Presbyterians To Give Dinner

A Korean student will be aided with funds raised at a dinner which the Men's club of First Presbyterian church will give Wednesday evening from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock in Fellowship hall of the church. A turkey dinner is to be served, and the public and friends of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Proceeds from the dinner will help provide scholarship aid for Young Il Shin, a Korean student who is in his second year of study for the Christian ministry at Harvard Divinity school. Young Shin has been in Medford this summer aiding the program of the church while working at a local lumber yard. Upon completion of his divinity training he plans to return to Korea and serve the Presbyterian church.

Any funds raised above the scholarship for the student will be used to send delegates to the western area conference for Presbyterian men at San Francisco this winter.

Tickets for the dinner may be bought at the door or procured in advance from William Seibert, Wayne Jamison, Fred Gatter, George Witter, Bob Stewart, Sam Harbison and Gene Orr.

Gardeners Give Barbecue Dinner

Talent—Talent Garden club gave a barbecue dinner September 5 for husbands and families of members. Twenty-six attended the event, held at the home of Mrs. Charles O. Long. Mrs. John Baldwin and Mrs. Jason Ottinger assisted her.

Following a business meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Long showed slides they have taken on various trips. They have pictures of azaleas and lilies at Harbor and Brookings, Ore., the famous rock gardens at Bend and slides taken inside the Oregon caves. Also shown were pictures made at flower shows in the valley.

Sylvia McCabe Honored Guest At Tea Sunday

Miss Sylvia McCabe was honored at a tea given Sunday afternoon by Judge and Mrs. Edward C. Kelly and their daughter, Miss Norene Kelly, at the family home on West Fourth street. Miss McCabe is the fiancée of the Kellys' older son, Bernard Kelly, and the wedding is set for October 5 at Sacred Heart Catholic church.

The bridegroom-to-be is an attorney, and the tea was given in order that Miss McCabe might meet members of the legal profession in Medford and their wives. In addition, a few close friends of the Kellys were also invited.

Pouring during the afternoon were Mrs. Thomas J. Reeder, Mrs. Robert A. Boyer, Mrs. Philip Lowry, Mrs. Hanley Heffernan, Mrs. Otto J. Frohnmayer, Mrs. Robert B. Duncan, Mrs. Robert D. Dames, and Mrs. Lewis Ulrich.

About 130 guests called. Flowers used to decorate the Kelly home were in the colors of early fall. The tea table arrangement was of chartreuse gladiolus and bronze spider chrysanthemums and amber candleabra holding brown candles stood on the sideboard. An arrangement of yellow and gold colored daisies and marigolds decorated the living room mantel, and other floral arrangements were of salmon colored and blue garden blossoms.

Miss Lois Santo Guest of Parents

Miss Lois Santo, a medical missionary for the Church of the Nazarene, expects to leave Medford the middle of the week after a brief visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Santo, 204 Lozier lane. Miss Santo spent the past four years in British Honduras, and is now on a year's furlough. Later this year she will be assigned new duties for the church while she completes her year's stay in the United States.

Yesterday the family spent the day at Crater lake and Miss Santo added to her collection of colored pictures. While here she has been showing slides made in Honduras.

Lutheran Women To Hold Meeting

Women of St. Peter's Lutheran church will meet Thursday, September 12, in the church basement at 12:30 p.m. for a potluck luncheon. The quarterly business meeting will follow.

Guild to Meet

St. Elizabeth's guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church will hold the first meeting of the fall season Friday, September 13, at the church. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. Newcomers to the parish are especially welcome, it is stated.

Civic Music Announces Annual Week

Jackson County Music association will hold the annual membership week beginning October 7. It was announced today by Seth M. Bullis, chairman. Mrs. William E. Duhaime will serve as chairman.

During this week only memberships will be sold which entitle the holder to attend all of the concerts or recitals, usually five in number, brought here by the association.

Mr. Bullis points out that this is the 15th consecutive year of operation since the reactivation of the association in 1943. Many leading box office personalities have appeared here for the association and many who have given concerts here as young artists in their early years have since become top-flight artists, the chairman said.

The list of concert artists and groups includes such singers as Jan Peerce, Claramae Turner, Dorothy Warenskjold and Robert Weede; dancers appearing here include the Markova-Dolin team and the choruses and orchestras include the Vienna Boys choir and Zurich Little Symphony. Among the instrumentalists have been Millstein and Szegedi, famous violinists, Leonard Pennario and Brailowsky, noted pianists and Joseph Schuster, famous cellist.

Headquarters for the campaign will be at Purucker Piano house, 111 North Central avenue, Medford.

Mr. Bullis states that prices for memberships, fully transferable, are still $6 for adults and $3 for students.

No memberships are available after October 12, and no single admissions are sold at any time.

Captain, Family Here for Reunion

Capt. and Mrs. Gene C. Rae and daughters, Becky and Cathy, left Monday after spending a week in Medford visiting the captain's mother, Mrs. Selma Rae and family, 819 Bennett street. The visitors also spent some time with the officer's brother, Robert and family at 918 Park street.

Captain Rae and his family have just returned from Germany where he was stationed for three and one-half years at Kaiserslautern and Mainz. He will now be stationed at Dugway Proving Grounds near Salt Lake City, Utah.

Also here for the family reunion was the captain's sister, Mrs. Carl Casperson and Carl Jr., of Anaheim, Calif.

Apple Pie Mix May Be Frozen Says Economist

Corvallis—Freezing apple pie filling for next winter's pies is a good way to use favorite Northwest Gravensteins now on the market or on home trees.

Mrs. Ruth Klippstein, Oregon State college extension nutritionist, says that by freezing apple pie filling homemakers can save a step in pie making next winter. Frozen apple slices can be used in pies, but they have to be thawed before the rest of the pie ingredients can be added to them.

