Art Fair To Be Held On Sunday

Everyone is invited to attend the Greenwich Village art fair which Southern Oregon Society of Artists will hold in Lithia park Sunday, August 11. The fair will open at 12:30 p.m.

The society is a non-profit, social and cultural organization devoted to the encouragement of art appreciation and the development of individual talent.

A large number of artists will exhibit works. Among the group will be J. R. Hornaday, Grants Pass, who has been painting in oil for 30 years but who insists he is "still in training." He will show "Winter on the Beach," "Oregonia" and other marines and landscapes.

Clarence Henderson, Eagle Point artist and chairman of the society, will exhibit oils entitled "Trail Riders," "The Goose Hunter" and other scenes reminiscent of the out-door life of the west.

Vividly colored landscapes, as well as floral stills and local scenery, will be exhibited by Mrs. Ethel Hixson and Mrs. Lou Wilson, secretary and treasurer of the society. Mrs. Hixson received her art training at an early age in high school courses as did Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Hixson gives as her motivation "the satisfaction of showing others what she sees," and Mrs. Wilson paints chiefly as a hobby. Among the many others interested in painting is a hobby are Mrs. Lucille Collins of Gold Hill and Mrs. Elsie Scott of Central Point. Mrs. Collins's favorite subjects are floral stills, mountains and woodland scenes, and Mrs. Scott says she finds most satisfaction in portraiture, and will show many paintings of friends, celebrities and colorful characters.

Mrs. Vera Backstrom Hausmann, Ashland professional artist of many years training, and an art instructor, will also show portraits, still lifes and abstracts, such as her "Cosmic Forces" and "The Wanderer."

Old Timers of Normal School Hold Biennial Meeting at SOC

Ashland — Graduates of the old Ashland Normal school, the old Timers group, held a reunion August 3-4 at Susanne Homes hall on the Southern Oregon college campus. Highlighted by the welcoming address of Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, SOC president, election of officers, and a standing tribute to W. T. Van Scoy, much-beloved president of the old normal school, the two-day gathering formally ended Sunday with an Old Timers luncheon after a busy round of activities.

The reunion began with registrations Saturday morning followed by a luncheon at which Dr. Alvin L. Fellers gave the initial address of welcome. Stella Campbell Bowne, '05, Klamath Falls, gave the response to the welcome on behalf of the assembled graduates, and Hugh G. Simpson, director of alumni affairs, sang, accompanying himself on the guitar.

The luncheon was presided over by the vice-president, Worth Harvey, '05, Eugene, in the absence of Fred Homes, '98, Ashland, president of the group, who was unable to attend. Mr. Harvey extended thanks on behalf of the group to Mrs. Jani Pace, Ashland, in charge of alumni records and programs, Adelle Sheldon, Ashland, SOC alumni association secretary, for table decorations and committee work, and commended Mrs. Alice Willis, also of Ashland, for her work as secretary to the Old Timers.

Following the luncheon, those present introduced themselves and gave a short resume of their activities since the meeting two years ago. The members, after a standing ovation in honor of W. T. Van Scoy, former president of the Old Normal, voted that the school's old bell be presented to the present Southern Oregon college in his honor. The balance of the afternoon was spent in identifying pictures, exchanging personal reminiscences, and in the election of officers.

Worth Harvey was elected president; Dr. Herman Scullen, '06, professor emeritus at Oregon State college vice president; and Anna Beeson Carter, '06, Medford, historian. Mrs. Willis was reelected secretary.

President Stevenson, in his official welcoming address at the banquet, reviewed the rapid growth of the college within the last decade, following with details of the 20 years expansion program instituted during the preceding year, and ending with a tribute to those who attended the college before 1910 for "the heritage of loyalty, courage, service, and devotion to duty" which they had bequeathed to those of this and future generations.

Surgery Undergone By Mamie Revealed As Hysterectomy
Washington — The operation undergone by Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower Tuesday was a hysterectomy—the removal of the uterus.

The operation is commonly found necessary for women after they reach middle age. Medical authorities said today a hysterectomy is a major operation involving "all the risks of major operations."

After-Effects Beneficial
However, they said the after effects of a needed hysterectomy on a middle aged woman are "nothing but beneficial." They said patients normally take about a month to recuperate.

They said hysterectomies are found necessary for a number of reasons. But he said the principal reason is the presence of benign or malignant tumor.

The White House reported after Mrs. Eisenhower underwent surgery at Walter Reed Army Medical Center that no malignant condition was involved.

Patient Feels Fine
President Eisenhower visited the 60-year-old First Lady Wednesday night at Walter Reed for about an hour and a quarter. As he left he said when asked how she felt:

"Fine, oh, fine."
He said with a chuckle at his news conference earlier in the day that her disposition probably matched the cheery medical reports. He said her doctors expected her to be able to accompany him on a vacation to Newport, R.I., after Congress adjourns later this month.

