Asia Flu Vaccine
To Be Available
By October 15

Washington — Industry sources said today there is likely to be "quite a lot" of vaccine available to protect the public against Asiatic flu by Oct. 15.

These sources told the United Press it would be a "pretty good guess" as many as 25 million shots would be produced by mid-October. After that they said drug makers will be geared to turn out five million shots a week—if the public is using the vaccine.

But they pointed out the six major drug firms making the vaccine are taking what amounts to a huge gamble by investing $10 million in full-scale production without assurance the public will take the shots.

Production Not Subsidized
They noted the government is not subsidizing production and the risk is strictly the industry's own, taken at the government's urging.

They said if the public does not start widespread use of the vaccine by October or November at the latest, the industry will have to start tapering off production.

That possibility is a major reason why the government and drug makers are gearing for an all-out campaign to sell the public on the value of getting the vaccine shots.

The U. S. Public Health Service is preparing to use posters, radio, newspapers and community organizations to urge every American who can to get the vaccine shots as soon as they are available.

The Health Service says one shot of the vaccine is all that is recommended, and should provide at least 70 per cent protection against getting the Asiatic flu.

day with conflicting claims and denials.

Those who say they could see the Pacific ocean from the top of the 14,162-foot peak were contradicted by Ike Eichorn, of Redding, Calif., who said engineers have proved that would be impossible. He said the Coast range would obstruct such a distant view.

Offers 'Longest View'
But there were better found ed claims for the statement by Chap Wentworth, Dunsmuir, Calif., publisher, that Mt. Shasta offers "the longest view in America and possibly the entire world" because of the absence of smog and because the Sacramento valley is long and has no obstructions.

Eric Allen Jr., managing editor of the Medford Mail Tribune, entered the discussion with the report that "a long time ago" Boy Scouts climbed Mt. Hood and Mt. Shasta and set off flares or fireworks at night. Allen said each could see the other's signals. Mt. Hood, east of Portland, Oregon's highest peak at 11,245 feet, is more than 300 airline miles from Mt. Shasta.

George Schrader, former president of the Siskiyou County Historical Society, told of a survey made by heliograph in 1875. Schrader said reflections from the instrument were picked up on St. Helena, 192 airline miles to the southwest. At that time, the feat was acclaimed as the "longest known visual observation ever made for survey purposes."

Oregon State
Expanding Plans

Corvallis — Dr. A. L. Strand, president of Oregon State college, said today the school was expanding plans for its new physics-chemistry building on the basis of a $457,000 grant from the U. S. Public Health service.

The federal grant was awarded to enlarge chemistry research facilities in the new structure and will make possible a larger and better-equipped building Dr. Strand said. The 1957 Legislature appropriated $1,820,000 for the building.

The Health Service grant will be used to carry forward efforts of the OSC Science Research Institute which for many years has been engaged in studies in nutrition, allergies, irradiated foods, tissue calcification, heart and cancer, amino acids, problems of aging and pathways of metabolism.

Portland Apartment Tenants Flee Fire

Portland — Tenants of a three-story Portland apartment house fled in their nightclothes early today when a four-alarm fire spread through the upper floor of the building.

No injuries were reported as all 16 occupants in the 12-suite structure escaped before the flames reached them. The blaze illuminated the entire area around Southeast 12th ave. and Yamhill st. and threatened an adjacent frame building before it was contained.

Damage was tentatively estimated at $20,000. Fire Marshal Dale Gilman said cause of the fire had not been determined.

Body of Woman
Climber, 88, Found

Colorado Springs, Colo. — The body of an 88-year-old woman mountain climber missing since Aug. 5 was found on Wednesday in a deep gully on the east side of 14,110-foot Pikes Peak.

Authorities said Mrs. Inestine B. Roberts, Colorado Springs, apparently fell into the gully while descending the peak and then died of exposure.

Mrs. Roberts had climbed the famed peak 14 times previously. A great grandmother 10 times, she was the oldest member of the Prairie Mountain club of Chicago.

Moving of Tillamook Facility Protested

Washington — Sens. Wayne Morse and Richard Neuberger, Oregon Democrats, Wednesday appeared before an armed services subcommittee to protest any move of the Northwest Technical Institute Air Force training center from Tillamook, Ore., to Texas.

Morse and Neuberger said that Oregon had been discriminated against in locating defense and military installations. They also said a General Accounting office preliminary survey has shown that training at Tillamook would be cheaper per man than at Lackland AFB, Amarillo, Tex.

No decision was reached but the Oregon lawmakers said it was their hope the Air Force would reconsider its desire to move the facility from Tillamook.
