Kinney Has Intermediate No-Hitter

Another No-Hitter went into the Southern Oregon Junior baseball record book yesterday evening as Doug Kinney held Talent without a bingle in an 8 to 0 Medford Intermediate victory.

In Pee Wee rivalry Medford Tigers clinched southern division laurels with a 15 to 0 decision over Eagle Point on Mike Barnes one-hitter and the Medford Wildcats retain lone hold on second spot by thrashing Ashland 14 to 4 yesterday afternoon.

Kinney struck out 11 batters and walked two and on offense the Mdford Intermediates hit consistently in the clutch. Jim Dexter rammed a solo home run. Ken Durkee tripled with two on. Berry doubled and Kinney hit two for three.

Nice Fielding

Some good fielding helped Kinney to the no-hitter. Bud Lowery made a sensational running catch in the outfield and Larry Hammack came up with a sparkling stop at third base.

Medford Tigers collected 10 of their runs in the second inning on eight hits, three errors and eight walks. They had 14 batting turns in the frame. Neece and Jim Bandry hit two for two and Dan Miles two for four.Barnes whiffed seven and walked five.

For the Wildcats Mike Glines swatted three for three and homered in the second inning with one man on base. Steve Isaacs cracked three for three also for the Cats. Kelley McKinnis doubled for Ashland.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the top-seeded American, who eliminated Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-2, 7-5, will face Neale Fraser of Australia, who was hard-put to beat Joaquin Reyes, Mexican student at Southern Ctlifornia, 6-3, 1-6, 10-8.

Bad Back May Force Clemente Out of Baseball

Cincinnati—Slugger Roberto Clemente, third in National league batting standings last year, prepared to turn an ailing back on baseball today.

The 23-year-old Cuban right fielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates is troubled with a back injury similar to that of Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Clemente said, "No one knows what eet is. They can't find anything. I run, I throw, I move eet hurts. Eet goes away and come back. Someday eet hurt . . . someday no. If eet doesn't cure, I quit baseball . . . No fool around."

Clemente, who hit .311 in 1956, made the statement Thursday before the Redlegs-Pirate game as he donned a uniform for the first time in a month.

PLAY AGAINST LIND FLORISTS—Ellen Callaghan, left, and Bernice Bigham are two of the Rogue Valley Dairy Maids who'll take the field against the Erv Lind Florists of Portland Saturday night at Memorial field at the Veterans Administration domiciliary, Camp White. Cheney Nine Scraps Outlaws on Sunday

Several rivals the Medford Cheney Studs have on their schedule could prove real bearcats but the unmarred circuit pacers are anticipating their stiffest resistance in the second half of the Rogue Valley league baseball campaign Sunday when they meet Cave Junction.

The fracas is on the slate for 2 p.m. at the fairgrounds diamond here.

The Outlaws of the Illinois river valley are pointing, but definitely, for the high riding Studs. "Beat Medford" has been foremost on their minds for weeks and weeks and the feeling to all reports has reached a fevered pitch. A sizeable delegation of rooters is expected to accompany the crew from Cave Junction.

Crucial Encounter

Sunday's engagement is crucial to both aggregations. For Cave Junction a victory is just about the final hope if the Outlaws are to wind up on top in the regular season standings. They are now two games behind the Studs. A Medford win not only would put the Cheneys three games on top but would assure them of a season end play-off berth and of no less than a tie in the final standings.

Cave Junction hopes are not based entirely on desire and inspiration. There's good talent on the roster.

Outlaw averages don't quite match Medford's overall. But there are some heavy CJ swatters. Ron Maurer, .500, is one of the co-league leaders in batting for full season regulars. Other top clubbers are Larry Maurer, .387, Les Saffer, .381, Dave Campbell, .355, and C. Campbell, .307.

Medford in the league is led by Jerry Bartow, .571, who joined the Studs well into the season. Frank Roelandt is hitting .474, Ron Owings .429, Jerry Droscher .391, Jack Cooney, .357, John Kovenz .351 and Frank Rector .333.

Studs Top Loop Hitting

Medford heads the loop in team batting with .332 and the Outlaws are next with .284.

The Studs themselves will be going all-out in the encounter. Bartow likely will get the pitching summons with Roelandt doubtless over his finger injury and handling the catching. Rest of the probable crew for the Studs is also a standard combination with Cooney at first base, Larry Perkins at second, Rector at third, Owings at shortstop and Ed Reinking, Kovenz and Droscher in the outfield.

