

'It Wasn't Funny,' Young Morgan Says About Family Being Stranded in Woods

"It wasn't funny until we got home," according to 16-year-old Phil Morgan, who with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan of Medford, spent Thursday night in the woods, while law officers and friends searched for the missing family.

The trio, with a quart of water and eight cookies, was found Friday morning walking down a logging road a few miles from their stalled car on Cobleigh rd. in the Butte Falls area.

Sought Since Thursday
They had been sought since Thursday night after Morgan failed to return home and his partner, Harold Snodgrass of the Chapel Mortuary, called the sheriff's office.

Young Morgan said the family had been fishing in Big Butte creek near the fish hatchery at Butte Falls and decided to try their luck on the creek along the Cobleigh rd.

When they made a wrong turn off the route and their auto transmission was damaged by a rock, they found themselves stranded on a logging road an unknown distance from Butte Falls at 2 p.m. They spent the night in their car, which fortunately stalled near a small creek.

Philip said their biggest worry was not knowing exactly how far they'd have to walk, and the biggest surprise came

Portlander Named To Capitol Planning Group by Governor

Salem—William H. Givler, dean of the Portland Art Museum school, has been named to the seven-member Capitol Planning Commission late Friday by Gov. Robert D. Holmes.

At the same time the governor announced reappointments of Charles A. Sprague, Salem newspaper publisher and ex-governor, and Dr. George W. Gleason, dean of the Oregon State College engineering school, to the commission.

The group meets Monday with the state Board of Control to hear a progress report from architects on a master plan for the Capitol Hill.

To Present Ideas
Eugene architects Wilmsen and Endicott, Herman Brookman, Portland, and Francis Keally, New York architect who designed the capitol, will all present ideas.

The 1955 Legislature appropriated $50,000 to establish the master plan with assistance from the planning commission.

Also appointed by the governor was Dr. L. M. Koger, Ontario, to the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. He succeeds Dr. S. E. Phillips, Medford. Dr. Clarence F. Millison, Portland, and Dr. C. R. Howarth, St. Helens, were both reappointed.

Set for a job on the State Board of Examiners in Watchmaking and Clockmaking was Jacob C. Renie, Klamath Falls, while W. Roy Stevenson, Madras grower, was reappointed to a three-year term on the Ladino Clover Commission.

Dr. Heatherington, Family Moving Soon

Dr. J. Scott Heatherington and his wife and three sons are moving next Wednesday to West Linn.

Dr. Heatherington has practiced as an osteopathic physician and surgeon in Medford for the past 12 years. He will join Dr. E. L. Burnham in osteopathic practice in Oregon City.

Dr. C. D. Lemley, who has been working in Dr. Heatherington's office for the past six weeks, will take over the office here. He was for three years previous with Dr. George S. Jennings in the Hawthorne Osteopathic Clinic.

Dr. Heatherington came to Medford after interning in Detroit, Mich. Originally from Kansas, he was graduated from the Des Moines Still College of Osteopathy and Surgery.

The doctor has been active in the First Methodist church here, and has been on the board of directors of Rotary club, the Salvation Army, and the Rogue Valley Manor.

The Heatherington residence is at 12 Black Oak dr.

Radio Moscow Reports North Pole Thunderstorm

London—Radio Moscow reported a thunderstorm in the North Pole area Saturday.

It said it was the first known to have been witnessed there. The broadcast said that for more than 15 minutes the Soviet scientific camp at the North Pole was lit up by continual lightning flashes.

when, on being found after a hike of several hours, they discovered they had been but three miles from the Butte Falls-Prospect road—"and we had been walking the long way back toward Butte Falls."

Writing Identified
They were found by Jess Rogers, in a Medford corporation mobile logging unit late Friday morning, ending the overnight aerial and ground search. A sheriff's deputy, not taking chances on possible foul play to the family, had returned to Medford with a note left at the car by Mrs. Morgan to have her writing identified.

Searchers included state police, three ground search units of the Civil Air Patrol and three planes owned by the CAP, Max Terzenbach, Medford, and the Hauptert Tractor company.

Cuban Rebel Force Seizes Sugar Mill Once Used by Army

Santiago, Cuba—Cuban Rebel Fidel Castro and a force of 100 men attacked an captured a former Army headquarters at a sugar mill in Orientes Province Saturday.

Juan Muniz, an official of the Estrada Palma sugar mill, 68 miles west of the main Orientes City of Santiago, told the United Press by telephone that the rebels burned down barracks and "shot around" the mill for two hours before withdrawing.