The college home economist outlines this procedure for making and freezing apple pie filling: Wash, peel and core apples. To prevent darkening during preparation, slice them into a salt water solution — 2 tablespoons salt to a gallon of water. Then drain.

To retard darkening of apples during storage, place slices in a single layer in a steamer and steam 1½ to 2 minutes, depending on thickness of apple slice. Cool in cold water and drain. Then prepare according to your favorite pie recipe.

Add sugar and thickening agent according to regular apple pie recipe. Since spices may become stronger during freezing, Mrs. Klippstein recommends that smaller amounts of spices be used or that spices be added when making the pies.

Pack amount of apple pie mixture needed for a single pie in a container, label "for pies" and freeze.

Churches Urged To Strive for Unity

Oberlin, Ohio—Protestant and Orthodox leaders today called on "every local church and congregation" to take up the quest for Christian unity.

The appeal was made in a "message to the churches" presented for adopting at the final session of an eight-day Unity Conference attended by representatives of 47 U.S. and Canadian denominations.

It said the Oberlin conference, first of its kind ever held in North America, disclosed unexpected solidarity among Christians of the varied inheritance on many points of doctrine.

But the conference acknowledged there are still important differences that must be resolved before unity in spirit can be translated into any kind of organizational unity.

West Coast Leads Christian World in Number of Divorces

Sacramento, Calif.—The Western Coast of the United States has the highest divorce rate in Christian civilization.

In America's West the rate is so high that one out of every three married couples are separated by the courts. Three California counties—Lassen, Mono and Napa—have more divorces each year than marriages.

The only spots on earth with more divorces per capita are Moslem areas. In Egypt all a man does to be rid of his wife is repeat three times the phrase, "I divorce thee."

Florida Rival

The only Eastern state which rivals the West for high divorce records is Florida which, like Nevada, gives easy decrees to visitors.

Such a big-scale breaking-up of households exacts a stupendous cost from society. California alone pays $60 million a year to help support children from broken homes.

Sixty per cent of its juvenile delinquents come from these same homes, and some of them who grew up were executed murderers Burton Abbott and Jack Santo.

Experts say the reason the Western states lead the nation with their divorces is that their laws are the most lenient. In all except a rare few courts in California, lawyers will tell you a divorce can be had for the asking. Any reason is good enough.

San Francisco attorney Jake Ehrlich recalls a case in which a man was divorced solely because his wife, who he called perfect in every respect but one, dyed her hair a different color each month.

Political Cause

In Los Angeles, Attorney Jerry Geisler tells of a case in which a woman was granted a divorce because her husband was a registered Republican.

But in Eastern states divorces aren't quite so easy. Generally, they recognize fewer grounds, and in New York only adultery is accepted as a valid reason.

As a result, the Atlantic seaboard states have only 16 to 33 per cent as many divorces per capita as the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain region.

Statisticians give these estimated figures representing the number of persons per thousand who get divorces each year: Oklahoma, 5.9; Arizona, 5.2; Arkansas, 4.4; Texas and Idaho, 4.2; Wyoming, 4; New Mexico, 3.9; Oregon, 3.7; California, 3.4; Washington, 3.3 and Montana, 3.2.

Other Causes Noted

While the generosity of the law is held to be the principal reason for the West's high divorce rate, judges, attorneys and social workers note other causes, too.

In a United Press Survey, San Diego officials commented that a disproportionate number of divorces seem to occur among people who moved from out-of-state. They resulted when one marriage partner failed to adjust to the change as fast as the other.

In a small way, the Pacific Coast divorce rate is also increased by the number of misfits who, failing to solve their problems at home, join the population movement to the West where they contribute to the divorce rate just as they do to the suicide and alcoholic totals.

But these factors are minor. Essentially, there is no reason to believe Westerners suffer any more marital unhappiness than anybody else. Western divorces are caused by the same spiritual maladies in Portland, Ore., as in Portland, Maine.

The only difference is that unhappy Easterners find it so difficult to divorce they stay married, and Westerners have it so easy they go to court—for better or for worse.

Awards Presented At Camp White

Camp White—Awards of merit were presented by Domiciliary Manager E. K. Ricker to 12 civil service employees Monday.

Seven awards for sustained superior performance were presented to B. R. Sims, engineering officer; William Cody, chief protective section; Ernest Hesser, laboratory technician; Jack Love, pharmacist; Mrs. Virginia Keyser, personnel; Max Ament and Charles Ice, engineering.

Awards for suggestions improving the service were presented to L. L. Dover, registrar; W. L. Wallace, supply; Dorothy Doty, engineering; Walter Willis and Mrs. Caroline Vincent, supply.

Mrs. Vincent and Walter Hughes, member employee, received certificates.

Recreation Leader Named at Domiciliary

Camp White—Appointment of a recreation leader in arts and crafts was announced today by E. K. Ricker, manager of the VA Domiciliary.

Stanley O. Sears accepted the special civil service position and assumes his duties this week. He has had experience in the Army, in the Veterans' administration and at Boeing aircraft.

Sears was director of recreation at Reno VA hospital for two years and has served at Seattle and Ft. Harris VA hospitals.

Ray Wilson has been named assistant domiciliary officer to fill the post held by Herbert Daniels, transferred to Wadsworth VA domiciliary.

Wilson comes to Camp White from the Reno hospital, where he was a pharmacist. He had experience as a medical administrative officer while in the Navy.

UNABLE TO ATTEND

Chicago—Two guests couldn't attend Mr. and Mrs. Carmen J. Lipuma's silver wedding anniversary celebration, but they sent their best wishes. The guests, invited by the Lipuma's 10-year-old daughter, Margaret, were Pope Pius XII and President Eisenhower.
