U.S. Eases Curbs
On Goods to Polish

Washington — The United States has made a new effort to shore up the shaky economy of Poland by easing curbs on export of civilian goods to the Communist nation. The decision Wednesday was in line with President Eisenhower's pledge last February to assist Poland or any other nation which seeks "to assert its sovereignty against Russian domination."

It followed a recently concluded agreement under which the U.S. will provide Poland with 25 million dollars worth of credits and farm surpluses.

Like the new relaxation of export controls, the loan agreement was designed to aid Poland steer a somewhat more independent course of Russia by bolstering its domestic economy.

NEEDS ELEVATOR SHOES

Hollywood — Irish "Sheena" McCalla, blonde amazon-type actress who stands six feet tall in low shoes, says the long and short of her latest film is that she quit. "The leading man they had for me was five inches shorter than I am," she said. "I don't mind playing comedy, but this was supposed to be a serious picture."

FOURTH NUCLEAR SUB—The atomic submarine "Swordfish," the U. S. Navy's fourth nuclear-powered underwater vessel, hits the water after sliding down the ways into the Piscataqua River, Portsmouth, N. H.

Chicago — Florian Piekarski's attempt to catch a bird with his hand led to a bump in the bush. Piekarski was treated for a head cut when he fell head first into a bush while climbing a tree to recover a stray parakeet.

HOLD MOURNING MASS
Warsaw — The newspaper Zycie Warszawy said today a Roman Catholic mourning Mass will be held Saturday for seven Polish naval officers "innocently killed" in 1948 and 1949 by the Communist regime.

Is That So?

Difference in size between males and females of the same species of warm-blooded animals may be enormous when they become adults even though they may be the same size as litter mates.

In the fur-bearing seal of Alaska, this difference is perhaps greatest: the bull may weigh upward of 600 pounds while his small mate seldom exceeds 90. And he, the lazy oaf, makes only a short migratory run from the Pribilof Islands to the Alaskan mainland, while she, the small female, swims 3,000 south to winter with her young.

The Walrus cow, basking on the beautiful blue-white ice floe, weighs nearly a ton to her ponderous mate's 3,000 pounds. However, no hard and fast rule can be made with aquatic mammals. With other species of seals, females may even outweigh males. But this must be remembered: in water, weight becomes nonexistent, really. They float.

Buoyancy Explains
This buoyancy explains why some aquatic mammals can give birth to such huge offspring. All that the aquatic mother need is elasticity to accommodate the huge bulk of her unborn pup—which in the sperm whale may attain one-third the size of its mother and weigh up to 25,000 pounds. With the exception of the cot-tonail rabbit and jack rabbit (more accurately a hare), the earth-bound female who is larger than the mature male is exceedingly rare. Seldom does the female approach the male's size. With the coat mudi, weasel, mink, and fisher, the male may be almost twice the weight of the mature female. However, there are two mammals, at least, that come to mind in which male and female is almost indistinguishable except to the expert. In both size and appearance the nine-banded armadillo and beaver look alike. As for the latter it grows like a fish. It has the unique quality among mammals of never ceasing to grow throughout its lifetime.

Talk about things to be proud of...

Chevy gives you more!

You're bound to take extra pride in Chevrolet's agile, eager ways—in its sure, soft-spoken power and gentle ride. Chevy's beautiful behavior and solid build are hard to come by in a car at any price.

Give yourself five minutes beside a Chevrolet, studying the fine details of its Body by Fisher. Take five more on the road, sampling the sweet response of power and smoothness of ride. Be hard to please. A Chevy loves to show how beautifully it's put together—and what it can do for your pride.

No other car in the low-price field tells you in quite such certain terms that it was born for effortless handling. A Chevrolet has its pounds in the right places—keeps its stability and stance, no matter how sharply the road may dip, turn or climb. Its wide-based outrigger type rear springs help it to resist pitches and sway, and move with eager, easy strides. And with its ball-bearing steering, commanding a Chevrolet is simply a matter of your hands giving gentle hints to the wheel.

It spoils you—this car with its nimble ways. See it at your Chevrolet dealer's—soon!
