Body of Rogue River Man Being Returned

The body of Norman Lee Bean, 22-year-old Rogue River Navyman who was killed in an accident aboard an aircraft carrier at Marseille, France, last July 3, has been recovered and will be returned here for funeral services, it was reported Saturday.

The young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bean of Rogue River, died when a fire broke out aboard the carrier U.S.S. Lake Champlain. His body was missing following the accident, but was recovered on Sept. 3, just two months after his death.

The body has been returned to New York, and will be brought home next week. Services will be announced later. A 1954 graduate of Rogue River High school, young Bean enlisted soon thereafter. He was a football player in high school, and was a member of the team that played in the state "B" East-West all-star Shrine game in Pendleton in 1954.

Hawaii Statehood Urged By Governor

San Francisco — Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii said Friday night that the United States' prestige among the "awakening millions of Asia and Africa" would be quickly restored if the island were granted full statehood.

In a speech before the San Francisco Press and Union League club, Quinn said the happy relationship between many races in the islands does more than anything to "sell the ideals of democracy" to the people of Asia.

"But how long will the people of Asia believe our ideals when they know we are colonialists—the very status many of them have thrown off," he asked.

Quinn said the United States should grant full statehood to the islands to prove to doubting Asians that it does not hold territories in "colonial" status.

Big Maritime Strike Now Ended In Japan

Tokyo — Japan's worst maritime strike ended Saturday when the powerful All-Japan Seamen's Union reached a compromise with shipowners on wage demands.

The union ordered its 85,000 members to return to work immediately.

The union and the shipowners conducted round-the-clock marathon negotiations since Thursday in a frantic effort to end the worst strike of Japanese shipping in the nation's history.

The compromise plan, submitted by the impartial Seamen's Central Labor Relations Commission, called for a minimum wage of 12,000 yen about $34, a boost of about 15 per cent from the present minimum wage scale.

New Look at Gifts Sought By Senator

Washington — Rep. Kenneth B. Keating R-N.Y. called Saturday for a "fresh look" by Congress at gifts to government officials.

Keating, senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, proposed that it study "the entire gift question" to see if any new laws are needed or old ones need changing.

The New York congressman said in an interview that there is "apparently a lot of confusion" over what gifts can be accepted. He said Congress should provide some "guidelines" because in some borderline cases conscience is the only guide.

No Double Standard
As chairman of an investigating subcommittee in 1953, Keating was sharply critical of gifts to some Truman administration officials. "Just exactly the same standards should apply to Republicans as to Democrats," he said.

"No gift should be accepted which could possibly influence action, either by one in the executive branch or the legislative branch."

The gift issue came up this week when the "State Department removed Victor Purse as its deputy chief of protocol after his family accepted a $3,000 car from Arabia's King Saud. Purse, reassigned to another job, entered a hospital Friday suffering from nervous exhaustion.

Another gift made news when Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower accepted a beaver coat. The pelts for the $1,800 coat was given by Maine trappers, and the first lady paid $385 to have them made into a coat.

Asked to comment on the Purse case, Keating said, "as a member of Congress I would not accept a car from any foreign country."

In reply to a question about Mrs. Eisenhower's coat, Keating said "it would be inappropriate and ungracious for me to comment." But he added "she paid many times what I ever paid for a coat."

It has been estimated that there are about 4.5 million cubic miles of salt contained in the world's oceans.