50 Windows Broken in Medford Repair Shop

About 50 small windows were broken at a repair shop owned by Charles Cyrus Stearns at 521 North Fir st., according to city police.

The windows were broken sometime between Monday evening and Wednesday morning, according to police, who said entrance to the yard was made through several broken slats in a wood fence enclosing the area.

Lack of Enough Direction Seen Delinquency Cause

New York — Juvenile delinquency is a problem in America because "we offer youth nothing but amusement and coddling and not enough direction and authority," Billy Graham said Wednesday night.

The 38-year-old evangelist told a Madison Square Garden audience of 16,000 that New York and other cities face a teen gang problem because parents don't give their children "something to dedicate themselves to."

"In Germany, Hitler got the youth . . . to march proudly under the swastika . . . Mussolini got the youth of Italy to follow him in black shirts. The Communists give their youth a sense of dedication the same way."

"In America, let's give our youth Christ and watch them march under His proud banner, and the heart of the teen-age problem will be solved."

The revivalist, who will devote all of his New York crusade sermons next week to the teen gang problem in this city, said that often juvenile delinquency is the fault of scoffing parents.

As of Wednesday night, Graham's New York crusade became the longest the evangelist has ever preached. The crusade is now in its fourth month. Graham held a 12-week crusade in London in 1954.

Movie Industry Notes End of Era In Hardy's Death

Hollywood — The movie industry sadly realized today that the death of retired movie comedian Oliver Hardy has brought to a close one of the greatest eras in comedy.

The "fall guy" half of the Laurel and Hardy slapstick team died Wednesday following a prolonged illness due to a paralytic stroke. The portly Hardy at 65 had wasted away to 145 pounds from the 350 he weighed over two decades of acting.

"An era is ended in comedy, and a worldwide audience of deeply loyal fans has lost a friend," one associate said.

TV Revives Popularity
Hardy won popularity even while living in retirement at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Monnie L. Jones. In recent years old Laurel and Hardy film brought laughter to a nationwide television audience.

Among those taking the news of Hardy's death the hardest was his long-time partner Stan Laurel, now 67 and himself recovering from a stroke.

"What is there to say," Laurel said sadly. "It shocked me, of course. Babe was like a brother. That's the end of the history of Laurel and Hardy."

Seattle Machinists Set Protest Meeting
Seattle — Some 500 machinists employed in six Seattle shipyards were scheduled to hold a stop-work meeting here today in protest to a new master contract for Pacific Coast shipyards.

The new contract, already approved by most of 10,000 Coast shipyard workers in 11 international unions, calls for a 15-cent hourly wage increase and 5 cents an hour to provide five paid holidays a year.

Sights for Queen To See Recommended by Writer

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Correspondent
New York — The word is around that Queen Elizabeth II wants to see the view from the Empire State building and circle Manhattan Island by boat on her visit here October 21.

Well, Your Majesty, these are pleasant sights indeed for a tourist. But to get to know us Americans, go West, young Queen.

Skip New York. Expand your stay, bring the two kids as well as Phillip, and let's get acquainted, coast to coast.

The view from Pike's Peak is more spectacular than the one from the Empire State building anyway. You ought to see Boulder dam, the Grand canyon, a sunset on the Golden Gate bridge, Yosemite park, and the red and gold of New England's forests in October.

Try to take in Niagara Falls again. You caught them the last time you visited this continent. When you were a princess. But it was from the Canadian side.

Football A Must
The ticker tape parade up Broadway which they've planned for you is a great honor. But you mustn't miss a football game at South Bend, Ind. Unfortunately it'll be too late for a baseball game and hot dogs at the ball park.

To know the real us, you should visit an automat, shop in a supermarket, dig clams and attend a clam bake on Cape Cod.

Sample apple pie in Washington, fish for trout in Colorado or for catfish along the Mississippi, listen to jazz on Bourbon street in New Orleans.

Attend a picnic or a backyard barbecue. Visit Disneyland in California, and a rodeo in Cheyenne—the kids will love both.

Since you're a thoroughbred fancier, you must see the horse farms in the Kentucky bluegrass. While you're there, get someone to stage a burgoe feast for you.

Visit an automobile plant in Detroit, see "Hazel" and "Nancy," the famous steel blast furnaces at Morrisville, Pa., visit an oil well in the Southwest.

Sample pecan pie and fried chicken in any southern state, taste chili in Texas, visit the gaming tables at Las Vegas. If you don't gamble, it's still a sight to see.

More Suggestions
Ski at Sun Valley, go antiquing in New England, and visit Independence hall in Philadelphia to see the document which officially proclaimed our freedom from some of your predecessors several years ago.

You mustn't miss Chinatown and Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.
