ILLINOIS VALLEY Resources Group to Meet

By HELEN BOTTLE

Cave Junction—Lee McAllister, bureau of reclamation engineer, will speak at a meeting of the Illinois Valley Water Resources group Monday, Aug. 19. He has been invited primarily to explain the recently completed reconnaissance survey map. Made by an air survey, the map has omitted a number of properties, the owners of which wish to be included in the proposed Sucker Creek Dam irrigation project. McAllister will describe the method of petitioning needed to become part of the district.

Ben George, veteran insurance man in the Illinois Valley, was presented a diamond pin by Carl Kennedy, district agent for the Farmers Group Insurance company, in recognition of 10 years of service as one of its representatives recently.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ben George last week were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lee and children, Janet, Joannie and Kathy, of Medford. They also visited Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lee at O'Brien.

A meeting was held at the Cave Junction Community church Monday to discuss appointment of a new minister to fill the pulpit.

At the Charles Johnson home in Kerby last week were Mrs. Johnson's sister and niece, Mrs. Nick Caravelli, and her daughter, Ladeana, of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis, who recently sold their property in the valley, are vacationing in southern Idaho. They plan to see former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wells, and family at Burley.

Guests at the Fred Breckenridge home at Lone Mountain

Valley last week were his nephew and family, the Fred Baxters of Tujunga, and Mr. and Mrs. Osburn Rudard, of Sunland.

The Breckenridges returned recently from Florence, Ore., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner, Bobette and Kathleen Breckenridge, their grandchildren who had been visiting their aunt and family at Florence, came home with them.

Dinner guests at the Harold Crowl's Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Les Henry of Cave Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Breckenridge and family of O'Brien spent Sunday in Crescent City and Brookings, where they fished and picnicked.

Charles (Pete) Johnson and Floyd A. Mathews, both of the Illinois Valley, enlisted in the Marines Aug. 1 at the recruiting station in Portland.

Both graduated from Illinois Valley High school in May. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Johnson of Kerby, and Vernon A. Mathews and Mrs. Ronald Bird of Cave Junction.

Illinois Valley volunteer firemen will be outfitted with winter shirts, coats and hats from proceeds of the annual Firemen's ball last night at the American Legion hall.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibbons and family last week were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shawhan and son, Gordie, of Pasadena, Calif. With them were Myrna Gibbons, who had been visiting her aunt and uncle in southern California. Mrs. Gibbons and Mrs. Shawhan are sisters.

The Shawhan family is also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shawhan, who moved here recently from Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. Robert Shawhan will replace Mrs. Henri Appy as English and dramatics teacher at Illinois Valley High school this fall.

Friends of Fay Snider gathered at her home recently for a surprise birthday luncheon. Her Lone Mountain Valley neighbor, Emma Lemm was hostess at the luncheon.

Guests included Hattie Evitt, Ann Turnbull, Grace Kubli, Hazel Slanaker, Edna Lee, Arith Stephens, Emily Hooey and Louise Woodbury.

Lt. (jg) Bill Rauber, son of Mrs. Frank Rauber of Cave Junction, is now at a Navy station on Point Barrow, Alaska. He returned from Japan last April, and expects to receive his discharge in September. Mrs. Rauber is the former Charlotte King.

Deputy Sheriff Lester Tythcott is building a garage on the back of his Main street property in Cave Junction. It will not only house his own car, but is to be the new home for the Valley ambulance, operated by Tythcott.

Visiting Mrs. Isabel Mellow last week were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Mellow of Redding, Calif.

Donald Rauber, son of Mrs. Frank Rauber, has received his doctor's degree in literature at the University of Oregon and is now working for the Sandia Corporation as a technical writer in atomic research at Sandia, N.M. Mr. and Mrs. Rauber and their children, Christopher and Paul, are living at Sandia, near Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Clarke, former owners of the Pines Motel in Cave Junction, are planning to live near Redding, Calif.

The couple visited in the valley last week with their daughter and daughter-in-law and families, Mrs. Orville Looper and Mrs. Phil Clarke.

Recent guests at the Phayo Pfeifferle home were Mr. and Mrs. David Flaherty and daughter, Kathleen, of Pullman, Wash. Mrs. Pfeifferle is Flaherty's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Sherier, owners of the Illinois Valley Cleaners, are home from a two-week vacation in Montana and Boise.

The couple visited Mrs. Sherier's sister, Marie Landers, at Boise, Ida. On the way home, they stopped in Portland to visit their two sons, Paul Sherier and his wife, and Donald Sherier.

Leaving for St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 12 is Elder Melvin Thompson, former pastor of the Cave Junction Seventh Day Adventist church, who will serve as minister in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wilson entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Robinson of Kerby at a dinner party at their home on Shadowcroft, lake last Sunday.

Arriving for a surprise visit were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jensen and son, Carl, of San Francisco, friends of the family.

Attending the American Legion convention in Eugene as delegates and alternates from the Illinois Valley Glenn Morris-

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Edward F.—My mother-in-law henpecks me.
Mrs. G. H.—My daughter should have all the complaints.

Edward F.—My wife and I have been married five years and have an apartment in the home owned by my mother-in-law. We get rent free, which is very nice, considering my salary isn't big and we have one little boy and a baby on the way.

In spite of the big advantage of living here, I want to move away because my mother-in-law is always around henpecking me. When I come home, she is sitting in the kitchen with my wife and she gives me that look which seems to say something like, "You back again — you slob!" Then she nudges my wife if I drop my jacket on a chair.

son Post were Dr. C. G. Stem, Elwood Hussey, Al Mellow and Dave Wilson.

for instance, and says, "Why don't you tell him something? You spoil him."

After that, my wife and I will spend all evening fighting about every little thing I do. She doesn't want to move because she says we can't afford it.

Mrs. G. H.—My son-in-law is full of complaints, but I really my daughter, Lucille, who should be doing the complaining. She has the patience of a saint. She was brought up in a home where her father was neat as a pin, and always helped with the housekeeping. Ed is just the opposite. He seems to make a mess wherever he moves, and Lucille has nothing to do but pick up after him.

Ed is such a bad example that my two younger daughters say they will never marry if this is what young men are like today. They see how Lucille has all the burdens and responsibilities and Ed has a picnic.

Lucille will never move away from here—not only because the rent is free, but because she knows she can always count on her mother to help out and to have a shoulder to cry on.

The Council: Ed and Lucille are really paying a very high price for their apartment. As long as the "free" living quarters offers Mother the chance to rule the roost, this couple can just give up trying to create a happy home.

Ed's shortcoming may or may not be serious. It is possible Lucille even enjoys "picking up after him." But if she doesn't, it is her business to tell him so. She certainly can do without prying eyes observing every detail of her day-to-day life.

If Lucille really uses her mother's shoulder to cry on, her married life has been seriously corrupted. She has been won over to her mother's point of view of seeing herself as a victim of a cruel, unfeeling husband. As long as this is her view of the situation, she will not be willing to work with her husband to create a happier marital existence.

It is up to Lucille to dig her way out of this unhappy situation. If she wishes to remain in the old apartment, she should let her mother know it belongs only to her and her husband and she will not accept in exchange her mother's acting as boss of the household. If she hasn't the guts to stand up to her mother, Lucille should certainly move. It will be more than worth any rent she must pay.