Until last Wednesday the mill had been the headquarters of Cuban Army forces under Col. Upedro Barrera, assigned to the "extermination" of the Castro forces in the Maestra mountains of Orientes Province. Barrera moved his headquarters to Maflo, close to Santiago, and left only six soldiers at the mill.

Escape During Attack
The soldiers left behind escaped during the rebel attack, the mill official said.

The attack was one of the boldest rebel raids yet against the forces of President Fulgencio Batista.

Castro's forces struck one day after the fourth anniversary of the "July 26 movement," which was Castro's original revolt against Batista. In July 26, 1953, he attacked government forces at Santiago and suffered considerable losses.

Grange Notes

Central Point Grange
The Central Point Grange met Friday, July 19, with all officers present except the two assistant stewards, who are Mr. and Mrs. C. Morehouse. Mrs. Morehouse was reported being at Sacred Heart hospital for medical treatment. Mrs. Mary Catey, who makes her home at the Jackson county farm home, was also reported ill.

The members voted to have booster night on Oct. 9. Josephine Tombs, an international farm exchange student from Tewkesbury, Gloucestershire, England, talked and showed slides from her home country. She also used the display table to exhibit pictures and pamphlets.

Delmar Smith showed slides taken at interesting places near-by. Robert Warren, a new member, talked on "The House Fly As a Pest in Former Years to Now."

Meredith Jensen had charge of the juvenile program on "Inventions of Nature." Mrs. Gaston Floux won the cake furnished by the juveniles, as a means of raising money for their pledge to the new hospital. This will be the last cake as they have raised their quota.

The next regular meeting will be Friday, Aug. 2. Floyd Charlie will be in charge of a 4-H program, which will start at 8 p.m. All relatives and friends of the 4-H group will be welcome.

The serving committee was Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Conger and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Conger.

Russia Said Willing To Discuss Exchange
Washington—The Soviet Union said Saturday it is willing to discuss a U.S. proposal to exchange uncensored radio and television broadcasts.

But it said such talks should also consider the question of broadening "in their entirety" other contacts—cultural, scientific and economic—between the two countries.

The Russian stand was taken in a note delivered to the American ambassador in Moscow.

It was in reply to a U.S. note of June 24 proposing a "regular exchange of uncensored radio and television broadcasts."

The idea was for the two nations to exchange film and voice recordings of talks by leaders in government and private life, in cultural, scientific and other fields.

AT RESERVE TRAINING—Col. William H. Prentice, right, commanding officer of the 417th engineer aviation brigade, shows gas station project being constructed by the 417th at the firing center in Yakima, Wash., to Gen. Willard G. Wyman, continental Army commanding general. The 417th, from the Medford-Grants Pass area, is undergoing two weeks summer reserve training. Lt. Col. Virgil J. Gass, commander, 1st battle group, 22nd infantry, is shown behind Col. Prentice.

Morgan Enlarges On PNPC Protest

Salem—Public Utilities Commissioner Howard Morgan has enlarged on his protest of Pacific Northwest Power Company's attempts to gain permits for two dams on the Snake river.

In a letter to the Federal Power Commission, Morgan again called for reopening of hearings on the application to build at the Pleasant Valley and Mountain Sheel sites.

An FPC examiner has recommended 50-year licenses to build the two dams.

Morgan told the FPC he was "astounded" at the failure of the examiner "to understand the overwhelming necessity of additional upstream storage in the Columbia Basin in order to 'firm up' the power supply of this region during periods of low river-flow."

Enclosed in the letter were charts which, Morgan said, showed the dangers of insufficient upstream storage and the value of controlled release of water from such upstream dams as Hungry Horse for downstream power production.

Benefitation is any process by which the yield of metal from ore is increased.

Judge Dismisses Gypsy Woman's Suit

Portland—Oregon Federal Court Chief Judge Claude McColloch has dismissed the suit against Mrs. Mary Ristic, Portland gypsy, who sought to prevent the city from causing her to be evicted from her downtown living quarters.

Judge McColloch dismissed the case because both the woman's attorney and the city's attorney failed to move for a further extension of a restraining order issued by the judge last month.

Mrs. Ristic said in her complaint the city housing code discriminated because it has only been invoked against tenants of gypsy or oriental blood.

About 4000 Acres Burned in Eastern Oregon Grass Fires

Portland—More than a dozen grassland and forest fires which had plagued eastern Oregon the past week were either extinguished or under control today, according to Guy Johnson, forest service regional fire dispatcher at Portland.

