

Political Scientist to Speak On Russia Tonight for Chapter

A woman who is writing a book on the subject of Russia and the United Nations will speak for tonight's meeting of Medford chapter, Oregon United Nations' association. She is Miss Irene Blumenthal, Russian born political scientist who is now on the faculty of the University of Oregon.

The meeting will be held in the annex of St. Mark's Episcopal church, which is entered through the arcade between the Guild hall and the annex. Meeting time is 8 p.m. and it will be followed by a social hour and serving of an anniversary cake.

Miss Blumenthal, who was speaker for Medford Rotary club this noon, was formerly a research associate of the Hoover Institute and Library, Stanford University. She holds degrees in law and political science from the University of Vienna and Stanford University and her special field of interest is international law and international relations, with emphasis on the Soviet union. She is working now on a manuscript for the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which involves research and interviews at the United Nations headquarters and the Department of State. Miss Blumenthal's appearance here tonight is part of the chapter's observance of United Nations' week. George Rode, chapter president, will preside. Members of the International Relations League of Medford High school will attend, and two young women will serve the anniversary cake.

Mrs. Harlan P. Bosworth Jr., program chairman for the chapter, arranged for Miss Blumenthal's appearance here. Anyone interested is invited to hear the speaker.

Chapter members will hold a business session beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Cape Cod Story And Biography On Club Program

"The Girl in the Blue Pinafore," was reviewed by Mrs. C. W. Mitchell at the last meeting of Wednesday Study club. The locale of the story is Cape Cod, Mass., and the author, Sara Ware Bassett, writes of a young woman, Lydia Freeman, who befriends a young itinerant artist. Liking the environment and subsisting by odd jobs, young Christopher Hird lingered on. Entering the kitchen one day, and seeing Lydia in a blue house dress, the sun light glistening on her golden hair and her hands in the biscuit dough, he was inspired to paint, "The Girl in the Blue Pinafore."

Mrs. Canode gave a biography of John Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, by Don Whitehead, "A Report to the People." The book, written with the cooperation of Mr. Hoover and FBI personnel, takes the reader behind the scenes into the files to reveal the record of America's crusade against crime and subversion."

John B. Lynch, 139 Kenwood avenue, was at Lewis and Clark college, Portland, last week for the annual Fathers' week end celebration at the college. He was a guest of his daughter, Miss Shirley Lynch, senior at the college.

Mr. Lynch's son, John, 8, and his father-in-law, John Gribble, accompanied him to Portland for the week end. They attended a college football game and other events planned for the visitors. Mr. Gribble attended a banquet of a Pioneer Pops' club, an organization into which he was initiated last year. This year he was the eldest man at the banquet.

En route home the men stopped at the University of Oregon campus to note the progress of a meta-sequoia tree which Mr. Gribble, retired forester, donated to the university several years ago. Only a few specimens of this historic-type tree are to be found in the world today.

Mothersingers Cancel Practice

Due to Teachers' Institute being held Wednesday, October 23, and "no school" for the children, the Mothersingers have cancelled practice which is scheduled for each Wednesday from 10 to 11 a.m. at the Hedrick cafeteria.

Mrs. LeRoy Jensen, Medford Council Mothersingers director, stated that the Mothersingers have been invited to sing at the Washington Parent-Teacher association meeting November 22. This will be the first program appearance of the Mothersingers this year, and if there are other mothers who like to sing, they are welcome to join the group at the next practice Wednesday, October 30.

Women's Control of Wealth Not Shown in Savings Bank

By VIVIAN SANDE
United Press Correspondent
New York, Oct. 22 — (AP)—Ladies, who much reported control of the nation's wealth does not show in savings accounts, according to a number of people—including women—in the banking industry.

"Although at least half of the savings accounts in this country belong to women, it's the men who have the impressive balances," said Hilda Hoffman, assistant secretary and statistician for the Bowery Savings Bank of New York.

She added, "In our bank, a man's average balance hovers near the $3,000 mark whereas many a working gal has just enough to keep a bank balance alive."

Handle, Not Own
"Women shouldn't be fooled by all the current talk about their controlling the economy. In spite of the fact that more and more women are handling money, it doesn't necessarily mean that they own it. Just because a woman carries her husband's shoes to the repairman doesn't mean they're hers... just that she has more time to take them there," said Miss Dorcas Campbell, assistant vice president of the East River Savings bank.

The American woman, the most analyzed woman in the world as a spender, now is being analyzed as a saver, and found weak in that department by some of them.

No comprehensive report produced by the banking industry is yet available on women's savings habits, through generally spokesmen for the industry agree they have changed, and for the better.

The following are some of the findings in studies on the subject made by the Union Dime Savings bank, the Bowery Savings bank, and the East River Savings bank, all of New York.

As more and more women have joined the labor force and stayed in it after marriage, more and more women open savings accounts in their own names. More and more people are saving with the idea of spending. Once they have accumulated the amount of money they want, they draw it out and start saving all over again.

Miss Hoffman of the Bowery Savings bank estimates one quarter of her bank's total accounts usually are in turnover.

Women make less use of bank services.

Miss Campbell of the East River Savings bank said women depositors in her bank buy fewer money orders and travelers checks, and are less apt to take advantage of "banking by mail," or "direct dividend deposit services" than men.

Women tend to make more use of special purpose plans like Christmas and vacation clubs which bring them no interest on their money.

There also is a growing tendency for married couples to open joint accounts.

The Union Dime Savings bank reports many young people now open joint accounts while they are still engaged. The East River Savings bank reports more and more men and women jointly save in the bank's new college club set up by this bank to help young parents provide for their children's education.

Foreign Student To Speak Friday For Church Group

Women's auxiliary of St. Mark's Episcopal church will hold its monthly luncheon meeting Friday, October 25 at 12:30 p.m. in the Parish house.

Program on Roses Given For Group

Phoenix—Mrs. Ward Spatz of Medford spoke on roses at the October meeting of Phoenix Garden club.

The speaker recommended fall as the best planting time and said the bushes should be fertilized in January. She urged gardeners to plant some of the newer roses, and reported that Peace is still the leading rose. Mrs. Spatz added that among the better and popular new roses are Euterpe's Gold, Capistrano, Queen Elizabeth, First Love, Floradora, Poinsettia, Confidence, Independence, Love Song and Tiffany.

The speaker warned that floribundas should not be pruned too severely, and that Peace should be lightly pruned, also. Mrs. Spatz, who has won a gold cup on a Vogue rose, explained how she raises roses for the American Rose society.

The club voted to purchase a book on roses recommended by her.

Mrs. A. C. Lewis and Mrs. D. E. Lewis were voted delegates to the district meeting to be held October 29, in Fruitdale Grange hall, Grants Pass.

The club will take charge of decorating at Camp White November 30.

Hostesses for the November meeting will be Mrs. L. O. Caster, Mrs. Tom Caster, Mrs. E. G. Coleman and Mrs. H. A. DuBuque.
