

Two Events Planned This Week By Public Health Association

Dr. J. McAllister, staff physician of the Oregon Tuberculosis hospital, will be the featured speaker at the bi-monthly meeting of Jackson County Public Health Association, Friday, October 18 at 1:30 p.m., at the new Red Cross building.

Dr. McAllister will show slides and lecture on the procedure followed at the tuberculosis hospital. He will stress not only the treatment given the tuberculosis patient, but the psychological help and rehabilitation offered. This help enables the cured patient to resume his place in the community with less difficulty than was formerly experienced, it is said.

All those interested in hospital procedure and rehabilitation are invited to attend, as well as those who have had personal experience with tuberculosis. The public at large is also asked to attend, as Dr. McAllister is a recognized expert in his field.

A coffee hour will follow the lecture, giving those attending a chance to meet Dr. McAllister.

The annual Christmas seal luncheon will take place Wednesday, October 16 at 12:30 p.m. in the new Red Cross building on Hawthorne street in Medford.

This luncheon, given for the county Christmas seal chairman, opens the drive for the Christmas seal sale each year. The luncheon is given by the Jackson County Public Health Association, the sponsoring organization of the Christmas seals.

County chairmen this year are Mesdames Robert Elliott, Medford; Marvin Kocks, Ashland; E. G. Taylor, Talent; Mona Fern, Phoenix; John Keavney, Jacksonville; Ted Hoffman, Eagle Point; Bruce Pingle, Butte Falls; Marcus Dey, Prospect; Richard Bartuss, Shady Cove; Lloyd Dusenberry, Gold Hill; Stanley Parrish, Central Point and Phil Engle, Rogue River.

Mrs. Allan Perry is the county chairman and she will instruct the various chairmen in procedures and present them with the necessary kits to start the campaign.

Four Reporters To Be Honored

Four women who have contributed news to the women's department of the Mail Tribune during the past year will be introduced and cited for their work during the annual reporter's class of the department this week. The class will be held Wednesday, October 16, at 2:30 p.m. in Girls Community club.

Staff members will explain the preparation of copy and speak of picture policies. A question period will follow, and the afternoon will close with a tea. All persons serving as reporters for organizations submitting material to the Mail Tribune are invited to attend.

During the tea Miss Alta Lindsey of the Mail Tribune business staff, and Mrs. John Ousterhout will pour. Mrs. Harry Chipman, wife of the newspaper's wire editor, will assist.

Republican Club To Hear Speaker From Coos Bay

WAC Group Wins Battle of Bulge; Officers Pleased

By JOHN ZIMMERMAN
United Press Correspondent
Camp Kishine, Japan — A Yokohama WAC detachment won the "battle of the bulge."

Both official and unofficial judges agreed all their curves were in the right places.

Whether any of the WACs, on advice of superior officials, had used falsies and girdles to pass the critical "shape up" inspection was naturally a military secret.

As far as the unofficial observers — a small army of eager newsmen and photographers — were concerned, it was impossible to tell where nature left off and padding began.

The official observers were pleased, too.

"They're a credit to the army," said Lt. Col. Frederick G. Ward, the well-upholstered post commander, who wore a brand-new green uniform for the occasion.

"A Little More Work"

Even Lt. Jeanne Wolcott, the detachment commander who issued the push-out, pull-in orders, grudgingly agreed after passing up and down the ranks of the WACs in their greyish-tan winter uniforms with the peter pan collars.

"A few need a little more work," said the attractive, shapely ex-recruiting sergeant from Kent, Ohio, "but the girls look better."

However, she said some of the girls would have to give nature an assist. "I send them to a doctor and he places them on a diet," she said.

Reason For 'Shapeup'

After the inspection, Lt. Wolcott explained the reasons for her "shape up" orders to newsmen.

"Give me a man who is a man and a woman should be a woman," she said, casting a critical eye on the reporters and photographers.

"We are built differently," she said, and the press corps nodded agreement. "So we have to go to extreme pains to make our uniforms fit."

She admitted it was a touchy subject. She noted that she could not order any of the WACs to "get the necessary padding because they are not regulation issue."

But observers agreed that regulation or not, Lt. Wolcott won her "Battle of the bulge."

Miss Anita Reed, Dewey Henderson, To Wed Saturday

Shady Cove — Miss Anita Reed left today for California where her wedding to Dewey L. Henderson will take place Saturday, October 19. Miss Reed is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Reed, Shady Cove.

Miss Reed and Mr. Henderson will be married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Stanley Henderson, in Norwalk. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Messenger, Reed Springs, Mo., and Glen Henderson, also of Reed Springs.

The newlyweds will live in San Diego, where the bridegroom is assigned to duty with the United States Navy as a gunner's mate third class.

Conference Set By Press Women

Albany, Ore. — The seventh annual fall conference of Oregon Press Women will be held here October 26-27 with a program by men and women of achievement in the fields of news and creative writing, radio and advertising.

The program, with Sen. Richard L. Neuberger D-Ore. as speaker, was arranged by OPW president, Miss Lanthe Smith, and the secretary, Mrs. Maryan Howard Roe, both of Albany.

Registration will be at 9 a.m. October 26 in the Albany hotel.

Regal Pear Salad

For Regal Pear salad use 6 pears, 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, 1 14-ounce can crushed pineapple, maraschino cherries and salad greens. Wash ripe pears, cut into eight sections, being careful not to cut all the way through the stem end. Remove core. A pear slicer is ideal for cutting in this manner. Softer cream cheese with some juice from pineapple. Fill core cavity of pear with cheese mixture; press sections of pear together again. Top with sprig of green and cherry. Serve with dressing if desired. Serves 6.

Zonta Delegates Present Reports; Events Announced

At a meeting last Thursday Zonta club members heard reports of the District VIII annual conference of Zonta International held October 3-5 in Coos Bay. District VIII includes 26 clubs of the northwest, including Canada. About 100 delegates and members were registered. Mrs. Jean Fish, Miss Josephine Kirtley and Mrs. Ilean Grigsby represented the Medford club and gave the reports.

Mrs. Gladys Puckett, Spokane, district governor, presided at the meetings and discussed district activities and plans. Mrs. Emma Conlon, Paterson, N.J., who is president of Zonta International, attended and brought a message from the international organization.

One of the outstanding reports, Mrs. Grigsby said, was the one given by Dr. Helen Pearce of Salem on the Amelia Earhart scholarships for women for graduate study in aeronautical engineering. Three scholarships of $1800 each were awarded this year by Zonta International.

Mrs. Fish, in addition to reporting on business conducted at the convention described the "Hat Luncheon" at which each member wore a hat depicting her classification.

Miss Kirtley told of the project of the Boise, Idaho, club which is organization of a Golden Z club in a junior college. Golden Z is a service club patterned after Zonta clubs.

Mrs. Eleanor (E.F.) Bolt, a new member, was introduced at the Thursday lunch. Mrs. Bolt is owner of Homestead on the Rogue.

The Medford club voted to give a donation to Medford Council of Church Women to aid in the shipping of clothing overseas. A booth at the Safety Fair in November will be sponsored by the local club and a rummage sale will be held October 15.
