

Braves To Open Series on Yank Home Grounds Sun To Greet Baseball Fans at First Game

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
New York — Milwaukee manager Fred Haney adopted Casey Stengel's favorite weapon—the platoon system—today, revealing he will alternate his right fielders and possibly his first basemen against the New York Yankees in the World Series.

Thus, with southpaw Whitey Ford slated to start for the Yankees in the series opener at Yankee Stadium Wednesday against left-hander Warren Spahn, Haney said right-handed hitting Andy Pafko will be in right field and Joe Adcock, another right-handed hitter, at first base.

"When the Yankees pitch a right hander," Haney added, "I'll have Bob Hazle in right field and maybe Frank Torre at first base."

Haney said that in Wednesday's game his outfield would consist of Hank Aaron in center, Wes Covington in left and Pafko in right. Adcock will hold down first base; Red Schoendienst, second; Johnny Logan, shortstop; Eddie Matthews, third base; and Del Crandall will start behind the plate.

The probable lineups and batting order for the first game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium Wednesday:

MILWAUKEE	NEW YORK
Schoendienst, 2B	Bauer, RF
Logan, SS	McDougal, SS
Mathews, 3B	Mantle, CF
Aaron, CF	Berra, C
Adcock, 1B	Skowron, 1B
Pafko, RF	Howard, 1B
Covington, LF	Kubek or Richardson, IF
Crandall, C	Carey, 2B
Spahn, P 21-11	Coleman or Ford, P 11-5

Umpires — Paparella (AL), Plate; Conlan (NL), 1B; McKinley (AL), 2B; Donatelli (NL), 3B; Foul line—Chylak (AL) and Secory (NL).

New York — Good fall weather is the advance forecast for Wednesday's opening game of the World Series. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted "Mostly fair with seasonable temperatures."

Baseball Head Becomes Target Of Washington

Washington — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick was revealed today as the target of broad new accusations filed with a congressional committee by a director of the Washington baseball club.

The accuser, C. Leo DeOrsey, charged Frick with permitting "continued abuses" of baseball's waiver and draft rules and shaking "the fan's" confidence in the integrity of the game" by publicly making "unfair, unfortunate, and completely unwarranted reflections upon the great American game and the men who have made it so."

The newest chapter in the Frick-DeOrsey feud was unfolded in a supplementary statement filed by DeOrsey with the House Judiciary Subcommittee after he and Frick testified at public hearings this summer on sports anti-trust legislation. The statement, part of the subcommittee's hearing record, came to light today.

The feud originated last March when DeOrsey labeled baseball a big business and proposed a major overhaul in the set-up of the game, including big league representation for Los Angeles and San Francisco. At the time, Frick chided DeOrsey as a "comparative newcomer who professes to know all the cures for baseball's ills."

Hazle and Torre are left-handed hitters. Casey Still Undecided

While Haney appeared certain as to who would start for his Braves at every position Wednesday, Stengel still had not made up his mind about three spots—first base, second base and left field.

Husky Bill Skowron, the slugging first baseman who has been sidelined two weeks with a sacroiliac condition, was the key man in Stengel's indecision.

"I still don't know whether he'll be able to play," Casey said. "And if he can't, I'm in real trouble."

"If Skowron can play, it will help me make up my mind who I will start in left field and at second base."

Skowron and Mickey Mantle who has been sidelined by shin-splints in his left leg, both indicated they were ready to play in Wednesday's opener although each explained he wasn't 100 per cent sound.

Howard May Start

Skowron seemed the more doubtful starter of the two and in the event his back prevents him from playing, Stengel probably will use the right-handed hitting Elston Howard at first base. That would mean either rookie Tony Kubek or Enos Slaughter would be in left, and either Gerry Coleman or Bobby Richardson at second.

Stengel had no doubt at all as to the other positions. He said Yogi Berra would catch Wednesday, Hank Bauer would be in right field, Gil McDougal at shortstop and Andy Carey at third base.

Considering his Braves are the underdogs in the Series, Haney was in an expansive confident mood as he arrived here by plane from Milwaukee with his team late Monday.

"I know we have a battle on our hands," he said. "But I don't see any reason why we can't win it."

Avalanches Not Serious Threat To Shasta Lift

Mount Shasta, Calif.—Avalanches will not be a serious threat to the Mt. Shasta ski lift, according to the U.S. Forest Service's top expert on the subject.

He is Monte Atwater, now a technical supervisor for the 1960 Olympic Games at Squaw Valley. Atwater inspected the lift this week at the request of ski bowl directors.

He said any threat to the lift's structure could be corrected by removing potential dangers in their early stages. Atwater offered to help with this using recoilless rifles and other devices which have been found useful for this purpose. He has studied avalanches in all parts of the world.

Meantime, work is being speeded on the lower lift, as well as on the 14 miles of highway to Panther meadows where the lift starts, and on the 300 car parking lot being built there.

Bids also are to be opened soon on a $160,000 lodge at Panther meadows. Foundations for the building are scheduled to go in this fall.

DeCola, Archer Rematched for TV November Fight

New York — Promoter Teddy Brenner rematched welterweights Jimmy Archer and Tony DeCola today for another TV 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena, Nov. 11, because of Monday night's close thriller.

Stocky Archer, a slugging stevedore from New York's Pier 96, swept the last four rounds to come from behind and win a split decision over DeCola, "runner" for a Brooklyn steamship company.