For Cave Junction it should be either Jim Eggers or Wayne Saffer on the hill with Ron Maurer catching. Others on the field could be Larry Maurer at first, Marchant at second, Manager Mayburn Campbell at third, Dave Campbell at shortstop, and among Kaufman, Les Saffer, Wayne Saffer and C. and S. Campbell in the outfield.

Camp White will journey to Glendale on Sunday with Butte Falls playing at Grants Pass. Talent has a bye in the loop.

Medford's full season record is 15 wins and four losses.

ROSE UPSET

Seattle —(AP)— Portland's Bill Rose, top-seeded in the Washington state tennis tournament, was upset 15-13, 6-2 in the quarterfinals Thursday by Jim Buck of Los Angeles, an unseeded Southern California student.

Lind Florists, Dairy Maids Clash Saturday at Camp White

Rogue Valley Dairy Maids, popular women's contingent in this area, takes on its toughest assignment Saturday night by entertaining the strong Erv Lind Florists in what could prove the highlight softball attraction this year at Memorial field, Camp White.

The scuffle with the high rated Portland crew is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Rogue Valley will take on Orland, Calif., in a second Saturday night game and may play the Californians again on Sunday afternoon at the Veterans Administration domiciliary park.

In meeting the Florists, the Maids challenge a team which includes at least three All-Americans and a good number of players who have seen action in real fast softball leagues and tournaments. There is home grown talent on the Florist roster but players hail also from Arizona, California and British Columbia.

All-Americans are Lois Williams, Hap Piper and Margaret (Mugsy) Dobston. Williams was named All-American six times and was Miss Softball in 1948. She is in her second year at first bases after being a catcher many seasons. She began with the Phoenix Queens and now is affiliated with the Portland school system.

Piper was an all-star in the 1956 world tournament. She at one time was with Vancouver, B. C. An outfielder after playing in the infield some seasons, she has speed, a good arm and a sharp batting eye. In 1952 Dobson, a third baseman, was leading hitter and outstanding player in the open world tournament and was chosen Miss Softball in the National Softball congress tourney. She is a five-time All-American.

Elizabeth Locke, a Lind player since 1946, has held down the left field job and in 1952 she was the outstanding player in the NSC meet. She has a good throwing arm and hits the ball hard and long.

Wadworth Catcher

Bev Wadsworth is current catcher for the Flower team. She bats clean-up and is a Florist sparkplug. Second sacker is Carolyn Fitzwater, steady and a hustler at her spot.

One infield position could be picked from among Sherry Larson, an all-around player with catching ambitions; Fran Gannon, a dependable clutch hitter who can fit in where she's needed; Noreen Stoddart, a newcomer, who has been with Vancouver's western Canadian champs, and Carolyn Spady, who plays both the infield and outfield with finesse.

Delores Price is a veteran outfielder and with Lind's since 1946. A graceful runner, she is referred to as Miss Relaxation.

Pearl Pinion is the veteran pitcher of the club. She has fine control and clever delivery, ranking her among the best in the nation. Darla Logan is a small girl with fast ball pitch. She has several changes of pace and with seasoning, it is felt, she'll reach stardom.

Jack Rice, another hurler, is at 17 the youngest member of the Florest squad. She has a good assortment of pitches and could be heard from in the softball world in a few more years.

The Florists play in the Women's Northwest Major Softball league.

Rogue Valley will enter the week end activity with a 13-2 record against ladies teams. The Maids are also members of the Jackson County Softball association in which all other participants are men's teams.

Possible starters for the Maids agains the Florists are Pat Barron, pitcher; Jean Maine, catcher; Arlen Hoffman or Doris Hickson, first base; Shirley Hansen, second base; Bernice Bigham, shortstop; Pat Schroeder, third base, and Jean Bitterling, Ellen Callaghan and Hoffman or Betty Ann Higday, outfielders.

A new member of the squad is Sharon Day, pitcher and outfielder, formerly of Redmond and now working in Medford. She and Jan Bateman both could see service during the evening.

Dairy Maid, 20-30 Gangs Score Wins

Rogue Valley Dairy Maids trimmed the Dunsmur, Calif., women 9 to 5 and 20-30 club whacked Courtesy Chevrolet 11 to 3 in men's contention in softball games at Memorial field, Camp White, last night.

The 20-30 win was its first in the Jackson County association.

For the Dairy Maids Ellen Callaghan clubbed a home run with one on base, Shirley Hansen and Pat Barron had three-base hits and Arle Hoffman hit two for three. Hughes recorded two for three for Dunsmur.

Although limiting Dunsmur to three hits, Barron walked 10 batters. She had 10 strikeouts. Linda Dean of the Californians walked three in a seven hit performance.

Twenty–Thirty put over 10 of its runs in the second inning on five hits, five walks and an error.