About 4000 acres of grassland had been blackened by the blazes, Virgil T. Heath, bureau of land management official, said.

Four fires that burned 2200 acres of grass and brush in the Vale-Jordan district of eastern Oregon were brought under control.

Otis Valley Fire Stopped
Darrel Fulwider, bureau of land management range manager, said an 800-acre blaze 12 miles northwest of Juntura in the Otis valley was stopped within a mile of the Altnow ranch.

Fire patrols were released Saturday on the 700-acre fire two miles north of the town of Malheur and the 600-acre Tub mountain blaze 12 miles northwest of Vale. The fourth fire burned 100 acres 25 miles northwest of Drewsey.

Fulwider said the fires, which were started by lightning Thursday night and Friday morning, caused only light damage to the cattle and sheep ranges.

Rally Scheduled To Support Rights Bill
Portland—Representatives of the Oregon AFL-CIO, the Republican and Democratic parties, the Urban League and most of Oregon's congressional delegation were to rally today to demonstrate support of the civil rights bill now before the U.S. Senate.

Phil Reynolds, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here, said members of the groups will meet at the Vancouver Avenue Baptist church in Portland at 8 p.m.

Master of ceremonies for the gathering will be Oregon state senator Monroe Sweetland. U. S. Senators Richard L. Neuberger and Wayne Morse and representative Edith Green will be represented at the rally also, Reynolds said.

Clarence Edwards To Speak at Roundtable

Clarence Edwards, who with his brother, Edward, owns the Kadee Metal Products company of Medford, will talk on the plastics and die-casting industry at a luncheon of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce Roundtable Monday.

The local firm manufactures model railroad parts for adult hobbyists which are shipped throughout the United States and overseas.

Ben Newman Resigns As Chamber President

Grants Pass—The resignation of Ben Newman, former Medford resident, as president of the Grants Pass and Josephine County Chamber of Commerce was announced Friday.

Newman, who has been manager of the Grants Pass Hubbard-Wray store since 1945, said he plans to return to Medford to manage the Medford division of the firm. The change was said to be due to the retirement of Tom Wray, Medford, partner in the firm with Newman and Chester and Roland Hubbard.

Charles M. Packer, assistant manager of the Grants Pass branch of the First National Bank of Portland, will succeed Newman as chamber president.

Complaint Filed in Shaking of Employee

Portland—An assault and battery complaint has been filed in city court here as an outgrowth of a "shaking" that caused an impromptu walkout at the American Can Co. plant here Thursday night.

Mary Fuller signed a complaint against Alex Kniss, a foreman at the plant, who allegedly "shook" Mrs. Fuller in a "disciplinary action." In her complaint, Mrs. Fuller indicated the action was taken on advice of officials in the AFL-CIO United Steel Workers.

Richard K. Frederick, plant manager, said a meeting would be held with union officials concerning the dispute.

Crosby Defeated For Teamster Post

Portland—Clyde C. Crosby, Teamsters international representative in Oregon, was defeated Friday night for membership on the policy committee of the Joint Council of Teamsters No. 37.

The post went to Cliff Evans, secretary of the Cannery Warehousemen and Food Processors Local 809, by a vote of 7 to 63.

Previous members of the three-man policy committee were Crosby, Jack Estabrook, secretary of Warehousemen Local 206, and R. R. Mikesell of the Joint Council.

An earlier vote resulted in the election of Fred Lowe, secretary-treasurer of the Eugene Teamsters, and Lloyd Hildreth, secretary of Warehousemen Local 223.

Friday night's election was held after an error in tabulating results of the previous voting.

Members of the policy committee, together with similar committee members from other locals in the West, make up the policy committee of the Western Conference of Teamsters under the general chairmanship of Frank Brewster.

Hungarian Refugee Reunited With Wife

Portland—A Hungarian refugee now living in Portland was reunited with his wife at Portland airport Friday afternoon, after being separated since November 5, 1956, during the revolt in Budapest.

Mike Feodorov, 27, said his wife "didn't expect to see me again ever," and for him, "the days had lead feet."

His wife, after the insurrection, ended up in a refugee camp in Paris. Feodorov, a mechanic, had come to America, and after locating his wife, began taking steps to get her admitted to the United States.

Bend Conservationist Receives Fellowship

Portland—The Soil Conservation service said Friday that Earl N. Jones, area conservationist in Bend, has been awarded a conservation fellowship in the graduate school of public administration at Harvard.

Jones was chosen by a privately endowed organization called Resources for the Future for his outstanding work in conservation and administration. He received a $3000 grant to finance his studies at Harvard.
