

Yankees Planning to Rebuild In Effort to Produce Winner

New York — Casey Stengel, just about ready to call it a season, prepared to head back home to California today after assuring one and all the Yankees will be better than ever next year because of a promising group of farm hands.

Stengel named 10 newcomers whom he felt could help him regain the world championship at his final press conference of the campaign Monday.

He mentioned catcher John Blanchard, pitchers Mark Freeman and Ryne Duren, first baseman Marv Throneberry, outfielder Norm Siebern and infielder Fritz Brickell from Denver in the American Assn.; pitcher Jim Coates, infielder Dick Sanders and first baseman John Jaciuk of Richmond in the International league; and outfielder Deron Johnson of Binghamton in the Eastern league.

"This club hasn't gone to the woods," Stengel insisted. "Don't let anyone try to tell you that this ship has sunk."

The two players regarded to have the best chance of making the Yankees next year are Siebern, who was with the club during part of the 1956 season, and Duren, who had a 13-2 record with 116 strikeouts at Denver.

"We had to send Siebern back to the minors because he needed more experience, but his work in the Association was sensational," the Yankee manager said. "He has the stuff to win the left field job."

Siebern batted .349 and hit 24 homers with Denver.

Regarding Duren, Stengel said the bespectacled right-hander throws as hard as Bob Turley.

Among the other conversational items Stengel offered were these:

He is looking for standbys for both Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron.

He would have "definitely" Braves in the World Series had the 40-year-old veteran been eligible.

And no one on the Yankees can be considered trade bait until the spring.

"Until I see 'em all in spring training," Casey concluded, "none of 'em are trading material."

Cleveland Rumors Fly Over Greenberg Status

Cleveland — General Manager Hank Greenberg, whose status with the Cleveland Indians is considered precarious, will learn within a few days whether he will keep or lose his job.

Greenberg's future with the Indians will be decided at a board of directors' meeting that probably will be held later this week.

Board Chairman William R. Daley said the meeting is being called for "a general discussion about what will be done or can be done to improve the welfare of the team, and while I don't want to pinpoint it as a Greenberg meeting, I am sure his status will be discussed."

Cleveland's board of directors is composed of 13 men, including Greenberg, who is reported to control about 20 per cent of the club's stock.

The Cleveland News quoted unidentified directors as saying they will vote against renewal of Greenberg's contract if the matter comes up.

Black Tornado Jayvee Grid Club Edges Crater 6 to 0

Medford high junior varsity footballers topped Crater 6 to 0 last night.

A three-yard off-tackle slant by pile-driving Don Cranston got the score. A fumble ruined the extra point effort.

The touchdown came in the second quarter when Medford went deep into Crater territory on a 35-yard pass play, Calvin

Dean to Ken Durkee. That put the ball on the 15-yard stripe.

Medford also threatened in the first quarter. A fumble recovery was responsible for the bid but Crater held for downs on the two-yard line.

See-Saw Half

The second half was a see-saw battle with neither club reaching the shadows of the rival goal posts. The Comets made it to the Tornado 29 after the halftime kick-off but fumbled away the chance. Medford got to the Comet 34 before punting on fourth down. Crater then fought from its 15 up to the Medford 46 before being stopped on downs.

Bob Eckel of Medford recovered two Crater muffs in the second half. Medford's most consistent gains were up the middle with Cranston lugging the leather.

While the junior Tornado stayed on the ground during the latter stages of the game, the Comets took to the air on six of their plays during their last three turns with the ball. Dennis Pfaff completed three for 21 yards. His passes on a couple of occasions were bright in receivers' hands and were dropped.

It was Eddie's first defeat in 14 professional bouts.

Armstrong weighed 153½ pounds to Thompson's 156¾.

Armstrong Downs Sandy in NY Bout, Stays Unbeaten

New York — Middleweight Gene (Ace) Armstrong, a stacker in a gin distillery at Elizabeth, N.J., was in excellent spirits today because his 12th straight professional victory has assured a future fight with ex-contender Randy Sandy.

Unbeaten Gene scored a technical knockout over Eddie (Machine Gun) Thompson of New York in their TV fight at St. Nicholas arena, Monday night. Referee Pete Scalzo stopped it at the end of the seventh round because Thompson was bleeding badly from his left brow and his nose.

It was Eddie's first defeat in 14 professional bouts.

Armstrong weighed 153½ pounds to Thompson's 156¾.

Cubs Sign Lou Klein As Farm Team Head

Chicago — The Chicago Cubs signed Lou Klein as manager of their Fort Worth farm club.

The Cubs also signed former National league umpire Lee Ballanfant as a scout in Texas.

Klein has been a manager in the Cub chain since 1955. Last year he managed Memphis of the Southern association and finished second.

Globetrotters Here on Jan. 17

The Harlem Globetrotters, world famous basketball team, will make its annual appearance here at Hedrick Junior high school gym on Friday night, Jan. 17, it was announced by Harry Chipman, who will sponsor the event.

A halftime variety show, which will feature some of the nation's top nightclub acts, will accompany the Globetrotters, Chipman said.

Beavers to Open 1957 Hoop Drills

Corvallis — Twenty-one candidates turned out for practice today as Coach Slat Gilly started his 30th season as head basketball coach at Oregon State.

Heading the list was Dave Gambee, senior from Corvallis who led the PCC in scoring last year with 333 points. Seven other letter winners also are back including Ken Nanson, Gary Haynes, Wayne Moss, Jim Anderson, Ted Miller, Gary Goble and Lee Harmon.

