Dr. Smith will present a three hour lecture and demonstration and will read an optometric paper on his own work in visual training.

July Sales From O&C Lands Declines

Portland—Timber sales on the O and C revested railroad grant lands of western Oregon in July continued a trend set more than a year ago with a value drop from the same month of the previous year, Virgil T. Heath, state supervisor of the bureau of land management, said Saturday.

July timber sales totaled 41,203,000 board feet valued at $1,087,972 compared to 31,822,000 board feet valued at $1,207,951 in July, 1956.

Sales of green timber in the five O and C districts accounted for a greater volume of sales in July, 1957, than in the same month last year. Green timber sales this year amounted to 33,053,000 board feet valued at $883,980 compared to last year's July sales of 17,759,000 board feet valued at $657,283.

Salvage timber sales, with the Coos Bay district accounting for most of the volume, amounted to 8,150,000 board feet valued at $203,992 in July, 1957, compared to 14,069,000 board feet valued at $550,668 last year.

Montana is sometimes called the Treasure State.

Closing Ceremonies Held at Y's Camp At Diamond Lake

Closing campfire ceremonies were recently held at the Young Men's Christian association camp at Diamond lake in which one boy was recognized as the camp's outstanding leader and three other boys given outstanding camper awards.

Ona Liles, 18, Roseburg, was awarded the silver rag in recognition as the season's outstanding leader. Each season the staffs of all Diamond lake camping activities select one leader to be designated as outstanding in leadership qualities.

Served Four Weeks
This year's winner is president of the Roseburg high school and served on the camp staff for four weeks. Herb Partridge and Bob Jones, camp director, made the presentation.

Recognized as outstanding campers were Jim Maddux, Mike McQueen and Larry Byrne, all of Medford.

In addition to the awards, each boy was given the pioneer award in the camp's honor society. The

Sorting, Testing Plant Being Built

Cave Junction — Construction on a small sorting and testing plant for the nickel exploration work on Eight Dollar mountain began Wednesday, according to Alex Skrecky, operation manager for Nickel Corporation of America.

Concrete footings were completed earlier in the week for the structure. It will permit materials to enter at the top and pass through screens where they will be separated into different lots.

A number of small pits are being opened up, from which the materials to be tested will be taken. Bud Hoskins of the valley and a small crew are doing the construction work.

pioneer award is based on camp life and each boy's ability to get along with the tent group.

More than 400 boys participated in activities at Diamond lake this summer. Each week of camping was highlighted by a mountain climb. Mt. Thielsen and Mt. Bailey were each climbed four times. Three motor trips were taken to Crater lake during the summer and three outpost trips were made.
