Tight Money Brings Stocks Down Sharply

By ELMER C. WALZER United Press Financial Editor

New York — Tight money and talk of business uncertainties for the fourth quarter brought stocks down sharply during the past week. The market had been in an almost steady decline since the industrial average hit its high on July 12 and the rails made their top on July 15. Up to those dates the industrials had gained 65.95 points from the Feb. 11 low and the rails had gained 14.58 points.

At the close last week the industrials were down 23.99 points or 36 per cent from their high and rails had wiped out 53 per cent of their advance. The week's decline was accompanied by slightly higher volume of trading. Daily sales averaged 1,884,459 shares, against 1,772,536 shares in the previous week.

At the close Friday, the Dow-Jones industrial average stood at 496.78 off 8.32 points on the week; rail 146.02 off 4.53; utility 69.21 off 0.48; and 65 stocks 172.06 off 3.17.

Of the 1,392 issues traded, most since July 19, 902 declined while 315 advanced and 175 held unchanged.

There were 192 new lows for the year and only 22 new highs. Declines came into all sessions save Wednesday when the market enjoyed a fairly good recovery. Some had thought it might be readying itself for another try at the all-time record in the industrials but it soon spiked that belief by resuming its decline.

In the Friday session good support developed for a number of issues which managed to gain several points. The averages closed lower but well above their lows that day.

The market was seen as facing a possible consolidation period running for several weeks before enough momentum can be generated to make another try at the highs.

The situation generally was seen as not unfavorable for the market although it was admitted there was nothing new or stimulating enough to bring a rush of buying.

Prisoner Who Fleed Portland Hospital Held

Oregon City — A 19-year-old prisoner who escaped guard at a Portland hospital Friday clad only in a nightshirt, was apprehended Saturday in an isolated cabin on the Clackamas river in the Mulino area.

Captured was Francis Ray Bennett, who was sentenced in Portland recently to an indeterminate prison term by Judge Gus Solomon for car theft.

Roseburg Lumber Company Struck

Roseburg — Roseburg Lumber company, one of the largest independent lumber companies in the Northwest, was struck late Monday by Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union, local 2949.

Union Business Agent Hank Weber said the action involves a demand for a five-cent an hour wage boost.

About 1000 workers are affected by the walkout. Weber said negotiations Monday afternoon failed to produce an agreement. Pickets went on the line at 5:55 p.m., and no further talks were scheduled.

Weber said the reason for the wage demand was in accordance with an increase in the cost of living, and because, he said, there has been a wage increase this year in all other fields "except lumber."

"The lumber market is not as depressed as the owners claim it is," he said.

Air Force Plans To Investigate Story Of Steeves' Ordeal

Washington — The Air Force says it is conducting a routine investigation into the ordeal of Lt. David A. Steeves, who stumbled back to civilization in July after 54 days in the California wilderness.

But it said Monday it has no reason to disbelieve his story. Forced To Crawl

Steeves, who parachuted to safety, said he spent 54 days alone in the High Sierra, living on fish, reptiles and a deer. He was forced to crawl through the wilderness because of an injured leg, he said.

The Air Force said the investigation is being conducted to locate the plane and "to check carefully and see what caused the crash."

It said Steeves also is being questioned at length "to determine his reactions and evaluate them with regard to survival training." But the Air Force emphasized it "has no reason to believe the story is false until completion of the investigation, which may take a long time."

Steeves, on his return, said thoughts of his wife and child helped carry him through the long ordeal. But his pretty, blonde wife who embraced him on his return is planning a divorce.

No Second Honeymoon

The Trumbull, Conn., airman disappeared early in May after he said his jet crashed in the California mountains.

The couple said they planned a second honeymoon when Steeves returned. But it never came off. Mrs. Steeves' lawyer admitted Sunday that a divorce was "in the discussion stage."

Steeves said "It's definitely not my decision. It's hers."

Body of Farmer Found in Cornfield

Byron, Minn. — The brutally beaten body of an elderly farmer was found Monday in a cornfield near Byron.

Authorities say Alfred Gary, 69, was viciously assaulted and had suffered severe head wounds. His body was found near the edge of a cornfield, where it apparently had been dragged.

Gary was last seen alive Saturday evening. He was an itinerant farmer who had no permanent address.