OSC opens its season Dec. 3 with a non-conference game at Eugene against Oregon.

Staters to Face UCLA Saturday

Corvallis — Oregon State mentor Tommy Prothro said Monday that wingback Earnel Durden and tackle Ted Bates, the only Beavers injured in Saturday's game with stubborn Idaho, would probably be ready for the UCLA game this Saturday.

Meanwhile, Prothro continued to ready his undefeated Beavers for the third encounter with the Bruins since he became head man in Corvallis.

USA Girls' Team Moves in Tourney

Rio de Janeiro — The United States team, runaway winners of its first two games, plays Czechoslovakia tonight in the third round of the Women's World Basketball championship.

The Americans, paced by Nera White's 22 points, breezed to an easy 64-39 victory over Argentina Monday night.

Russia edged Paraguay, 35-33; Hungary swamped Cuba, 86-46; and Czechoslovakia whipped Peru, 86-28, in other second-round games.

HARD TO CATCH

London — Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina was presented with the "Driver of the Year" Trophy Monday during ceremonies at the Royal Automobile Club. Fangio won his fifth world championship this year.

Phil Moyer Faces Tough Opponent Here Next Saturday Night

ROY RAY Sports 11 Victories

Phil Moyer will have his work cut out for himself when he steps into the ring with Roy Ray at Hedrick junior high gym in Medford next Saturday night.

Ray, a San Francisco middleweight, is a veteran of 22 fights against some of the country's best 160-pounders. He started boxing in 1951 and took three years out to serve a hitch in the U. S. Navy, where he was physical education instructor.

He has chalked up 11 victories, five by knockouts; has lost seven and had four draws. Among his opponents have been Bobby Jones, Garth Panter, Cliff Schellin, Joey Giambra, Al Andrews, Billy Lanza and Willie Vaughn. His latest effort was a four-round knockout of Red Lite at Richmond, Calif., on Oct. 4.

hook. He is said to be a tough, aggressive fighter who doesn't give his opponent a chance to catch his breath. Ray, who was born in Tuscarora, Ala., on Dec. 5, 1934, is trained and managed by Mario Musati and Billy Newman in San Francisco.

Moyer, on the other hands, has had only four professional fights, winning them all. He has a long string of amateur successes, being one of the northwest's best known simon-pures before joining the pro ranks.

Moyer has been signed to box a main event at Hollywood Legion stadium next month if he can get over Ray.

Flammond vs. Milne

Promoter Harry Chipman will present four other matches. The six-round semi-windup will send LeRoy Flammond against Bob Milne in a scrap which promises to rival the main event for thrills.

The top four-round will send Kenny Dixon of Klamath Falls against Jack Raxter of Portland. Johnny Davis, Ashland, will meet Ruggles Larson of Seattle and an opponent is yet to be signed to meet Hugh Williams of Portland.

Tickets are on sale at Lamport's in Medford and the Greyhound Tavern in Ashland.

Top Golfers 'Teed Off' At Cuppers

San Francisco — Two of America's greatest golfers teed off on the method of choosing the Ryder Cup team Monday night, declaring they could "pick a better team with our eyes shut."

Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead en route to Tokyo to represent the United States in the International Trophy matches, said the recent U. S. team which suffered defeat at the hands of the British for the first time in almost a quarter century was "poorly selected."

Both Snead and Demaret criticized the PGA method of selecting the Ryder Cup team. As an example, Snead pointed out the fact that "Ted Kroll made the team twice although he hadn't won a tournament."

"How could they send abroad a team which left off Snead and Cary Middlecoff, two of our top players?" asked Demaret, who also failed to make the team.

Sid Flaherty Removed From Cal Black List, Plans SF Fight Soon

San Francisco — Sid Flaherty was back in good standing today as a manager in California amid speculation that Eddie Machen, his top-ranked heavyweight contender, will fight Hurricane Jackson here on Nov. 13.

Dr. Dan O. Kilroy, chairman of the California State Athletic commission which was revamped last year after a state probe into the fight game, disclosed Monday that Flaherty was granted a new license when it was established that he no longer would break the rules.

"The commission received a wire over the week end from the International Boxing club stating that Flaherty no longer has business connection with the IBC as a promoter," Kilroy said. "It was a clean bill of health. I don't see how boxing in California can be otherwise than helped now that Flaherty has a license to manage here again."

The chilly-eyed Irishman blandly told a state committee in April of 1956 that he was breaking such state rules as doubling as promoter and manager and filling some cards with more of his fighters than the law allows. Committee Counsel James E. Cox recommended that Flaherty be heavily fined but the commission did not have the power to levy one at that time.

Flaherty then moved his stable to his ranch near Brownsville, Ore., and failed to apply for a California license until last Wednesday when the commission took his bid under advisement. In the meantime, Flaherty had concentrated most of his bouts in Portland, Ore., with several nationally televised shows from other parts of the country involving Machen.

"Either I am an able manager and clean or I don't want to operate in the state," Flaherty declared before the commission last Wednesday.

Monday he told the United Press in Brownsville that he would operate in California "when the opportunity presents itself," but would retain his headquarters in Brownsville.

The talk along fight row is that Machen will meet Jackson at the Cow Palace Nov. 13 although matchmaker Bennie Ford said he didn't know who the boxer would face.

Jackman was stopped by Floyd Patterson this summer in the 10th round of a world title bout in New York and then taken to the hospital for observation.
