Jasper Pair Found After Abduction; One Man in Custody

Tillamook — Mrs. Alda Lorene Wright, 62, and James Thomas Aubrey, 81, were freed on Mt. Hebo Wednesday afternoon by two men who abducted them from a store at Jasper southeast of Eugene and held them for 24 hours.

One suspect was in custody. Mrs. Wright said the men "were not very mean under the circumstances" although she was frightened by their drinking and wild driving, and had a bruised arm.

Wednesday night police arrested William Harry Eckels, 35, Rockaway, after he had terrorized patrons in a bar here. Roadblocks were up on every route out of Tillamook for a second suspect described as about 27 to 30 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds and having brown hair. Search also went on in backwoods country.

Left on Mountain — Mrs. Wright and Aubrey, who is nearly blind, were abducted Tuesday afternoon after two men robbed the store she ran for her brother at Jasper in Lane county. Some $500 was taken in the robbery.

They were finally left with Mrs. Wright's car on Hebo mountain where the two men had gone after a wild ride to Roseburg, then to Coquille and up Highway 101. Mrs. Wright said the men left separately after stopping on the mountain and counting out money taken from the store.

After the second man left, Mrs. Wright and Aubrey walked down the mountain. She called her son, Richard, in Jasper, and he called police.

Mrs. Wright was in good spirits and said she and Aubrey had been fed several times. At first the gunmen headed toward Portland but changed their minds and went south to Roseburg, she said.

Bar Terrorized — "They tried to get us to drink wine and beer with them but we only pretended to be drinking," she said. Mrs. Wright had a bruised right arm, apparently from revolver jabs.

Aubrey, chewing tobacco, said "I feel ok . . . he never made me afraid."

State Policeman Joe Pogan said Eckels was captured here after he had gone into a bar, ordered several drinks, fired a shot into the wall, slapped Mrs. Maxine Coalman, a waitress, and B. H. Patton, a patron. He stalked out, and offered no resistance when police arrived. Five slugs were found in the revolver.

Mrs. Wright's car was brought here for fingerprint checking.

Montana Convicts Gain Concession To Conclude Riot

Deer Lodge, Mont. — The Montana Board of Prison Commissioners promised restless prison convicts today to convert an onion garden in the yard into a playground.

This was the one definite concession the 600 prisoners won after a riot they staged Tuesday.

The disturbance ended early Wednesday but the last of the inmates was not locked in his cell until Wednesday afternoon. Extensive Damage — The rioters caused extensive damage to cell block 8, the focal point of the riot, and to the administration building.

Before ending the riot, the prisoners sent a list of grievances to state officials. Indications were some of them were justified.

Three out of state wardens made a study of the prison earlier this year. In a report, they criticized the prison's rehabilitation facilities. They said salaries paid guards and other prison officers were too low.

The wardens were Joseph E. Ragan of Illinois, G. Norton Jameson of South Dakota, and Harry C. Tinsley of Colorado. Unaware of Report — Montana Attorney General Forrest H. Anderson said he was unaware of the existence of their report until Wednesday.

"Quite a few of the prisoners' demands, and especially some of the more important ones, were pointed up by the wardens in this report as weak points in the Montana prison system," Anderson said.

He promised his office he will make an "earnest and extensive" investigation of the prisoners' grievances.

Donald Campbell Fails To Set New Hydroplane Mark

Canandaigua, N. Y. — British speedboat ace Donald Campbell took "the worst beating of my boating career" today as he failed in an attempt to pilot his jet-powered hydroplane Bluebird to a new world water record.

Campbell averaged 173 miles an hour in two one-mile runs over Canandaigua lake, which appeared ideally suited for the trial.

The son of the late Sir Malcolm Campbell said, however, that the lake's current and swells "gave me a lot of trouble . . . the worst beating of my boating career."

Perturbed by Conditions — He was particularly perturbed by the water condition at the south end of the lake, the finish area for his initial run. He was clocked for that run in 158.6 miles an hour.

