Magnuson Denies Visit To Red China

Tokyo—Democratic Senator Warren G. Magnuson of Washington flatly denied today rumors circulating in Seattle he had slipped into Communist China for a week's visit.

"There's nothing to it," Magnuson said. "I wonder where they heard that idea."

The senator admitted, however, that it would be an "interesting" trip but doubted whether the Chinese Communists would ever issue him a visa.

Magnuson said he spent a couple of days in Hong Kong and was just "passing through" Tokyo en route home from Europe where he attended a maritime conference.

Petroleum Industry Expected To Adjust To Economy Easily

New York—How will the petroleum industry weather the "adjustment" being widely predicted for the economy in 1958? Better than most major industries, say economists, because unlike most, petroleum's two most important products are fairly well insulated from the effects of modern business adjustment.

Adjustment or no adjustment you'll use your car just about as much as ever, and the house and office probably will stay heated. What's happened in the past? The Chase Manhattan bank reports that in the recession years of 1949 and 1954 the strength of gasoline and heating fuel demand helped overall demand for petroleum show a gain.

Domestic consumption in 1949 was 0.5 per cent greater than in 1948, according to the bank. Had the winter weather been normally cold there would have been a gain of about 2 per cent.

For 1954 the Chase reported an actual increase of 2 per cent over 1953 that would have been only about 1 per cent if weather had been normal.

The Chase, along with other industry observers, warns that the industry can weather an economic adjustment best if it has its house in order or inventories in normal position.

Both the 1949 and 1954 adjustment periods were entered into with excessive inventories. Supplies are high now, too.

However, September supply patterns assumed a more favorable shape as imports fell below August levels and production was cut.

The month saw 13 million barrels put into storage, against a 20 million barrel addition in September last year.

Crude oil and the minor products showed losses while gasoline, the dilutes and residual fuel oil all recorded gain.

Taxpayer Appeal Method Revised
Salem—The State Tax Commission today adopted a revised "conference" method of settling income taxpayer appeals.

Commission Chairman S. W. Horn said that under the new plan, the director of the income division will have final authority at the conference level to arbitrate differences that arise between commission auditors and individual taxpayers.

Previously, disputes were handled by a single commissioner in conference. Then, if appealed, the same commissioner would sit in a quasi-judicial capacity over the same case.

The new plan, conceived in by the commission's new 15-man advisory committee, gives final authority to Thure A. Lindstrom Jr., director of the income division. His decisions will be reported regularly to the commission as a whole.

Wisconsin Students Vote Against ROTC

Madison, Wis.—The University of Wisconsin Student Senate Tuesday night voted 27-3 to do away with ROTC on campus.

The senate, which represents all university students, will seek faculty and state legislative action to eliminate compulsory military training.

Neuberger Appeals To Coos Clergy in Behalf of Chapman

Portland—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.), today appealed to the clergymen of Coos and Curry counties to use "moral persuasion" on Republican leaders of the state Senate to withdraw a Republican name from rollcall votes so that Democratic Sen. R. F. Chapman need not attend to preserve the 15-15 voting balance.

Sen. Chapman suffered a heart attack last week but his physician said he may still be able to attend the special session convening next Monday if he continues his satisfactory progress.

Neuberger told a gathering of Southern Pacific employees at the Brooklyn yards here today that he was "shocked and disturbed" to hear that a man suffering from a heart attack may have to attend the special session in order to maintain a voting balance between the parties.

"This confirms my long-standing fear," Neuberger said, "that politics in Oregon often seem to have become about as brutal and barbaric as anywhere north of the Mason and Dixon line."

The senator suggested that Republicans in the state Senate, "if they have human life and health above narrow partisan political advantage," will designate one of their own members to "pair" or refrain from voting on all crucial issues, so that Sen. Chapman need not risk his health in order to fill his seat in the Senate chamber.

1958 Milk Production Expected To Be Up

Washington—The Agriculture Department said today milk production on farms in 1958 is likely to be one to two billion pounds greater than the 127 billion pounds in prospect for 1957.

Prices to farmers will continue at current levels, allowing for seasonal variation, through March, 1958, the end of the current marketing year, the department said in its 1958 outlook issue of "The Dairy Situation."

Prices of the 1958-59 marketing year will be influenced by the level of supports to be announced before next March 31.

Stocks in Sharpest Jump Since 1929

New York—Stocks today closed on a blaze of glory in the biggest upward swing since Nov. 14, 1929.

The gains, ranging from more than seven points in the main list and more than nine points in the issues outside the average group, lifted the average sharply after a long decline that lasted from July 12 to Tuesday's close.

The oversold condition that had developed lured in professional buyers, including investors like the Mutual Funds which have just barrels of money for market purposes.

The bargain hunters took to the field at the outset which was marked by blocks ranging to 20,000 shares in Chrysler and Bethlehem Steel. They were such active buyers on moderate amounts that the tape ran behind as much as eight minutes.

At the close the tape again ran late with prices hitting new recovery highs.

Best gains appeared in the recently weak steels where Luken's gained nine points. Du Pont rose nearly eight in the chemicals. National Lead, Gulf Oil, and several others rose five points or more. American Telephone made a sharp comeback from its recent low.

All departments of the market joined the rise. Rails were strong. Oils registered wide gains. Miscellaneous issues registered advances running to 16 1/2 points in International Business Machines.
