Airman Released By Trial Errors; Refused Haircut

Fuchu, Japan — Airman 3c Donald Wheeler was ordered released today from prison because of errors in the court-martial which convicted him of disobeying orders to get a "white sidewall" haircut.

Wheeler, of Cortez, Colo., was sentenced to four months imprisonment at hard labor, fined $200 and reduced in rank for disobeying the order to get a haircut he claimed would make him look like a "shaved jack-ass."

Col. Charles W. Johnstone, commander of the 6,000th Support Wing at the U.S. air station here, issued a statement ordering the airman released from confinement and returned to duty.

"I have reviewed the court-martial case of Airman Donald Wheeler and have found certain cumulative errors and procedural irregularities in the trial. For these reasons, I have this date disapproved the findings and sentence of the court."

Johnstone said that normally under such circumstances a new trial would be ordered. But he said he had talked with the young airman and "I am convinced that he has undergone a considerable change of attitude."

"In view of this," Johnstone said, "I do not consider that further trial would serve the cause of justice, the interest of the Air Force or the individual. I have therefore ordered Airman Wheeler released from confinement and returned to duty."

The warning was sounded at the American Bar Association's annual convention here by R. R. Baxter, assistant professor of law at Harvard University and a former Defense Department attorney, and G. I. A. D. Draper, London University law lecturer and former judge advocate in the British Army.

In many countries, they said, there is nothing to prevent a private citizen from filing criminal charges against an American even after the government involved have agreed there is no case.

Theoretically, this could subject military personnel on overseas duty to long pre-trial imprisonment in addition to the expense in time and effort of answering unjustified charges.

Man Kills Estranged Wife; Shoots Self

Denver — A South Denver man shot and killed his estranged young wife Wednesday four hours before she was to appear in divorce court, and then turned the gun on himself.

Dead was Mrs. Vivian J. Duff, 18.

Reported in critical condition at Denver General hospital was Gilbert Duff, 22, a Gates Rubber Co. employee, with two head wounds. Hospital officials said they did not expect him to live.

Police said Duff pumped four 25-calibre bullets into his wife as she stood beside the crib of their youngest child, Jeffie, 1, in the couple's apartment at a South Denver rooming house. Two other children, William, 4, and Jackie, 3, were in a nearby bedroom.

He then shot himself twice, once in the neck and once in the head.

Other residents of the rooming house said the couple had an argument Tuesday night about Mrs. Duff's divorce proceedings.

Brucker To Inspect American Army Units

Washington — Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker will fly to Europe Friday for an "extensive" inspection of American Army units, it was announced Wednesday.

There was no official indication whether the Brucker trip is connected with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's order that the Army slash 50,000 men from its ranks by next January. However, the announcement did say that Brucker will be accompanied by his manpower expert, Assistant Army Secretary Hugh M. Milton II. They will return here on Aug. 12.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—SEVEN

Back Stairs: No Social Fling For Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

Washington — Back stairs at the White House:

If some of the society leaders of Newport, R. I., are harboring any notions of possibly snaring the President and Mrs. Eisenhower as guests later this summer, they can stop dreaming.

During the three summers Eisenhower and his wife visited Newport, they attended only one social function per season — a reception given by the officers of the Lowry Air Force Base where the President has his summer offices.

Furthermore, ranking members of the Eisenhower staff rarely attended social affairs outside their own immediate circle of associates.

It probably will not be much different when and if the Eisenhowers start their vacation at Newport. They'll stick rather close to their naval base quarters, knowing full well that if they accept one invitation to a private affair out in town, the social flood gates will be open.

So, if the tiara set of Bailey Beach wants a good look at the President, they'll have to hang around the golf course or watch him when he lands at the airport.

Augusta, Ga., offers another good guide to the probable family when and if they take up residence in Newport. The Eisenhowers have made more than a dozen trips to Augusta and they have yet to accept a social invitation "out in town." They stay strictly within the confines of the Augusta National Club except on Sundays when they go to church.

This sort of behavior is not peculiar to Eisenhower. Most recent presidents have taken the same attitude. When former President Truman made his many visits to Key West, Fla., he stuck to the naval base except for occasional auto rides.

The Lincoln Motor Co. is building a new "bubbletop" limousine for the President.

Some members of the Gettysburg, Pa., Country Club are reportedly irate about finding some golf cart tire tracks on one of their putting greens.

First inclination on the part of some of the members was to blame this severe breach of linksmanship on some of the uncouth reporters or photographers following the President.

But it just isn't so. There is, however, a most distinguished party who plays the course frequently and it just could be...

Speaking of the delightful Gettysburg Country Club, Mrs. John Eisenhower and her three older children are making good use of the club swimming pool in this hot weather. The President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, dutifully stays home on occasion with the baby of the family, little Mary Jean, while mother takes the other three kids to the pool. David, the President's grandson, has mastered a rocking chair dive into the pool.

The John Eisenhowers have not yet completed getting the rugs and carpets into their house on the President's farm. But the doll and playhouse for the children has wall-to-wall carpeting installed.

Reporter Beaten In Mystery Attack

Murphysboro, Ill. — A young, red-haired newspaper reporter, victim of an unmerciful beating, said today he could think of no reason for the "cowardly attack."

Robert McClure, 25, a reporter in the Murphysboro bureau of the Southern Illinoisian newspaper of Carbondale, Ill., was kicked and beaten into unconsciousness on Wednesday shortly after leaving a tavern.

He lay along U.S. 51 for three and one-half hours before recovering consciousness and crawling to a farmhouse for aid. Authorities rushed him to Murphysboro hospital where he was placed in an oxygen tent, and later released after treatment.

In recent months, McClure has written stories about the sale of liquor to minors, the mysterious tavern beating death of a Sparta, Ill., businessman and questionable road and bridge contracts.

The liquor-to-minor sale story involved the tavern McClure visited Tuesday night. However, the newsman said he and Gene Hines, owner of the tavern, were good friends. McClure said he did not think anyone in the tavern with him that night, was involved.

POPSICLE PRICES HIKED

Chicago — Ice cream prices here have become unfrozen after 35 years. Manufacturers said popsicles, ice cream bars and other novelties will cost six cents next month, the first increase since 1922.

Proud Difficult, Graham Declares

New York — Billy Graham said Wednesday night that he has found it "more difficult to bring a proud man to Christ than it is to win a drunkard, an adulterer or a narcotics addict."

The evangelist told a Madison Square Garden audience of 14,500 persons that "the sin of pride" afflicts thousands of Americans today and "we're proud and selfish as a people and as individuals."

"I is the sin of all of us," Graham said, "the sin of ego. We have 'I' trouble and it's not related to sight. We don't believe the truth, that pride is hateful to God. Yet God says no proud man shall enter the kingdom of heaven."

"You don't come to God in pride, but in humility—that's the reason I ask you to come forward here to make your decision for Christ — to show humility."

As of Wednesday night, 1,232,100 persons have heard Graham since he began his New York Crusade May 15. The 349 persons who recorded "decisions for Christ" brought that total to 37,811.

RESTFUL TERM AHEAD

Baltimore — Harry Legourd, 57, walked into police court today and asked for a jail term because he was "just plumb beat." Legourd told the court he had looked unsuccessfully for a job for several months and wanted a place to recuperate from his efforts. Magistrate Standley Richardson obliged with a three-month sentence.
