New Lumber Exchange Has Brisk Business

Portland — A new institution in the financial world, the National Lumber Exchange, went into operation here Monday and reported a healthy first day of business.

The clearing house where lumber may be sold and bought by the carload just as cotton and wheat transactions are handled in the commodity exhanges of Chicago has 152 member mills in Oregon, California, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and British Columbia.

During the first day's operation, 90 to 100 cars passed through the exchange. Fred C. Talbot, chairman of the board, said it was a heavier business load than had been expected.

Brownsville, Tex. —(AP)— Guillermo Treuo, called for jury duty because he has property listed under his name on county tax rolls, was excused when he reported for duty Monday. He is six years old.

Stocks Bounce Around As Tickers Run Late

New York — (AP) — Stocks bounced around today with the tickers late most of the session.

An irregularly lower opening preceded a substantial rally. Later prices turned down again with railroad issues holding better than other sections.

Extreme ticker lateness ran to seven minutes in the late dealings when prices were tending lower.

The morning rally reflected some bargain hunting and short covering. When these were out of the way, the selling carried prices down further.

Wall Street in the absence of definite market news paid attention to rumors. One of these told of a supposed uprising in Syria, an uprising that might eventually touch off a powder keg in that area. Despite the fact this report could not be confirmed it continued as a source of new unloading in the market.

The result was that the industrial average sank to a new low since May 19, 1955.

Shooting Accident, Girard Declares

Maebashi, Japan —(AP)— Army S3C William S. Girard took the stand at his trial for manslaughter today and swore his shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai was an accident.

Both the prosecution and defense rested their cases after the 22-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier testified on the events at the Camp Weir firing range last Jan. 30.

Chief Judge Yuzo Kawachi ordered the next session to be held Oct. 31. The prosecution is expected to deliver its summation then.

Girard's testimony contracted almost completely the testimony given by prosecution witnesses, including his former Army buddy, S3C Victor N. Nickel, of Inkster, Mich.

Girard was in the witness box for almost three hours under questioning by Kawachi and defense attorney Itsuro Hayashi. The prosecution did not cross-examine Girard, asking only that he demonstrate how to hold an M-1 rifle.

The 46-year-old Mrs. Sakai was fatally wounded by an empty cartridge fire from a rifle grenade launcher while salvaging scrap metal on the firing range in defiance of orders by both U. S. and Japanese authorities.

Blaze Destroys Storage Plant

MOSES LAKE, Wash. —(AP)— Only two walls of the Western Cold Storage plant here were standing today following a blaze firemen battled for nearly nine hours Monday.

Several firemen and two wagons remained at the scene throughout the night as tons of sawdust used as insulation in the two-foot walls continued to smolder.

Officials said that ammonia tanks located in the basement of the building still might explode although it was doubtful. Sandbags were placed around the tanks earlier in case of explosions.

The business district for three blocks around was cleared out Monday afternoon but firemen said stores may open for business today.

The west end of town was without telephone service when wires in the vicinity of the fire were burned.

An estimate of the damage to the contents of the building, which included the city's street Christmas decorations was set at $300,000. Officials said the estimate did not include the three-story structure itself.

Destruction included the warehouse, packing plans and frozen food lockers.

Detruction included the warehouse, packing plant and frozen food lockers. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Australia continues as the world's largest exporters of wool, exporting 1,165,000,000 pounds during 1956.

Land and royalty owners received $8,200,000,000 from the oil industry in 1956 in royalties, rentals and bonuses.
