

Crusade Directors Represent Community

(Editor's note: The following article discusses the board of directors of the United Medford Crusade.)

The United Medford Crusade board of directors represents the community. At present there are 35 members of the board, 19 of whom are elected by contributors at the annual March meeting. Five are appointed by the board president for one year term, and nine are appointed by member agencies.

In addition there are six honorary members elected by the board because of outstanding service on the board for three years or more. Honorary members do not have voting privileges, but they are kept in close touch with affairs of the organization, and their advice and help is frequently required.

Decisions for Fund

While the United fund is frequently referred to as a partnership of agencies, this is true only in a general way. Executive Harold Cook said. The fact that the agency representatives number only nine among 29 voting members means that decisions regarding the conduct of the United fund is not in the control of the members agencies, but is controlled by the majority of the members who represent the contributing public. The United fund is a contributor's organization, not an agency organization, he noted.

Recently a questionnaire was completed by UMC board members, from which it was learned that the average age was 42. The youngest was 30, and the oldest 58. The majority of the members are in their 30's or early 40's.

This is a significant change from personnel of community chest boards in previous years, not only in Medford but in most other parts of the country, Cook said. It was traditional that the board should be made up of older persons, some retired, and many of them wealthy heads of large business firms.

Based by Subscriptions
In earlier years of the community chest movement there was an emphasis on giving by employees and in many cases the whole amount of the goal was raised by subscriptions from business firms and wealthy retired persons. As the movement advanced it was found that subscriptions by business firms was not sufficient to carry the load, and employees began to share the responsibility to help support of volunteer agencies, Cook noted.

The shift in emphasis resulted in campaigns of a broader scope, and the campaign personnel was largely staffed by younger people, as were the boards of the United funds.

On the board of the United Medford Crusade there are five lawyers, three physicians, one preacher, one college professor, one high school principal, one school administrator, three utility executives, two lumber executives, one insurance salesman, an investment broker. Others represent a super market, hardware store, television station, office equipment and labor unions.

There is one lumber mill hand on the board and one housewife. Nineteen members of the board have academic degrees, some of them have three or four. Most of them belong to one or more service clubs, and most of them are doing some form of volunteer work for agencies in addition to their UMC duties, Cook said.

"What is your principal reason for engaging in UMC work?" brought out a variety of responses. One man said "Every citizen in any community has a civic responsibility. I felt that work with the UMC was the finest way to contribute time and effort to those less fortunate than myself." Other responses to the question Cook asked were: "Want to be of some use to somebody." "I feel the contribution of personal time and effort is as necessary as a financial contribution." Most answers to the question came under the heading of "Community Service," assistance to youth, "to make a better Medford."

UMC board members meet at least once a month during the year. Most of them are assigned to one or more committees and the majority are actively engaged in the work of the campaign.

Resistance Possible To Khrushchev's Play

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington — If the official Moscow downgrading of Soviet war hero Georgi Zhukov could mean some real resistance has developed to Nikita Khrushchev's latest power play, American experts said Saturday.

U.S. officials felt fairly certain, however, that Communist Party chief Khrushchev has won and the Kremlin is now setting the propaganda stage to announce the ousted defense minister has a second-rater's job or worse.

News dispatches from Paris and Belgrade indicated the tough old warrior, who led the Soviet forces in World War II, had balked at making the public "confession" of misconduct customary for deposed Russian officials. He was removed from office last Saturday.

Minor Army Job Likely
Observers here agreed with reports from Soviet Embassy sources in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, that Zhukov would be assigned to an Army military administration post or to a Red Army service school. They said he also could be put in the Warsaw pact organization made up of Russia and its eastern European satellites.

Whatever the assignment, it is expected it will keep him under security wraps and deprive him of any authority in the Red Army.

Diplomats said it is not too surprising that a week has passed with no announcement of Zhukov's future. They recalled that Moscow radio held up an announcement of the previous Khrushchev power play against Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich and Shepilov.

Waited Four Days
The decision against these former Khrushchev confidantes was announced July 3 although the action against them was taken June 29. It was some time later before new jobs in minor positions were announced for them all.

If Khrushchev did hit some snags in his anti-Zhukov move, officials said this would explain why Zhukov spent eight days in Albania before returning to Moscow after his trip to Yugoslavia.

4-H Members Given Scholarship Awards

CORVALLIS — Five Oregon 4-H club members have been awarded college scholarships, Burton Hutton, state 4-H club extension leader said Saturday.

Winners are Suzanne Lohier of Enterprise, Janice Powell of Hood River, Mary Klock of Troutdale, Carolyn Dickworth of Coos Bay and Judy Wilcox of Milwaukie.

Each will receive a $300 college scholarship presented by Standard Oil Company of California. All are 18 and all but Miss Powell are attending Oregon State college. She is enrolled at Northwest Christian College in Eugene.

Supervisor Named For Olympic Forest

PORTLAND — Lloyd G. Gillmor has been named forest supervisor of the Olympic National Forest with headquarters at Olympia, Wash. Forest Service Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone said here Saturday.

