

Phoenix to Get Seals, Salt Lake Get Angels, Stars to Mexico City?

By HAL WOOD
 San Francisco — The ever-expanding West started to take on the "new look" today in the world of baseball.

The New York Giants are in San Francisco.

The Brooklyn Dodgers are moving to Los Angeles.

The San Francisco Seals will be moved to Phoenix, Ariz.

The Los Angeles Angels probably will wind up in Salt Lake City, Utah.

And where the Hollywood Stars go no one knows—maybe to Spokane, Wash., or 2,200 miles overseas to Honolulu, or even Mexico City.

There are many cities in the West big enough to support Triple-A baseball—all the fans need is the opportunity to watch the games.

This is an area of great distances. What's another 500 miles or so? The baseball magnates don't bat an eye if they can get the attendance to offset the traveling costs.

Honolulu Considered

So don't think the owners haven't been toying with the idea of Honolulu.

It already is about 1,700 miles from San Diego on the southern end of the league to Vancouver, B.C., in the north. And that arrangement worked out very well, financially, last year. In fact Vancouver, with the smallest park in the loop, drew the biggest attendance.

Who can say it wouldn't work the same way in Honolulu? Or Spokane, which also would be about 1,500 miles from San Diego.

So far the various shifts have disrupted the Pacific Coast league and the Arizona-Mexico Class C loop. Next will come the Class C Pioneer league. And indemnities will have to be paid all around. But it will prove worthwhile to one and all.

Phoenix, Salt Lake Promising

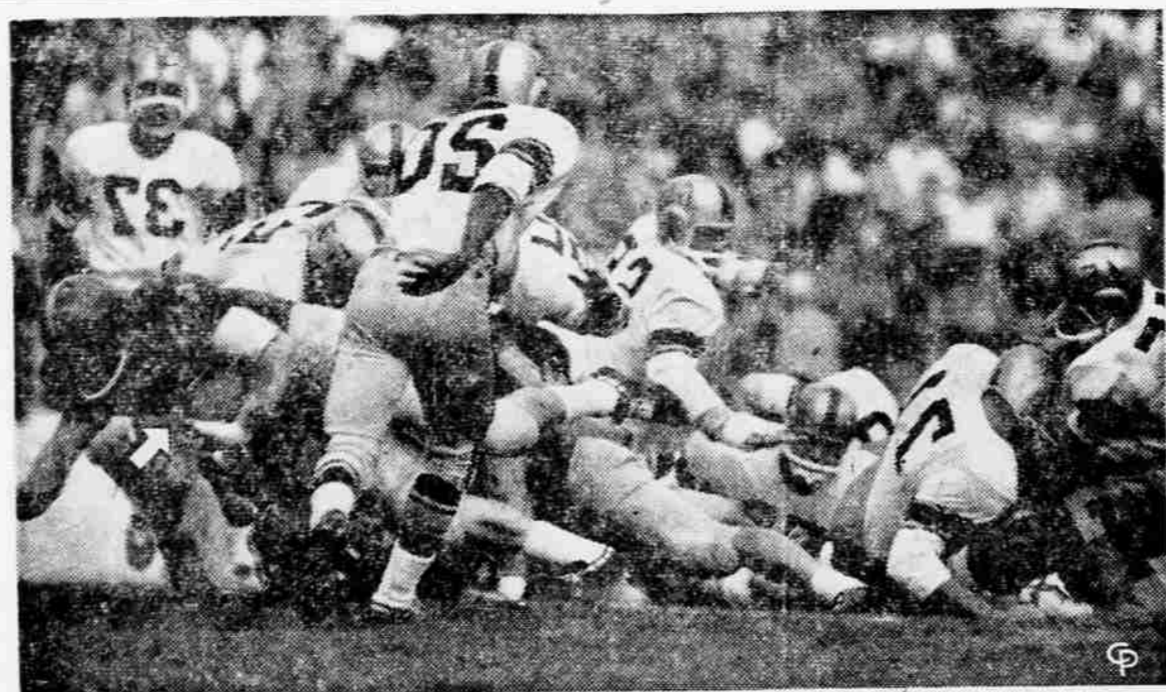

The Giants and the Dodgers will find a gold mine in San Francisco and Los Angeles; the PCL should do very well in Phoenix and Salt Lake City.

