

Yost Heads Amateurs Who Go Against Pros in Hudson Cup Golf Rivalry at Rogue Valley

A National Amateur tournament quarter-finalist this year, who was also a Pacific Northwest and Oregon champ and Walker Cup player in past years heads the delegation of 10 amateurs, including the reigning Northwest and four state and provincial titlists, who meet the 10 top pros of the Northwest in the ninth annual Hudson Cup golf matches Saturday and Sunday at Rogue Valley Country club here.

Acknowledged leader of the amateurs is Dick Yost, Columbia-Edgewater club, Portland, who went to the National Am quarterfinals only last week. He was on the Walker Cup team which faced British amateurs in 1954.

Current champ among the sixteen pures of the Northwest is William Warner, 18-year-old Spokane, Wash., linksman.

State titlists, who'll team with Yost and Warner against the pros, are Gordon MacKenzie, Vancouver, B. C., Washington and British Columbia winner, Bob Prall, Salem, Oregon medal play victor two years, Don Taylor, Seattle, Washington Open champ, and Ade Huycke, Oswego, Oregon match play diadem holder.

The four other members of the Hudson team are winners of city or regional tournaments during the past season. Don Krieger, Columbia, Portland, took the Oregon Coast crown and was runner-up to Warner in the PPGA. He is an ex-Oregon match champion. Bob Atkinson, Portland city victor, is remembered to Medford links followers as a five-times entry in the Southern Oregon tournament here. He won it three times. Jim Mallory is Spokane city winner and Carl Johnson, Seattle, won the Inglewood invitational.

The Hudson matches will consist of 36-hole competition each day with two-ball foursomes on Saturday and individual matches on Sunday.

Pro team players are Charles Congdon and Al Feldman, Tacoma, Wash.; Eddie Hogan, Riverside club, Portland; Bob McKendrick, Oswego Lake; Dave Kilien, Eastmoreland; Bill Welch, Tri-City; Bunny Mason, Salem; Ray Honsberger, Salem; Joe Greer, Spokane, and Larry Lamberger, Portland. They were picked on the basis of points in season competition.

Team captains are Al Williams, Medford, for the pros, and F. H. Heitkemper, Portland, for the amateurs. They are to meet Thursday to pair the players for the matches.

Booster gallery tickets are being sold for $1 for the matches. One ticket will be good for both days. Proceeds will go to the United Medford Crusade.

Sponsor of the matches is Robert A. Hudson Sr., Portland wholesale grocer.

The Hudson event is being held for the first time at RVCC. It is one of the highlight events of the golfing season and with the stellar talent on hand is expected to produce some of the finest competitive golf seen locally.

Iranians Approve Calling It Persia

Tehran, Iran — It's all right to call it Persia again.

The Iranian cabinet said it had decided the word Persia could be used interchangeably with Iran to end confusion among foreigners who sometimes confuse Iran with Iraq.

Iran remains the official name, however, and Iranians will continue to call it that. But the cabinet said it was hopeless to expect foreigners to stop calling the country by its old name, Persia.

'My Fair Lady' Song Writer Faces Suit

Los Angeles —Composer Frederick Loewe, 56, who wrote the music for "My Fair Lady," today faced a separate maintenance suit brought by his "fair lady" of 26 years.

Mrs. Ernestine Loewe, 49, one-time manager for Hattie Carnegie, Tuesday charged the song writer with non-support in the suit. She asked the $7,500 a month alimony.

The suit claimed that Loewe was "enjoying" a $450,000 income a year from royalties on the Broadway hit. Mrs. Loewe said she was destitute now and living on borrowed money.

The couple was married in New York June 13, 1931, and separated in April, 1950.

Tornado's Friday Foe Only in Second Year Of Varsity Grid Play

David Douglas High school, which has football rivalry this Friday night with Medford's Black Tornado here, is still a young school, having operated for only three years.

As the Scots enter the fourth year of school history, they engage for their second season in varsity competition. David Douglas is a member of the Metropolitan league for A-1 schools, one of the toughest circuits in the state.

The school is on 130th ave. between Stark and Division streets about two miles east of the Portland city limits. It is named after the famed Scottish botanist who discovered and classified the botanical treasures of the Northwest. It draws students from three grade school districts, Russellville, Powellhurst and Gilbert. This year it has a senior class for the second time. Enrollment is about 1650 students.

Shasta Ski Lift Work Delayed

Mt. Shasta, Calif.—A decision to delay opening of Mt. Shasta ski lift until next year has been passed as "a sensible step."

Charles Dwyer of Denver, representative of Heron Engineering corporation, which is installing the lift, told directors of the Mount Shasta Ski bowl that "you'll be glad next year that you waited."

"Skiers and sightseers are going to form their impression of the project on their first visit," Dwyer said. "If things are not completed, their impression may be a bad one, and you may have to wait four or five years to overcome it."

The lift project has been plagued by troubles, most of them due to delays in road construction which, in turn, have slowed up work on other phases of the job.

However, work will go ahead on the project until snow time, then will be resumed in the spring. Dwyer said any attempts to complete the job this fall would not be worth the extra cost.
