The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alway

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Self Help For Arthritis

I recently read a splendid book, entitled "Overcome Arthritis" (Prentice Hall). It was written by William Kitay, in collaboration with the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, which was founded by Mr. Floyd B. Odum, of California. Because the book was written with the help of the country's leading experts on arthritis, the material is authentic. There is no buncombe in it. We read, for instance, that there is no diet that cures arthritis, and there is no medicine that we can count on to cure the disease. Many people get over a spell of arthritis while taking some quack diet or some medicine, but this does not mean that the diet or the medicine did anything, because arthritis is a disease which often tends to come and go by itself.

Thousands of arthritics reading this new book will be much helped by the many useful hints they will find in the several chapters on the things that a patient can do for himself, and his family can do for him. One of the best chapters is the last one which contains a list of all the clinics throughout the United States that specialize in the treatment of arthritis. This should help many unhappy, puzzled people, who, when arthritis floors them, don't know where to turn to find a specialist. The average physician and even the average internist has not had special training in the treatment of arthritis. I know I haven't had such training and so I send my patients with severe arthritis to an expert in this field. Millions of persons with mild forms of arthritis get along fairly well without much treatment besides perhaps aspirin and soaking in a hot bath.

Help for Paralyzed Persons

I have also read a splendid booklet of 38 pages—a "Primer for Paraplegics (paralyzed from some segment of the body down) and Quadriplegics (both arms and both legs paralyzed)" prepared by Dr. S. S. Bluestone, and put out by Dr. Howard Rusk and his Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University-Bellevue Medical Center. Every person who is now lying paralyzed on a bed, and perhaps feeling hopeless, should send 50 cents for a copy of this booklet. It can fire him with enthusiasm, showing as it does, that he could be trained to get up out of bed and into a wheelchair and back into a salary-paying job.

Whenever I am in New York and have a little time, it is a thrill to go to Dr. Rusk's hospital and to see there the wonderful work that he and his associates are doing. They take these paralyzed persons and teach them quickly how to get back into life, getting about, taking care of themselves, and earning a living.