The defeat broke Tony's victory string at six bouts. Jimmy weighed 145 1/2 pounds to DeCola's 147.

Cubs Keep '57 Manager, Bragan to Pilot Indians

By UNITED PRESS
Bob Scheffing and Bobby Bragan, with brand new managerial contracts under lock and key, know what they want next.

Scheffing, who was re-hired Monday to manage the Chicago Cubs in 1958, wants to get a new center-fielder. Bragan, who arrived in New York Monday to sign as the new pilot of the Cleveland Indians, wants more pitching strength.

The Cubs gave Scheffing a new contract on the basis of the Cubs' last finish this year—a record of 29 wins and 27 losses in the last two months of the season.

The 42-year-old former big league catcher was praised by Cubs' Vice-President John Holland for his work with young players.

Birmingham, Ala.—Eddie Stanky, coach of the Cleveland Indians during the past season, says he would be "tickled to death" if new Indians' Manager

Oregon State Only PCC Team Listed Among Best

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

New York — Oregon State's Big Ten powerhouse moved up to a challenging position behind first-place Oklahoma in the United Press college football ratings today, and Iowa and Auburn advanced among the top 10 teams.

While Oklahoma was idle, Michigan State opened its season with a crushing 54-0 victory over Indiana and jumped two places to second. In points, coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans clipped Oklahoma's margin of last week from 130 to 62. The Sooners had 338 out of a possible 350 points to Michigan State's 276.

Big Ten Dominates

The 35 coaches who make up the United Press rating board placed four Big Ten teams among this week's top 10. Besides Michigan State, there was Minnesota in third place, Iowa in seventh and Michigan in eighth.

Texas A&M, Oregon State and Navy occupied the fourth through seventh rankings, and Duke and Auburn were ninth and 10th. Auburn, 7-0 upset winner over Tennessee, made the biggest advance of the week, vaulting all the way from a tie for 26th place.

Produce Top Players Major Aim Of Ranch Planned By Kramer

BY HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer

San Francisco — Tennis professionals Jack Kramer and John Gardiner are going into partnership with football coach Frankie Albert to invest a quarter of a million dollars in a new-fangled "tennis ranch" to open next spring in Carmel Valley, 125 miles south of San Francisco.

The angle: To produce more and better tennis players for the U.S. in international competition in the years to come.

"We are planning this layout to give youngsters with an inclination of play tennis an intensive five weeks of instruction during the summer months," said Gardiner, currently head pro at the Pebble Beach Tennis Club.

"Also, it will give Kramer a base to carry out his teaching ideas. Right now it looks as though he'll not only have to be a promoter, but a teacher."

The ranch will have a dormitory where the young prospects will be housed during the instruction period and instructors will include some of the nation's top professionals from the Kramer tour, including Kramer himself.

"We expect to spend about $225,000 on this investment," says Gardiner, "and we hope to be open for business in March."

In addition to the dormitory for the young players, the layout will have five courts for daytime tennis only.

Also, there will be 16 guest cottages for older persons interested in playing tennis, plus two swimming pools.

Gardiner hopes the idea will spread around the country, because he believes it would give the game of tennis a great shot in the arm.

"I believe this is the first 'tennis ranch' ever developed," he said. "We think there is a great need for this kind of instruction and development of the younger players if we are going to be able to meet the Australian players and others on an equal basis."

"We will have an instructor for every four young players present, so it would mean a lot of personal attention for each lad in our care."

There are many exclusive beach and tennis clubs in the country, such as those in New York, Florida and California, but they mostly are very expensive organizations and too costly for the average young player to join.

"This should open the gates for many young prospects who in the past couldn't afford to belong to an exclusive club, or just partial instruction on public courts," said Gardiner.

Del Flanagan Favored To Beat Yama

New York — Middleweight contender Del Flanagan is favored at 7-5 to beat Yama Bahama at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night in what appears the most attractive fight on this week's schedule.

It will be televised by ABC. Flanagan of St. Paul, Minn., ninth ranking contender, is favored over West Indian Yama because of his greater experience in 101 fights and because of his cagey style. Unranked Yama has had 53 bouts.

Friday night's TV-radio NBC bout brings together lightweight contender Johnny Busso of New York and Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams of Washington, D. C., at the New Capitol arena in Washington. Unranked Williams was unbeaten in his last six fights, but his opponents lacked Busso's class. Johnny is favored at 3-1.

The week's boxing includes: Tuesday—Toledo, O. — Bert Whitehurst vs. Bob Satterfield and Jimmy Martinez vs. Johnny Neal; Boston—Billy Ryan vs. Phil Rizzo; Richmond, Calif.—Bobby Scanlon vs. Leo Aguiros; Manila, P.I.—Al Asuncion vs. Leo Espinosa; Sacramento, Calif.—Joey Lopes vs. Kid Castro.

Wednesday — Chicago stadium—Del Flanagan vs. Yama Bahama.

Thursday — Revere, Mass.—Rudolph Bent vs. Ted Wright.

Friday — Washington, D.C.—Johnny Busso vs. Ernie Williams.

Saturday — Johannesburg, S. A.—Mike Holt vs. Tommy Dupreez; Hollywood, Calif.—Lauro Salas vs. Julian Valasquez.

REDSKINS SIGN SHULA

Washington — The Washington Redskins have signed Don Shula, a defensive halfback who was released recently by the Baltimore Colts. Shula, a veteran of the National Football league, served as Baltimore's team captain for three years.
