Several Events Included in Labor Day Jubilee in IV

Cave Junction—Souvenir programs for the Illinois Valley Labor Day Jubilee are off the press and may be obtained from Don Adams, general chairman.

Starting at noon Saturday with a pee wee baseball game and a barbecue at the VFW grounds near Cave Junction, the celebration will continue three days. Children's bicycle races and lumber contests are scheduled.

Queen's Ball

At the Queen's ball Saturday, one of seven princess will receive her crown from last year's queen, Jeanne Tyer. In a close race for the title are Jean Knight, Linda Deaton, Ronnie Bausch, Myrna Gibbons, Bertha Champney, Melba Jordan and Fern Mickey, each sponsored by one of the organizations which go to compose the Illinois Valley Jubilee association.

The children's parade, planned by the local Chamber of Commerce, is set for 1 p.m. Sunday at the VFW grounds.

A log bucking contest at 3:30 and a teen-age dance at 8 on the VFW outdoor floor will end Sunday's festivities.

Parade Scheduled

The Labor Day parade, which will form at 11 a.m. Monday, will be one of the major attractions of the Jubilee. With floats from most organizations and many valley stores and churches, several riding clubs, music, ancient cars, and a number of surprise entries, the parade will start at the north end of town and will end at the VFW grounds.

Horse racing and a horse show are set for noon Monday, and a watermelon eating contest and other children's games will follow at 3 p.m. From 3:30 until 4:30 p.m. logging contests and a ladies tug of war are planned.

The Jubilee dance at the Legion hall will climax the week end celebration Monday evening.

Youth Visiting in Valley Collects Snakes As Hobby

By EVALYN P. WATSON

Shady Cove-Trail—The title of "Snake Boy" is one that can well be applied to Dan Milligan of Whittier, Calif., who started collecting snakes as a hobby when in the fourth grade.

He first became interested in snakes through the stories his grandmother would tell him of the "whoppers" in her home state of Oklahoma. Dan has been spending three weeks vacationing at the Rogue River lodge at Trail with his mother, Mrs. Rex Milligan, and brothers, John Timmy.

While here he has collected 40 non-poisonous snakes, garters and blue racers throughout the hills, packed them in boxes and shipped them back to Whittier where he sells the common ones to pet shops, snake farms, and to colleges for experimental purposes.

Keeps Rare Ones

He keeps the rare ones for his own enjoyment having a snake cage approximately six feet square in his home. He does not collect poisonous snakes although he has killed three rattlers while here.

His rarest snake to date is a coral king snake which he got at Yosemite but he is buying a five foot boa constrictor from Florida.

Besides the snakes he also has another unusual pet, an alligator which the Milligans keep in their yard.

In order to keep the snake hobby from becoming too costly the Milligan's raise rats and mice as feed for the snakes.

Occasionally one of the snakes gets out somewhere in the neighborhood to cause consternation among those who do not know of Dan's hobby.

Dan swapped experiences in snake collecting with Carroll Watson of the Treasure Trove who is an old hand at the hobby having had a snake pit at his home in 1934 selling them to zoos and various places throughout the country.

Government Sticks To Shot Suggestion

Washington — The government said today it is sticking to its recommendation that one shot of preventive Asian flu vaccine will do the job despite a Pentagon decision to use two.

A Public Health service spokesman said the PHS "medical personnel and scientific advisers believe one shot will provide substantial protection for approximately one year."

The armed forces announced Wednesday that it will give men in uniform two shots of the new vaccine as an extra precaution. That appeared to mean several million civilians will have to wait a little longer to get their shots.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney estimated earlier that stepped-up production will make it possible to inoculate between 80 to 85 million persons—about half the U. S. population — by Jan. 1.

However, military officials now say that the Pentagon wants 7,230,000 one-cubic-centimeter doses compared with an original estimate of four million shots.

Public health officers conceded the single shot might be somewhat less effective than vaccines for older strains of flu virus which are about 70 per cent effective.

Five Enlisted Men Face Court-Martial

Fort Carson, Colo. — Five more enlisted men and their company commander face court-martial on charges of mistreating recruits.

The charges, filed Wednesday at Fort Carson, are similar to those brought against three non-commissioned officers of the same outfit — Company I, 39th Infantry Regiment — last Monday.

In the new charges the following men either are accused of striking recruits or issuing unusual forms of punishment, or both:

Sgt. Jack Riley, 27, of Brunswick, Ga.; Sgt. Harkules Kieles, 23, of Dover, Del.; Pvt. George Fields Jr., 23, of Chicago; Pvt. Udell Williams Jr., 23, of Chicago, and Sgt. Edwin Knuston, 28, of Altoona, Pa.

Their company commander, Capt. John Webb, was charged with failing to enforce and obey certain regulations, and with "causing the mistreatment" of three basic trainees.

The enlisted men will face special court-martial after the trial of Sgt. James L. Hobbs, 26, of Gunnison, Miss., which begins next Tuesday.

Hobbs was charged Monday with two other men of similar offenses. They are Sgt. First Class Alexander Brown, 26, of Warrington, Fla., and Specialist Second Class Robert F. Neely, 28, of Pelzer, S.C.

Negotiations End For Natural Gas

Calgary, Alberta, Canada — Negotiations have been completed for the purchase from Shell Oil company of a substantial part of the natural gas required for a proposed 1,300-mile pipeline from Alberta to California.

Sponsors of the planned 330 million dollar pipeline and officials of Shell made the joint announcement Wednesday.

The gas will be purchased for Pacific Gas and Electric company of San Francisco for distribution in the California market, according to Jack K. Horton, president of the newly formed Alberta and Southern Gas Company, Ltd.

Paul L. Kartzke, vice president of Shell Oil company, Calgary, estimated his company would be able to supply 200 million cubic feet of natural gas per day to the new transmission system.

Tipster Expected To Turn Herself In

Mexico City — Confidential tipster Francesca de Scaffa was expected to turn herself in to immigration authorities today, while she can still choose for herself where she will go when she leaves Mexico.

The Hollywood blonde, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, has been ordered to get out of Mexico by 5 p.m. Friday. Immigration officials said if she does not do so she will be deported summarily to the U.S.

Her present whereabouts are unknown. Mexican plain clothesmen are watching two houses where she is known to have stayed, so far without uncovering a clue to her present living arrangements.
