KIDS FIND A HOME

by Zarko Franks

1. Orphaned by tragedy, these children have found a new life.
2. & 3. Mr. and Mrs. Mossler and family they hope to adopt.
4. Martha and Daniel meet another pal; Edward remains aloof.
5. Norman Mossler, 17, shows his hot-rod to Daniel and Edward.
6. Plenty of room to play in this house—plenty of love, too.

A BRIGHT new world has opened for four young children through the generosity of millionaire Jacques Mossler and his wife, Candace, of Houston, Tex.

Tragedy shattered their young lives when their father shot and killed their mother and their six-month-old brother in a Chicago apartment. The surviving children, Martha, 6, Daniel, 5, Christopher, 4, and Edward, 2, faced a bleak future. They would either become wards of the state or have to live with relatives in already-crowded homes.

Mossler, in Chicago on business at the time, read of their plight and called his wife in Houston. What did she think of trying to adopt the four children?

"I'd love to have them," she said. "I'll be in Chicago on the next plane."

Today the youngsters live in the Mosslers' luxurious home in Houston's exclusive River Oaks area. A steam-heated swimming pool, servants, pets—luxuries beyond the dreams of most children—are now theirs. But they have an even greater asset in their new lives: the love of a generous family.
