NO VIOLATION

Detroit—Robert Smith got some good news when he pleaded guilty to backing his car through an intersection. Traffic Referee Oscar Riopelle informed Smith there is no law against backing a car through an intersection and dismissed the case.

WON'T HAPPEN AGAIN—

Wallace Tudor, vice president in charge of personnel for Sears, Roebuck & Co., is shown as he admitted to the Senate labor rackets committee in Washington that some of his company's officials and Nathan W. Shefferman's labor relations firm engaged in "inexcusable, unnecessary and disgraceful" acts to fight a union in Boston. He added it would not happen again.
