Rifle Match Surges Into High Gear

Camp Perry, Ohio — Competition for the national small-bore rifle championships rolled into high gear today.

On tap for the 50-yard, 50-meter and 100-yard metallic sight matches.

Last year's champions in the same events were Ransford D. Triggs, Madison, N.J.; Arthur E. Cook, Silver Spring, Md.; and Ray H. Steele, Denver, Colo.

During the next six days, 575 of America's top small-bore rifle shooters will vie for the national title held by Kenneth Johnson of Washington, Pa.

Also at stake will be the women's title, held by Mrs. Viola E. Pollum of Brookville, Pa., and the junior title won last year by Thomas R. Holm of Des Moines, Ia.

Army Squad Tops

Sunday the U. S. Army's international rifle squad won top honors by taking the first three places in the world free rifle 50-meter match. A field of 150 competed.

First Lt. Daniel B. Buckel of Knoxville, Tenn., broke the national match record of 1,156 set by Gordon J. Taras in 1956. His score was 1,170.

He was followed by teammates 1st Lt. Verle F. Wright of Fort Wayne, Ind., with 1,161, and 1st Lt. James S. Carter of Pasadena, Calif., with 1,156.

Light Drills On Schedule Of Fighters

Seattle — Light drills were the order of the day today for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and his amateur challenger, Pete Rademacher, as they tapered off for Thursday's title bout here.

Patterson skipped his usual three miles of road work Sunday and attended church services at Kent, where his training camp is situated. Later he went two rounds each with two sparring partners while 1,300 fight fans looked on, then drove to the Longacres Race Track at Renton where he was honored guest.

Regular Routine

Trainer George Chermers put Rademacher through his regular routine of road work and sparring at Issaquah.

Patterson will remain indoors today and Tuesday with no ring work scheduled.

Light drills were ordered for Rademacher also.

The champion was expected to weigh 186 or 187, heaviest of his ring career, when he and Rademacher weigh in Thursday afternoon. Rademacher expects to scale 210.

The fight will not be broadcast on radio or television.

PARKROSE CHAMPION

Seaside — Parkrose edged Granning and Trece 2-1 in the championship game of the Connie Mack baseball tournament yesterday.

HARD SELL

Los Angeles — Hiroto Nakanishi, a Japanese stowaway who jumped ship here, believes you don't have to say a word to sell automobiles. Nakanishi, a car salesman in Tokyo, can't speak a word of English but explained to immigration authorities he figured all he had to do was slap the cars with his hand and point out their various features.

PLENTY OF NOTHING

Irvington, N.J. — Crime doesn't pay — at least not for thieves who broke into a local dairy. They dragged a 500-pound safe down several flights of a fire escape, loaded it into an automobile, drove five miles away, then smashed it open. The loot? 35 cents.

Patterson-Rademacher Mix Boxing Highlight of Week

New York — Floyd Patterson will defend his world professional championship against Pete Rademacher, the world amateur champion, in the featured fight on this week's boxing schedule.

They are slated for 15 rounds at Sick's stadium, Seattle, Wash., Thursday at 10 p.m. (p.s.t.) without benefit of television or radio.

It is the heavy-weight division's first "open" championship, and is the first heavy-weight title fight on which there was no "formal" betting and no odds quoted.

And it doubtless is the most widely criticized title bout ever staged in any division. Twenty-eight year old Rademacher of Grand View, Wash., is the Olympic champion who won 72 of 79 amateur bouts but never had a professional fight.

Promoter Jack Hurley would have a $400,000 gate if all the 25,000 seats in Sick's Stadium were sold out. Patterson is guaranteed $250,000 from a fund raised by Rademacher's relatives and friends.

Another champion fights this week. Lightweight ruler Joey Brown meets Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night in a 10-round non-title bout. Brown is favored at 3 to 1. It will be televised by ABC.

Friday night TV-radio (NBC) 10-rounder brings together welterweights Isaac Logart of Cuba and Walter Byars of Boston. Logart, rated second, is favored at 12 to 5 over unranked Byars.

Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena, featherweights Lulu Perez of Brooklyn and Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, square off in a 10-rounder. Bell is favored at 7 to 5.

This week's boxing schedule includes:

Monday: New York St. Nick's — Bobby Bell vs. Lulu Perez; Chicago — Mound Samy Walker vs. Eddie DeMars; New Orleans: Tommy Elder vs. Andrew Brown.

Tuesday: Miami Beach, Fla. — Willie Pastano vs. Roy Harris.

Wednesday: Chicago Stadium — Joey Brown vs. Joey Lopes.

Thursday: Seattle — Floyd Patterson vs. Pete Rademacher; world heavy-weight title; Los Angeles: Neal Rivers vs. Ralph Tiger Williams; Boston — Eddie Prince vs. Eddie Andrews.

Friday: Detroit — Isaac Logart vs. Walter Byars.

Saturday: St. Paul, Minn. — Del Flanagan vs. Ralph Tiger Jones; Hollywood, Calif. — Willie Morton vs. Ramon Tiscareno.

Ems, Senators Share 2nd Spot

The Salem Senators joined Eugene in second place in the Northwest league today after splitting with front-running Wenatchee Sunday while the Emeralds were dropping their third straight to lowly Tri-City.

The two Oregon teams now own identical records of 28-23, six games behind the leading Chiefs. Wenatchee won Sunday's nightcap at Salem, 3-1, after the Senators had taken the opener 3-2.

In the other Sunday action, Yakima took two from Lewiston, 3-2, and Tri-City took a single from the Emeralds, 14-6.

Effect of Power Turbine Blades on Fish Studied

Portland — What effect do spinning blades of power turbine wheels have on fish passing through them?

This question long has been of concern to both power and fishery interests and the subject for a great deal of testing at various power sites. Although information on this question is available an accurate answer has been difficult to obtain because of the inadequacy of testing equipment.

A huge funnel net constructed by the state game commission may provide the answer.

The newly designed net has been tested in recent days at the Leaburg power plant of the Eugene water and electric board. The net, weighing in excess of 1,200 pounds, screens all the water issuing from a single turbine outlet. The net is sufficiently long, approximately 80 feet in length, so that the fish passing through the turbine are carried downstream into a collection box located away from the turbine area.

The net is hung on a massive aluminum frame, adjustable to fit various size draft tube openings up to over 20 foot square, and funnels down to a 1x2-foot opening attached to a floating live box. The frame of the net fits snugly down in front of the turbine port so that everything that passes through the port enters the net.

Cooperating with the game commission in the tests have been the Eugene water and electric board and other interested agencies including the fish commission, U. S. fish and wildlife service, and the army engineers. Charles Campbell, Monty Montgomery, and William Pitney are in charge of the operations for the game commission.

The experiments at the McKenzie power site are designed in the first place to test the mechanical operation of the net itself.

All Teams Divide Sunday In Pacific Coast League

By DICK HARNETT
United Press Sports Writer

It was "one for you and one for me" all the way down the Pacific Coast League Sunday as every team in the circuit had a win and a loss in the day's four doubleheaders.

San Francisco split with Portland, losing the opener 3 to 1 and winning the nightcap 10 to 2. Vancouver dropped the first 4, then beat the Stars 5 to 4. San Diego lost to Los Angeles 8 to 3 in the opener and came back for a 4 to 3 triumph in the second game. Sacramento lost the first game at Seattle 4 to 3 and won the finale 7 to 2.

San Francisco charged. Loop leading San Francisco came charging back with the big guns in the seventh-inning nightcap at Portland after dropping two games in a row to the last