Phoenix, 15 years ago with a population of 67,000, today has 500,000 persons within a radius of 25 miles of the city center. Salt Lake City, with 150,000 in 1940, has about 250,000 now and nearly as many more in the trade area.

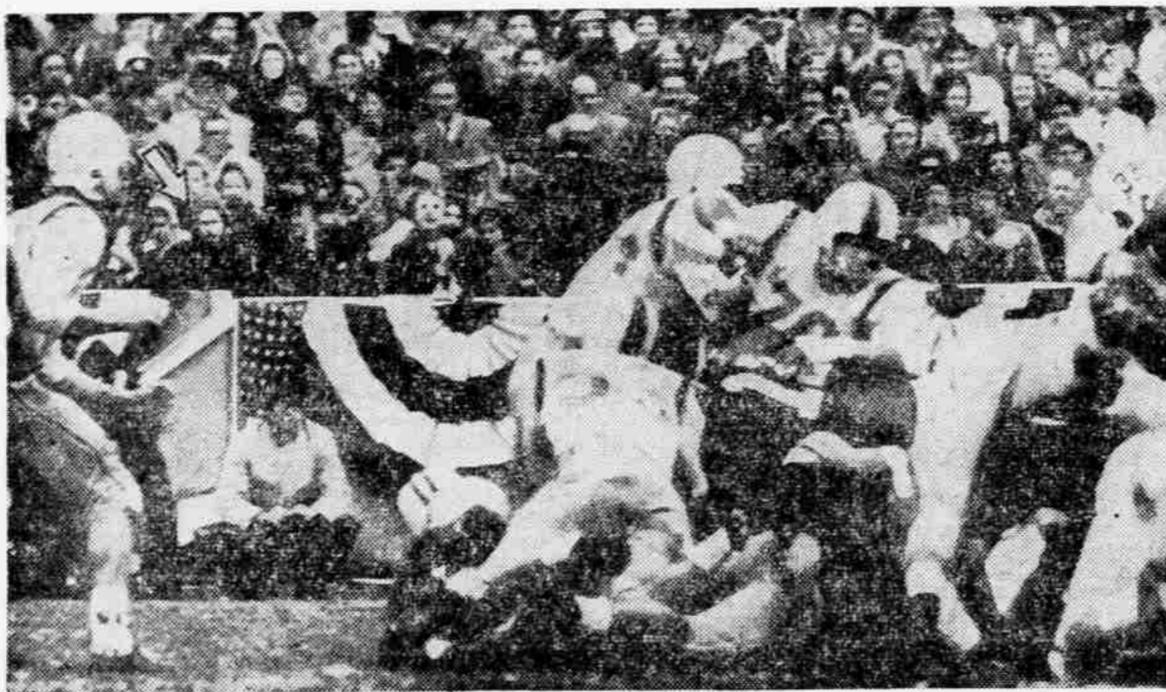

Spokane had 120,000 in 1940 and now has about 200,000, plus a populous trade region. Honolulu, 170,000 15 years ago, now has nearly 300,000.

The great realignment may result in the death of the Arizona-Mexico league. But the Pioneer league, in which Salt Lake City has operated, will readjust by moving the franchise north—possibly to Butte, Mont.

There are no franchises in organized baseball in Spokane and Honolulu.

Springfield Protest Upheld; Pirates Tied

Portland — Tom Pigott, secretary of the Oregon School Activities Association, upheld a Springfield protest today and ruled Friday night's Marshfield-Springfield football game a 0-0 tie.

