The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alvarez

CUSHING'S DISEASE

One of the most remarkable illnesses I have ever seen is Cushing's disease. In which a little tumor forms in one of the supra-renal glands which lies just above the kidney. This tumor produces what is called a virilizing, or male-producing hormone which, in a few months, can change a pretty girl into a fat, coarse-looking woman with hair on her face, and a big abdomen with large striations on it. A miracle happens when the little tumor is removed and the ugly, coarse-looking and fat woman is changed back quickly into a pretty, trimly-built girl.

Another disease which can change a child into a coarse-looking, fat and pudgy-faced individual is a loss of function in the thyroid gland. I remember one day seeing in the hall of my building a mother with a dwarfed child who was as typical a pudgy and stupid-looking cretin as I had ever seen. Her eyes were slits between thickened lids, and her tongue was too big for her mouth. I prayed a little prayer that they would come into my office, and sure enough, they did. The girl was about 15 and had been too stupid to go to school. Because she felt like the princess imprisoned in a tree by a bad witch, she would go often into terrible tantrums of rage and frustration.

Unfortunately, no one had ever recognized what was wrong with her; they thought she was just feeble-minded. Within six weeks after I put her on thyroid substance, she had lost her excess weight and had grown taller. Within a few months she was a pretty girl, bright and keen, and going to high school. She called me her father because I had given her a second life. I am sorry this miracle cannot be performed for the 95 per cent of mentally retarded children whose thyroid gland is normal.

Diaphragmatic Hernia

Many people, on being x-rayed after a barium meal, are told they have a bit of stomach up in their chest. It goes up through the hole alongside the gullet, where it comes down through the midriff, or diaphragm. In probably 95 per cent of the cases this hernia can be disregarded because either it isn't producing symptoms, or it is producing so few symptoms that the patient can get along very nicely. Today, few surgeons care to operate on these things, unless the patient is suffering great distress. I haven't had such a patient operated on in many years. In most cases, I could say to the person, "If you'll take off some of the fat from your abdomen, you'll be comfortable. Also you may be comfortable if you don't try to lace your shoes after eating a good-sized meal, or it may help greatly not to lie down after a big dinner." The thing to remember is that one doesn't have to rush off to an operating room simply because one finds that one has a little hernia in the diaphragm.
