Mrs. Ott Reindicted By Douglas Jury

Roseburg — Douglas county grand jury reindicted Mrs. Howard Ott on a charge of second degree murder, county district attorney Avery Thompson said Monday.

The seven-member panel returned the indictment charging specifically that on June 14, 1948, Ott killed her adopted daughter, 18-month-old Korean orphan Wendy Kay Ott, by striking her with her hand, or "with an instrument unknown to the grand jury."

The first indictment was referred to the grand jury by Circuit Judge Cary E. Wimberly because the jurors had not been "specific" in describing how the girl allegedly died.

1949 Mrs. America Possible Suicide

San Diego, Calif. — Police feared today that Mrs. Frances Cloyd, Mrs. America of 1949, might have committed suicide because she was despondent over not being able to support her five children.

Mrs. Cloyd was reported missing yesterday shortly after her mother, Mrs. Jonathan Becker, received a telegram from her daughter. Mrs. Becker said the telegram said in part:

"I plan to kill myself. I'm sorry to cause so much trouble because life is not worth living. Please take care of the children."

Mrs. Cloyd gained a final divorce from her husband, Arthur Thomas Cloyd, in 1955. Her mother said Mrs. Cloyd had been worried over the inability to support the children.

10-Day Membership Drive for Chamber Reaches Mid-Point

A concerted, 10-day drive for memberships in the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce is now at the mid-point, and considerable success has been reported, chamber officials said today.

The drive which includes mailed invitations to participate in chamber activities, explanations of the purposes and accomplishments of the chamber, and personal calls, began Aug. 1 and will continue through this week. More than 600 business firms and professional men are now chamber members. The drive is intended to interest an estimated 1,000 additional firms and individuals throughout the county in chamber work.

Literature Provided

Literature being provided to non-members points out what the chamber has done in the fields of transportation, tourism, promotion, merchandising, government, new industry, agriculture, and a wide variety of other fields which accrue to the benefit of the entire county.

It also points out that the chamber can only be as effective as its membership is broad, and invites non-members to participate in its activities.

In addition to past efforts, the letters tell of the current projects on which work is being done, including the attraction of wood waste using industry here, expansion of wholesale warehousing, studies of Oregon's tax position and its relationship to new business, rapid skip-stop air service to Portland, greater diversity of industry and jobs, county zoning to safeguard both industrial and residential properties, more tourist dollars and increased convention business, more income from broader use of water resources, and other continuing projects.

A telephone call to the chamber office, SP 2-6223, will provide added information, chamber officials said, including the tax deductibility of chamber membership dues.

State Librarian Visits in Valley, Attends Festival

Among visitors to the valley and to the Shakespearean Festival this week were Miss Eleanor Stephens, state librarian, and Miss Loretta Fisher, head of the reference and circulation department of the Oregon state library.

The librarians attended the Shakespearean plays each evening and visited the Jacksonville museum Sunday afternoon.

They also conferred with trustees and librarians of the Ashland and Jackson and Josephine county libraries, to outline plans for extension of library services to rural residents of southern Oregon. Funds to provide more equitable library services to readers now without access to public libraries were recently appropriated by congress and the Oregon state legislature under the leadership of Congresswoman Edith Green and State Sen. Philip Lowry. It is not known exactly when these will be made available.

Three Bookmobiles
Miss Stephens announced that the state library has purchased three bookmobiles which are to be awarded on a demonstration loan to areas of the state which submit approved applications for such projects.

During her visit here she conferred with library officials as to what grants of money would be required to staff the bookmobiles, supply them with books, and cover mileage expenses.

In his letter Klemsen said: "I have recently accepted a position with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company which will necessitate moving from Columbia county."

"Because this move takes me from the district from which I was elected, I am herewith submitting my resignation as representative from the 2nd legislative district."

Threat of Further Cracks in Dams Eases

Las Vegas, N. M. — Clear skies today reduced the threat of further large cracks in three upriver earthen dams that sent a flash flood through Las Vegas and nearby communities Monday.

Huge pieces of the dams gave way under the strain of recent rains in the Sangre De Cristo Mountains, drowning two persons.