The decision wiped out a 2-0 victory Marshfield of Coos Bay had taken home after the game ended. Game officials awarded Marshfield a two-point safety after a Springfield player, signaling for a fair catch of a Pirate punt, muffed the ball which rolled into the end zone where Springfield recovered. The officials ruled the ball was still alive and a safety for Marshfield resulted.

Impetus of Kicker

However, after reading reports of the game from the two schools and from the officials involved, Pigott said today it was apparent the impetus of the kicker which sent the ball into the end zone, and not a fumble on the part of the receiver. Therefore, Pigott said, the ball was dead and a touchback should have been called.

Marshfield had a 12 to 5 edge in first downs and 215 to 110 yards in net yardage which should go considerably in its favor if a committeeman vote should be required to determine the district representative in state play-offs.

Gridiron Ratings 'All Shook Up'; Upset Blamed

By FRANK LITSKY
 New York — The Oklahoma Sooners, whose second team may be better than the first, climbed back to the top today in the college football ratings of the United Press Board of Coaches.

After a week end of upsets which cut down four members of the top 10 and resulted in the biggest shuffle of the season, Oklahoma was rated first by 29 of the 35 leading coaches who make up the board. Michigan State, which dropped Oklahoma to second place last week for only the second time in two years, fell all the way to seventh place.

Michigan State, Minnesota, Oregon State and Arkansas suffered the major upsets and all but Michigan State fell from the top 10. Replacing the other beaten teams were Army, Mississippi and Ohio State.

Behind the Sooners in the latest ratings came five other unbeaten and untied teams, all surviving the upset wave to move up. Iowa advanced from fifth to second with 266 points; Texas A&M from fourth to third with 255; Duke from sixth to fourth with 228; idle Notre Dame from eighth to fifth with 159; and Auburn from 10th to sixth with 155.

Michigan State, a 20-13 victim of a Purdue team which hadn't won previously this fall, was seventh with 152 points. Then came the three newcomers—Army in eighth place with 64 points, Mississippi ninth with 62 and Ohio State 10th with 37.

Minnesota dropped from third to a 12th-place tie and Oregon State slipped from seventh to a tie for 19th. Arkansas, ninth last week, failed to receive even one point this time after absorbing a 17-0 drubbing from Texas.

Cold Blamed, Not Pigeons, In Bout Loss

New York — Welterweight Eddie Lynch, New York stevedore, blamed a cold in the head today rather than the absence of pigeons for his failure to win more impressively over substitute Yvon Turenne of Montreal in their TV 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Lynch, 149½ pounds, had to be content with a split decision over the awkwardly aggressive Montreal brick layer, 153½.

Seven special agents of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, five uniformed police and two patrol cars outside the arena made certain that Lynch's admirers from Pier 96 released no pigeons during the bout nor caused any near-riot—as they did at his last fight on Aug. 5.

"The pigeons had nothing to do with it," Lynch declared. "I got a bad cold in my head after the weigh-in. If I'd been in shape I'd of stopped Turenne."

Russo had won a split decision over Lynch in their semi-riotous bout at St. Nick's, Aug. 5. That was the night Lynch's followers released pigeons and caused such confusion that two spectators were hit by flying chairs and carted off to a hospital.

Beavers Humble About Upending By UCLA Club

Corvallis, Ore. — The Oregon State Beavers, home from Los Angeles and a 26-7 drubbing by UCLA, offered no excuses today for the loss to the Bruins.

"We were simply outplayed," Coach Tommy Prothro said. The Oregon State mentor said tackle George Enderle, tailback Joe Francis and end Dwayne Fournier suffered injuries in Saturday's game.

Other ailments were also reported but, with the possible exception of Enderle, Prothro said the squad should be at full strength for the tilt with Washington this week end.

Oregon Best on Coast Claims Bear's Elliott

San Francisco — University of Oregon "possibly" has the best football team on the Pacific Coast, Coach Pete Elliott of California said today, as he guided his California Golden Bears for the big Saturday clash at Eugene.

Riding the crest of a one-game winning streak, Elliott offered the possibility that his boys had played their best game of the year in beating USC after losing to Southern Methodist, Washington State, Michigan State and Navy.