On the return run, the Bluebird was timed in 187.5 miles an hour.

Campbell at first indicated he would make another attempt later today but upon consultation with his chief engineer decided to wait until Friday.

The 35-year-old speed king, only man ever to travel faster than 200 miles an hour in a boat, set his 225.63 mile an hour record last September on Lake Coniston in England.

Higher Tariffs Asked By Lead, Zinc Group

Washington — Domestic producers today demanded higher tariffs to prevent foreign imports of lead and zinc from "flooding" the American market.

Charles E. Schwab, Kello, Idaho, chairman of the Emergency Lead-Zinc Committee, in a statement to the House Ways and Means Committee objected to an administration bill to impose a sliding scale tariff on imports. He said it "falls far short" of providing a minimum domestic price for the two metals at which the industry can regain its strength.

Schwab said the U. S. industry wants a three to five-cent per pound tariff on imports when the market falls below 17 cents per pound for lead and 14 1/2 cents per pound for zinc. The bill being heard by the committee would impose a sliding scale tariff of from one to three cents.

Californian To Head Kiwanis Clubs

Chicago — H. Park Arnold, Glendale, Calif., today takes over as 41st president of Kiwanis International at the organization's annual late summer board meeting.

Arnold, 64, succeeds Reed C. Culp, Salt Lake City, after being elected to the top post last June at Atlantic City.

Arnold, for 34 years active in Kiwanis, is a retail lumber dealer and a precision parts manufacturer.

Attorney for Touhy Declares Way Paved For Prison Release

Springfield, Ill. — An attorney for Roger (The Terrible) Touhy said today Gov. William G. Stratton has paved the way for release of the Prohibition Era gangster within the next two years.

However, hopes were less bright for another notorious Stateville Penitentiary inmate, Nathan Leopold, a three-time loser in parole pleas.

Begins New Application — Leopold, 42, today began writing another application to the Illinois Prison and Parole board seeking a reopening of his parole application at the board's September meeting.

"I stand at the open grave-site of my hopes," Leopold told an unusual prison news conference at Joliet Wednesday after Stratton had rejected his appeal for executive clemency.

"But I shall continue to apply for parole or mercy to my dying breath on my deathbed," Stratton, on recommendation of the Pardon and Parole board, Wednesday commuted to three years Touhy's 199-year sentence for a daring 1942 escape from Stateville.

Touhy's attorney, Robert B. Johnston, contacted at Manitowish Waters, Wis., where he is vacationing, criticized the Pardon and Parole board for not throwing out the prisoner's kidnapping sentence at the same time.

The attorney said he would take steps to bring Touhy's case to court as quickly as possible, and, added that if state courts refuse to void the conviction, "maybe the U. S. Supreme Court might do something about it."

McNary Drawdown Caused by Demands

Pendleton — Exceptional heavy power demands will make necessary a drawdown of the McNary dam reservoir pool to an elevation of 335 feet by Friday night.

Col. Myron E. Page, Jr., district Army engineer at Walla Walla, said the drawdown will mean a drop of five feet below the normal pool level and three feet below the minimum elevation of July 30.

Recovery of the water in the McNary pool will be slow and probably will require two weeks to restore to normal level, Col. Page said.

He warned owners of floating docks and landings in the reservoir that their structures may be grounded until the water level is back to normal.

Laughs of the Day . . .

Indianapolis — An imaginative service station attendant captured a man who had just held him up by grabbing a golf club from his car and pretending it was a rifle. The surprised bandit, unable to tell the difference in the darkness, climbed meekly down from a rooftop and surrendered to the attendant and a police officer who had arrived just as the bandit learned the truth.

Hamden, Mass. — A look-out at the Ludlow fire tower spotted smoke one evening, and the local fire department was sent to the scene. But it was only that a Cross Road resident and his guests had moved into the kitchen to barbecue their steaks because of the forest fire danger.
