Outbreak of Flu Spreads Westward; Omaha Feels Grip

By UNITED PRESS
The nation's flu outbreak, which has infected more than one million Americans so far, spread westward into Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa.

In the East, epidemic stricken New York reported one flu suspected death Thursday to bring that city's total of such deaths to nine since the beginning of the month.

1200 Absent at Omaha
The latest outbreak of the ailment was at Omaha where 1,200 public high school children were absent with flu-like illnesses Thursday.

Health Director Dr. Edwin Lyman of Omaha said he "wouldn't be surprised if some of the illness is Asian flu." He said it would take two or three weeks to make a definite diagnosis.

A flare-up of flu cases at Olathe, Kan., Naval Air Station forced cancellation of today's scheduled annual military inspection of the Navy-Marine Aerial Squadron. Fifty-seven servicemen at the base were down with the flu.

"There's little doubt it's Asian flu," said Capt. Carroll Hunagat, senior medical officer at the base.

School Closes Doors
The Marion Independent school in suburban Cedar Rapids, Iowa, closed its doors today when 107 of its 461 pupils came down with the flu.

New York's Department of Hospitals reported another increase in the number of upper respiratory infections with 5,192 by midnight Wednesday as compared with 4,721 during the previous 24 hours. That brought the total since Sept. 27 to 47,803.

Portland Youth Cut In Unprovoked Attack

Newman was riding in a car with another boy when they were forced to the curb by another auto. Two youths, about 18, got out and assaulted Newman without reason, police said.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—ELEVEN

Benson Target Of Egg Throwers

Sioux Falls, S.D.—Gov. Joe Foss has demanded full prosecution of a band of embittered farmers who pelted Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson with eggs.

Benson barely escaped being hit by a half-dozen eggs which showered on the platform Thursday as he made a speech demanding repeal of federal price support floors on corn and other major crops.

One splattered over his hat and another smeared Foss' suit. Benson was addressing about 7,500 farmers who had gathered for the National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest which begins today. Ten cornbelt states are entered in the "World's Fair of Agriculture."

Despite the shelling from the group, Benson went on to finish his speech while state troopers picked their way through the crowd and nabbed five men who admitted throwing the eggs.

Later, he said, "It's nothing—let's forget about it."

Foss apparently didn't intend to forget about it and made it known he intended to have the men prosecuted. "The next time they might throw bricks," he said.

Stocks Rally Smartly

New York—Stocks rallied smartly from their lows today after plumbing new depths for 31 months.

Volume increased to a new high since Sept. 27, 1955, the second day of the Eisenhower heart attack market.

Reports of a successful launching of a guided missile believed to be the Thor which Douglas Aircraft holds the prime contract, set off the recovery.

Aircrafts spurred from their lows and most of them showed gains. Other sections rose from their lows and were no worse than irregular late in the day.