"Oregon could be the best team on the coast," said the youthful mentor. "They have tremendous break-away speed. And this year they have a good defense. They beat UCLA 21-0 and they played the Bruins off their feet. And I think UCLA is better than most teams in the country."

What makes Elliott happy is the fact that his No. 1 quarterback, Joe Kapp, will be back in action for the Webfoots.

"They have the finest running backs in the West," he said. "But we have a good defense and our passing will be better with Kapp returning."

Oregon's Center Out for Season; Ducks Face Cal

Eugene, Ore. — University of Oregon center and co-captain Norm Chapman, who suffered a dislocated ankle in the game with Washington State Saturday, will probably be lost for the rest of the season.

Coach Len Casanova said that sophomore Bob Peterson would probably replace Chapman on the first team.

Casanova said the Ducks did a good job of defending Washington State last Saturday but added that the squad needed a lot of work before facing California here this week end.

Washington To Stay Put, For A While

Washington — The Washington Senators, the major league's poorest drawing baseball club during the 1957 season, decided to explore several "serious" offers to move the team to another city today, but not until after the 1958 season.

Offers to shift the American League franchise from the nation's capital to the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and two other unidentified cities were laid before the Washington club's board of directors Monday, but were rejected for the time being.

"We voted to stay in Washington next year," said C. Leo De Orsey, a director and attorney for the Griffith family. De Orsey also revealed that a recent offer by a Minneapolis group to switch the Washington franchise was rejected by club president and major stock holder Calvin Griffith, Jr., as "unsatisfactory."

However, De Orsey said the Minneapolis group was understood to have come back with a more attractive offer.

Odds Take Drop For Pastrano, To Drop Lower

London — Willie Pastrano, a light-footed boxer from New Orleans, was rated a 2-1 favorite today to beat Dick Richardson, England's "Mauling Milkman," in their 10-round heavyweight bout at Harringay arena.

A sellout crowd of 10,600 was assured, with the top of $14.70 for a seat indicating a gate of about $80,000.

Pastrano was a 3-1 favorite when the fighters began training but could be no better than 8-3 when they enter the ring. Ex-heavyweight contender Tommy Farr and two respected British fight writers Monday picked Richardson to win—making it almost certain that the price will come down on Pastrano.

East, West Germans Tiff Over Sports

Frankfurt, Oct. 22 — East and West Germany formed a common team for the last Olympics, but today they seem farther apart than ever in the field of sports.

The latest blast in the running battle between sports officials of the divided country was fired by the East Germans after Gerhard Kieseling, former national ice hockey coach, fled to the West and found a job with the Prussen Krefeld club.

East German officials said West German hockey officials had "plotted Kieseling's treachery" after several months in an attempt to "sabotage" the development of hockey as a people's sport in East Germany.

The East Germans have been stepping up their attacks against West German sports organizations in general.

The Communist party paper, Neues Deutschland, recently called visiting West German athletes "agents, disguised as sportsmen, who come to our democratic republic for subversive machinations." East German sports boss Rudi Reichert has called the Deutscher Sportbund—the West German equivalent of the AAU—a "center of espionage" directed against East Germany.

West German officials, while denying all East German allegations, think the campaign is aimed at forcing the International Olympic committee to recognize the existence of two separate Germanys—even at the cost of breaking off all sports relations with West Germany.

Winning College Lineup Narrows

New York — A total of 53 college football teams, including eight major powers, remain unbeaten and untied at the season's halfway mark.

A United Press survey revealed today that the only major college elevens with spotless records are Duke, Mississippi, Texas A & M, Iowa, Oklahoma, Dartmouth, Auburn and Notre Dame. Oklahoma, of course, is working on a record 44-game winning streak.

West Chester, Pa., State Teachers is the highest scorer of the 53 teams with 202 points. Pittsburg, Kan., Teachers and Eastern New Mexico have won the most games—six each—while Juniata, Pa., and Prairie View, Tex., have won two each.
