

ARGUE AFTER RECESS—Defense attorney Arthur J. Crowley (left) and Prosecutor William Ritzl, opposing forces at the Confidential trial in Los Angeles, start arguments all over again after court recessed upon being informed by press of the refutation offered by actress Maureen O'Hara to the alleged movie theater trust she has been accused of being a party to.

Marjorie Meade Rarely Shows Emotion During Legal Battle

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
Hollywood — What sort of woman is Marjorie Meade, the little lady charged with supplying spicy stories of movie-land's heroes and heroines to Confidential magazine? Well-dressed and mild-mannered she sits at the defendant's table with her husband, Fred, rarely showing emotion as the legal battle rages around her. She stands five feet, five inches tall, owns a trim figure and a pair of blue-green eyes.

"The initial shock of the trial — and all the people staring at me has worn off," she said during a court recess. "Now I'm just sort of numb." Woman-like, she refused to reveal her age. Marjorie was born and raised in New York City where her father, Charles Tobias, is a furnishing-home auctioneer. Her mother is an executive assistant to Robert Harrison, publisher of Confidential, who also is Mrs. Tobias' brother.

"I led a very normal, happy childhood," Marjorie said. "I went to public grammar schools and graduated from the Leonard School for Girls on 83rd street. One summer vacation I worked as a salesgirl in a department store."

Though she dreamed of becoming an actress as a child, Mrs. Meade turned to journalism for two years at Pennsylvania State college. "It was then that I met Fred," she recalled fondly. "He had just returned from flying 52 missions with the Air Corps in Europe. He won the distinguished flying cross and a lot of other medals. You should see them. They're beautiful."

Mrs. Meade said her current problems have brought the couple closer together. "We are more in love than ever," she said.

Settle in Apartment
After their marriage in 1945 the couple settled down in a New York apartment. Fred worked for his father in a family Chinaware company while Marjorie took over the role of housewife. "We have two wonderful sons, Bruce 4½, and Anthony, 7½," she said with motherly pride. "When we lived in Manhattan I did the shopping and took the youngsters to the park to play. We had a maid who helped out. I was president for two years of the Child Care League for Psychologically Disturbed Children and helped to raise money for the cause."

Two years ago the Meades moved to a Spanish-style, eight-room house in Beverly Hills. And Marjorie shifted gears from housewife to career woman for Hollywood Research, Inc., Confidential's West Coast listening post.

Mrs. Meade refuses to discuss her trial or why she took the Confidential job except to say that the trial prevents her from spending more time with her children. "I took a lie-detector test this week," she concluded. "And it proved everything I've said is absolutely true."

"The man who recorded the test said my heartbeat was faint and slow—and I ought to see a doctor."

Graham Notes Other Headlines Than Trial

New York — Billy Graham said Tuesday night that while large chunks of the Free World are about to disappear behind the Iron Curtain, "our headlines seem mostly taken up with a scandal trial in Hollywood."

"There are other headlines more gravely serious," the evangelist told a Madison Square garden audience of 17,000. "It looks as though Syria is going behind the Iron Curtain and Indonesia is heading the same way."

The major powers are preparing nuclear weapons with missile warheads that are capable of annihilating whole cities, he said, and "all the world seems to be getting ready for a conflict that could end our western concept of a Free World."

This being the case, Graham continued, Americans should turn from sensational frivolous pursuits and take what opportunity is left to improve their spiritual situations.

Graham said his New York crusade had turned out to be "the longest religious crusade in modern times." When it closes Sept. 1, it will have run 16 weeks. Evangelist Billy Sunday conducted a 10-week campaign in New York in 1913, but Graham's has already run 14 weeks.

Balloon to Carry Bomb Leaks Helium

Las Vegas, Nev. — A balloon designed to carry a nuclear device has sprung a leak, forcing the Atomic Energy commission to call the third postponement of its 13th shot in the summer test series.

The device, dubbed Doppler, was to be detonated from the helium-filled balloon today at 1,500 feet above the Nevada Proving grounds. Scientists disclosed Tuesday that the leak resulted in the loss of nearly all of the lighter-than-air gas pumped into the plastic balloon.

The AEC said a new shipment of helium would arrive today and the test would be held at 5:30 a.m. (PDT) Thursday — weather permitting. Adverse weather already has caused two 24-hour delays in the detonation of the "half nominal" yield device.

Milk Strike in NY Averted Yesterday

New York — The milk strike in the New York metropolitan area ended early today, averting the threat of a shortage for 12 million consumers.

Milk from dairy farms began moving into the area immediately after both sides reached a settlement, Harry Uviller, chairman of the State Mediation Board, said.

Uviller said the settlement terms "more or less meet the union demands."

He said the Dairy Transport association agreed to give truck drivers a 70-cent an hour package increase over a three year period.

Officials of the association and of Teamsters Local 770 met Tuesday night and reached the agreement about 3 a.m. (EDT).

American Students Board Chinese Train

Otpor, Sino-Soviet Border — Forty-one American students en route to Peiping from the Moscow Youth Festival boarded a Chinese train here today for the remainder of the trip to the Chinese Communist capital.

All of the students were well and in good spirits as they prepared to enter Chinese territory. The train arrives in Peiping two days later, passing the Ancient Wall of Ghengis Khan at this border of northern Manchuria.

En route the train bearing the students halted briefly in Kirov, Sverdlovsk, Novosibirsk and other Siberian towns where they were greeted at the platform by hundreds of Russian youngsters offering flowers and gifts.

High Pressure Center Provides Fair Skies

By UNITED PRESS
A high pressure center extending from the Gulf of Mexico north to Hudson Bay produced fair skies and near ideal summer weather today over most of the nation.

Only scattered showers occurred during the night, and precipitation amounts were light.

A fresh invasion of cool air swept the northern Great Lakes and New England, touching off showers along the southern shore of Lake Ontario.

Scattered showers also were reported over portions of the mid-Mississippi valley, the western slopes of the Central Rockies and much of the desert Southwest.

Armed Forces to Get Shots for Flu

Washington — The U.S. Armed forces will begin receiving Asiatic flu vaccine in about a month, officials said today.

A Defense spokesman said first priority will go to men overseas, their families and Defense department civilian employees overseas.

The department has for several years given a flu shot to military men. This year, officials said, a so-called monovalent shot, to combat solely the Asiatic flu strain, will be given first. Later the usual polyvalent shot will be given.

The annual school cooks-conference will be held in Klamath Falls on Friday, August 30.

Lake, Klamath, Jackson and Josephine counties will take part in the meeting. The Medford schools will furnish bus transportation for the annual conference.

Mrs. Una B. Inch, assistant school superintendent for Jackson county, asks all cooks who wish transportation by bus to contact her office at SPring 2-4424 to make a reservation.

HAPPY MEMORY

Bayonne, N.J. — Joseph Godski, 38, of Jersey City, arrested for disorderly conduct, was asked about the tattoo on his arm that said, "in memory of my wife Helen." "I had that tattooed the day she divorced me," he said.

Actress Gail Russell Found Unconscious

Hollywood — Actress Gail Russell, 32, was found unconscious Tuesday night beside a half-finished highball on the bathroom floor of her home, the sheriff's office reported.

The actress was taken to the prison ward of Los Angeles General hospital where she was booked on a felony warrant charging failure to appear for arraignment on drunk driving charges. She had been scheduled to appear in court Tuesday on charges she was intoxicated when she allegedly drove her car through the window of a restaurant last July 4.

Miss Russell, following the accident in which a janitor was hurt, told a judge she would "never take another drink."
