

.500 Pace Appears Titular Formula for Yanks, Braves

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

A mere 22 victories in 44 games—a .500 pace—shapes up today as the magic pennant-clinching number for both the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees.

The once-close National League scramble cracked wide open Sunday when the Braves whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, for their seventh straight victory, their 12th in 13 games and the 21st in 26 games since July 15. The Yankees, meanwhile, downed the Baltimore Orioles, 7-2, and picked up a half-game when the Chicago White Sox split with the Detroit Tigers.

Those successes enabled both front-runners to open up 1/2-game lead with each having 44 games remaining. A .500 pace would enable the Braves to finish with 90 victories and the Yankees with 94. To overtake the Cardinals, the Braves would have to play .644 ball, the Brooklyn Dodgers .674, the Cincinnati Redlegs .682 and the Philadelphia Phillies .727. The White Sox would have to close at a .644 pace to wipe out a .500 Yankee closing pace.

Conley Twirls Seven-Hitter
Gene Conley, 6-1 since that key July 15 date, pitched a seven-hitter for his eighth win as the Braves gained the biggest NL lead of the season and the longest since they enjoyed the same margin on July 26, 1956.

Almost every statistic imaginable now supports the theory that the Braves will go on to their first flag since the shift to Milwaukee. Since July 15, they've played at a .808 clip compared to the Redlegs .577, the Dodgers .567, the Cardinals .556 and the Phillies .507.

In addition, they now hold a season's edge over each of their rivals—7-5 over the Cardinals, 9-7 over the Dodgers, 11-2 over the Redlegs and 10-8 over the Phillies. The Yankees, pulling out of a momentary slump, slammed out 14 hits behind the six-hit pitching of Johnny Kucks and Bob Grim and now show a steady 7-4 pace for August. The White Sox, who suffered an 8-5 loss before beating the Tigers, 11-2, show no signs of mounting a late drive off their 5-6 pace for this month.

Mathews Hits Homer
Ed Mathews knocked in two runs with a single and his 22nd homer and Johnny Logan smashed a two-run single in a four-run third inning rally as the Braves beat Cardinal ace Sam Jones.

Lombardi Hurls 6th Straight Victory as Pads Press Mounties

By DICK HARNETT
United Press Sports Writer

Vic Lombardi pitched his sixth straight win for San Diego Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader sweep over Seattle that moved the Padres up to within half a game of Vancouver and 5 1/2 games behind Pacific Coast league leading San Francisco.

The Padres beat Seattle 8-2 in the opener and 3-2 in the nightcap. San Francisco and Vancouver split at Vancouver, the Seals scoring a 4-2 win in the completion of a game called for curfew May 12 and dropping the regularly scheduled game to the Mounties, 2-1.

In other doubleheaders Hollywood and Los Angeles split, the Angels taking the opener at Wrigley Field 9-4 and the Stars the nightcap 2-1, and Sacramento shut out Portland 1-0 and 2-0 at Portland.

It was Al Jones' single in the bottom of an overtime eighth inning that drove in the Padres' winning run. Southpaw Bill Kennedy was tagged with his second loss. He has won eight for Seattle and had nearly saved the Rainiers when he came on in the seventh with two men on and had opened a Rainier scoring drive with a single in the top of the extra inning. Dick Brodowski went the route for the Padres in the opener for his 11th victory.

Long-hitting Chuck Diering, who has only a .157 average, made one of his hits count heavily in the last of the ninth for Vancouver. With the game tied 1-1 and two out, Diering rifled a hit through second base and Joe Frazier raced in from second, beating Marty Keough's throw with a perfect slide into the plate.

Earlier the Seals had finished the incomplete game of May 12 by holding their 4-2 edge through one inning of play. Los Angeles and Hollywood played a couple of good neighbor contests, with Hollywood's Jim Baumer saving the Stars from double defeat with his eighth inning triple in the scheduled seven-inning nightcap. The split gave the Stars a 2-1 edge in the series but Los Angeles still maintains a 13-8 lead in the cross-town rivalry. In the opener Steve Bilko led the way for the Angels with two home runs and a double, for three RBIs.

