the auxiliary to Steelhead post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Friday night, Mrs. Claude Close of Trail was elected to membership.

Mrs. Reed McKay reported on the department encampment held at Pendleton in June. Steelhead auxiliary won fourth award for its civil defense work and a citation for having 100 per cent membership this year. Mrs. Harry Birch was appointed chief of staff for the department, and Mrs. Dan Krotz was named youth activity chairman.

It was announced that the annual field day, sponsored each year at Camp White by Veterans of Foreign Wars and the auxiliaries, will be held September 21.

Mrs. Dale Sawyer reported that Mrs. James Hopkins, junior past president, had been admitted to Sacred Heart hospital and that Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mills, formerly of Shady Cove and now of Denver, Colo., are the parents of a daughter, Tommy Thompson, veteran who formerly lived at Camp White, and "adopted son" of the auxiliary, was recently injured in a fall, it was reported.

Mrs. Jim Cassal reported on Camp White visitations during June and July; the next visit is set for July 26.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jess Chancellor, Mrs. Frank Busch and Mrs. Tom Burdette. Next auxiliary meeting will be August 2 at the VFW home.

Meringue
Spread meringue on a hot or warm pie filling, not a cold one. This helps prevent the meringue from slipping. Spread the meringue all the way to the crust edge.

Summer Months Bring Visitors To Valley Homes

Summertime brings many visitors to the valley and for their pleasure many informal gatherings are being held.

Miss Katherine Cass of Elizabeth, N. J., is a guest in the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. V. Carpenter, Topside, Old Stage road. Miss Cass, who has visited in the valley from time to time in the past, has many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Alley Jr., and three sons, Frank, Donald and Bill, are here from Arcadia, Calif., for several weeks. In order to be with their many relatives and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Alley and the children are spending the summer in the Alley home, 128 Greenway circle. Mrs. Alley is the former Patricia Thompson, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Holly apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Martin Jr., and infant daughter, Katharine, have arrived from Bronxville, N. Y., to visit Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark. Mr. Martin will return east Sunday, while Mrs. Martin and daughter remain for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fairweather and two children, Douglas and Jennifer, are here from Belvidere, Calif., to visit Mrs. Fairweather's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Davies on Spring street, and Mr. Fairweather's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fairweather, Dark Hollow road. Mr. Fairweather will leave today to return home while his wife and children will remain for a longer stay with her parents.

Here from Charleston, W. Va., is Mrs. Sam MacCorkle and one of her children, John Lytle MacCorkle. They are guests of Mrs. MacCorkle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cummins, Hillcrest road. The two plan to leave Tuesday for the return trip.

Last week Mrs. Carl Wimberly Jr., entertained at a small luncheon for visitors in the valley. Her guests included Mrs. Walker Trece, Portland, in Medford as a guest of her mother, Mrs. I. E. Schuler, Highland drive, Mrs. MacCorkle, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Alley and Mrs. John Parsons, Falls Church, Va., here to visit her father, Seth Bullis, Florence avenue. Luncheon was served outdoors near the swimming pool.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Mrs. MacCorkle and Miss Cass were among a small group of guests invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Luther Jr., for a swimming party and outdoor supper.

Wives Shouldn't Be Jealous When Husbands Rove

Pittsburgh—When a business executive gets cozy with a blonde at a cocktail party, his wife should be sympathetic instead of jealous.

"It's not because he's a wolf at heart, but because he is trying to get recognition," explained Dr. Robert J. Agnew, associate professor of industry at the University of Pittsburgh.

The professor included this advice in a discussion of the duties of the wives of executives. This fact is a regular feature of his course in management problems.

"If your husband meets frustration in his work situation, he may come home and proceed to tell you off," Dr. Agnew said. He advised the wife to realize the husband is not angry with mate.

The wife should provide a calm atmosphere at home as a relief from the tensions of modern business life that her husband experiences, Dr. Agnew said.

She should not insist that the family "keep up with the Joneses, a demand that can send a husband to any early grave," the professor added.

Above all, she should not insist her husband leave his business worries at the office. Let him come home where there is a sounding board for talking out of his troubles.

Dr. Agnew said an executive's wife should be everything any other wife should be "plus a little bit more."

Miss Vandenburg Honored at Party

Miss Mary Vandenburg, who is leaving Medford in the near future, was honored at a farewell party last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, Foothills road. Miss Vandenburg is on the staff of the Southern Oregon Child Guidance clinic, and the party was given by members of the board.

The event was a potluck dinner, and about 60 attended. Miss Vandenburg was presented a gift, and a scrapbook of clippings and pictures contributed by board members.

four years, has also worked with a number of religious and civic groups, as a volunteer. She will leave Medford in early August.

Prospect Parties Given for Brides

Prospect—Two bridal showers were given recently in Prospect. Mrs. Lee Maloy, the former Miss Nancy Darrohn, was honored at a shower given July 12 at the home of Mrs. Earl Milard. Mrs. Dick Walls was co-hostess.

The second party was given July 19 at the home of Mrs. George Govonor in honor of Mrs. Lyle Pope.

New Jacket Shape
There's a new shape to some suit jackets this fall. It is the curved-up cut, with the jacket swinging full instead of hugging the hipline, and hanging much shorter in front than back. Designer Pastine Trigere shows the curved-jacket topping a slim-cut skirt, both in grey tweed.

Medford Student Wins Scholarship

Elk Lumber company scholarship committee, in a meeting July 18, awarded a $300 freshman scholarship to Lewis and Clark college to Miss Carol Hussong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Hussong, 56 South Barneburg road, Medford.

Miss Hussong, a 1957 graduate of Medford High school, participated in many musical groups during her high school years and plans to continue her studies as a music major in Lewis and Clark college. White at Medford High school she was a member of band, choir, madrigal singers, orchestra and various music ensembles. She was also a member of the Pep band, Phy-Chem club, Latin club and Girls' league.

Miss Hussong has been a member of First Presbyterian church of Medford since 1951, and is active in the Westminster Fellowship youth group of the church. She sings in the Westminster choir, and has served as pianist and accompanist for various departments of the church school and vacation church school. She was a member of the church music committee last year.

Miss Hussong was given the Kiwanis award for the outstanding senior band member in June of 1957.
