502,000 Flu Shots To Be Distributed

Washington—Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney released to the public today 502,000 shots of Asiatic flu vaccine. The vaccine will be distributed by two manufacturers through normal commercial channels to physicians, hospitals, clinics and other health facilities, Burney said.

The Public Health Service recommended that state and local governments give priority to vaccination of persons who perform essential work including care of the sick.

The batch of flu shots released included 320,000 cubic centimeters from National Drug Company, Philadelphia, and 182,000 cc from Lederle Laboratories, New York. A dose equals one cc. Burney repeated today his warning that "even with maximum use of the vaccine this country may have serious influenza epidemics in the fall or winter."

The vaccine production target is 60 million doses by Feb. 1. Eight million shots are expected to be on the market by mid-September including four million for the military.