At Portland, Sacramento's Joe Stanka and Bud Watkins scored themselves a shutout each against the Bevos, Watkins in the nine inning opener and Stanka in the abbreviated nightcap. It was Stanka's eighth win against nine losses and Watkins' fifth victory against seven losses. Each of them allowed four hits, but the Solons' winning run in the opener was scored on two errors by Beaver first baseman Louis Marquez who bobbled the ball twice, allowing Len Neal to go to third and then home.

In the second game, Jim Greengrass cracked his 13th homer of the season in the fourth and Lyle Olsen tripled in the seventh, going home on Cuno Barragan's single.

McMurtry, Olson Fight On Saturday

Portland — The heavy-weight bout between Carl (Bobo) Olson, Vancouver, Wash., and "Irish" Pat McMurtry, Tacoma, Wash., canceled Saturday night because of rain, was set over to next Saturday, Aug. 17, on a recommendation of the Portland Boxing commission, promoter Tommy Moyer said today.

The action was taken primarily to accommodate out of town fans who traveled to Portland just for the fight. Chairman Ray Smith said he thought the fans would rather return to their homes, and come a week later, rather than stay over in Portland or make two trips in a row. The fight originally had been reset for tonight.

Thriftyway Takes Gold Cup Crown

By ELDON BARRETT
Seattle, Wash. — A cocky Bill Muncey was the "happiest guy in the world" today, the Gold Cup — symbolic of unlimited hydroplane racing, tucked away for a second straight year.

Muncey piloted the Miss Thriftyway to victory in the 50th running Sunday for the most coveted prize in the daredevil world of speed boating.

He came here from Detroit because of his prowess as a water jockey and brought Thriftyway in second in the final heat of the Gold Cup contest but one the basis of points won earlier, the boat amassed a total of $1,500 points to cop the trophy.

Hawaii Kai Out
Maverick, owned by Bill Waggoner of Phoenix, Ariz., and driven by Bill Stead of Reno, Nev., took the lead when Hawaii Kai conked out in the sixth lap.

Stead drove Maverick to the final heat win but his point total for the entire race was only enough to give his boat third place. However, Maverick's berthmate, Shanty I, finished in third and took second place in points.

Breathless II, owned by J. Philip Murphy of Piedmont, California, and driven by his son, Jay, was fourth in points followed by Short Circuit of Detroit and Lee Schoenith's Gale V.

Floyd Patterson Now At Seattle

Seattle — Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson arrived here today to finish up training chores for his title fight Aug. 22 with Pete Rademacher, Olympic Games heavyweight title winner.

Patterson looked rested and fit as his party stepped from a Great Northern train which arrived at 7:50 a.m.

"I feel fine," said Patterson. "I've trained just as hard for this fight as any other. I never look for a fight to be easy."

Among those on hand to greet the champion was Jack Hurley, promoter of the Aug. 22 scheduled 15-round at Sick's Stadium here.

Patterson talked only briefly with reporters before stepping into a King county sheriff's car which led a motor caravan to Kent, about 15 miles south of here, where he will finish his training.

Walters shot a 143, which included a hot 68 Sunday. Walt McGuire of Portland was second with 145.

Sportsmen To Convene

Discussion on a permit system advocated for deer and elk herd control will be held at a meeting of the Oregon Sportsmen club of Jackson county this evening. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall, 42 North Front st.

Members of the organization are opposed to hunter's choice, or either sex, deer and elk seasons, in which nimrods with unused tags may hunt. They feel that a permit system, in which number of tags is determined by a survey of deer in the given area, provides more control of hunting.

Dave DeArmond will report on the Oregon state game commission final hearing on hunting regulations held July 26.

All persons interested are invited to this evening meeting.