Gillmore replaces Mason Bruce, who is being transferred to the Alaska region. Since last April Gillmor has been on the staff of the Division of Timber Management here. Before that he was on the staff of the forest supervisor, Eremont National Forest, at Lakeview, where he was in charge of timber management and recreation use.

Rogue Council Camp Fire Girls Assisted Through United Drive

(Editor's note: This is another in the series of articles about agencies which receive funds contributed to the United Medford Crusade.)

Blue Birds, Camp Fire and Horizon Girls in the Rogue council experienced several types of camping this last summer. Day, group and resident camping were conducted from June to September.

On one camping trip two fathers, Paul Chinn Jr. and R. Learn, whose daughters are members of the Da Ku Ta Camp Fire group, went on an overnight trip with their daughters and eight other girls.

The expedition camped on the Upper Applegate one night and next day. The girls unpacked, erected, blew up air mattresses, bedded tents and arranged beds rolls before preparing dinner. They built individual fires for their dinners.

Usual camp chores were performed and lights were out at 10 p.m.

Trail Blazing

Chinn and Learn instructed the girls in blazing a trail on trees and how to read the blazes. Several games were played based on what they had learned. Campers returned home in the afternoon.

Girls taking part in this trip were Jill McDonald, Lynn Gibson, Bonnie Lee Grimes, Diane Medcalf, Jackie Glines, Pamela Hosick, Colleen Learn, Karen Brattain and Paulette Chinn.

One of the most extensive trips taken by girls in this area was by the Ayuzunta group of junior high girls last summer. The planning for the trip to Lassen Volcanic National park began last winter. Girls and their parents discussed equipment, dehydrated food and financing. The girls saved part of their weekly allowance money from their sponsor, candy sale profits and baked food sale brought in the remaining amount. A practice trip was taken to Mr. McLoughlin.

Taken to Lassen

In July Mr. and Mrs. Milton Medcalf and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Younger took the girls to Lassen park. Mrs. Younger is guardian of the group.

The group camped one night at the Summit lake camp ground, then backpacked to Lower Twin lake where they camped several days. The girls worked out a system for cooking, dishwashing, wood gathering and laundry that cut camping housework to a minimum. Hikes were taken to interesting sites during the week. The girls then hiked back to the Summit lake camp ground. Mr. and Mrs. Curt Nesheim assisted on the trip.

Special Day Camp

A special day camp was held in June for second and third grade Blue Birds. It was the council's first such day camp. Horizon girls acted as camp aides during this session and trained counselors assisting Mrs. Virginia Dawson and Mrs. Ruth Gerety were Mrs. Irma Lawrence and Mrs. Arlene Wolfe who are both Blue Bird leaders.

Resident camping took place at Camp Ka-Esta in August. Three one-week sessions included such activities as canoe overnight trips, pack trips to the top of Mt. McLoughlin, water skiing, swimming, archery, singing, grand council fires, and initiation into the Order of the Salad Fork.

Mrs. Ruth Gerety, executive director of the Rogue council, attended staff training in July and served as a camp counselor the last week of camp. Rebecca Rowan and Chris Prentiss of Medford, and Judy Frost of Camp White attended camp all three weeks.

PHOENIX Club Anniversary Observed

By GILLIAN BEIGHT

Phoenix—Phoenix Thursday club, with their husbands as guests, celebrated their 33rd anniversary Oct. 24 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Watrud, 19 Geneva st. in Medford.

A buffet dinner was served at 7 p.m. by Mrs. Watrud, who was assisted by Mrs. Cecel Norris, Mrs. Lewis Bertrand and Mrs. Gordon Germer. There were 43 present. Cards were played and a social evening was spent after dinner.

Organized in 1924 with 10 members, the club now has a limited membership of 50. At that time there were no other organizations in Phoenix except the Neighbors of Woodcraft, the Ladies Aid Society and Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church and the Woodmen of the World. So the members of the Thursday club found themselves involved in many projects. One of the first of these was sponsoring the Phoenix library, which they have continued to do up to the present time.

Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Barkley, Mr. and Mrs. George Bourn, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bertrand, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Caster, Mr. and Mrs. Noman Caster, Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Consbuk, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Furry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Germer, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Germer, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. James, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. MacKintosh, Mrs. Robert Mullin, Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Norris, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Popow, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Quakenbush, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Roach, Mrs. Ada Stedman, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stancliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson, Mrs. Marjorie Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wrede, and the host and hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Watrud.

Last weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mitchell were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lueck of Colestrip, Mont., who were on their way home after a two-weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sundquist and son of Pulso, Wash., spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell and Sundquist are sister and brother.

The Nazarene church is having a revival which will continue through this coming week. Dr. Keith Wiseman of Colma, Calif., an evangelist, is in charge.

C. M. White was called to Escondido, Calif. this week by the death of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow, who were married last month, are now making their home in Redding, Calif., where they are now both working.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Phoenix fire department will hold a rummage sale Friday, Nov. 8, in the Fehd building, 106 N. Ivy in Medford. Benefits will go to buy kitchen utensils for the department.
