Senator's Daughter Wed To Episcopal Clergyman

A wedding which excited interest throughout the nation took place in Eugene last Saturday afternoon, August 31. It was the marriage of Miss Judith Morse, daughter of United States Senator and Mrs. Wayne Morse, to the Rev. Wade Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Eaton, also Eugene, which was held at St. Mary's Episcopal church at two o'clock. Senator Morse escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage.

The ceremony was read by the Very Rev. Sherman Johnson, of Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, Calif. Guests were from all parts of the state, including a group from Medford.

At nine o'clock that morning the couple participated in a nuptial eucharist at the church, with the Rev. Evan Williams of Santa Barbara as celebrant. He was assisted by the Rev. William Rees as deacon and the Rev. O. Steen Whiteside as sub-deacon. The Very Rev. Mr. Johnson also took part as the priest who read the marriage ceremony. A choir of clergymen sang the communion service.

The wedding procession was "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven," which was used at Queen Elizabeth's coronation, and the recessional was "The Trumpet Voluntary." Milton Dietrich was organist.

The bride designed her wedding gown, which was of white shantung, and her crescent-shaped headdress. The slim gown was untrimmed except for a fold marking the empire waistline. A panel hung free at the back and extended into a train which served as a support for the lace wedding veil. The veil, of exquisite Naples lace, had been brought from Italy by the senator and presented to his daughter when she was 13 years old. The bride carried white roses and stephanotis on a white shantung-covered prayer book. Her jewelry was an antique garnet cross, a gift from the bridegroom, which matched her garnet engagement ring. She also wore garnet pendant ear-rings, an antique garnet hair ornament, a gift from the best man, and a bracelet of twisted Indian gold.

Mrs. C. Hugh Campbell Jr., Hartsville, S.C., the former Nancy Morse, was matron-of-honor for her sister, Miss Amy Morse of Eugene and Chapel Hill, N.C. Mrs. Frank Huckins, Eugene, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. James Rodgers, the former Jo Tallman and a college friend
