

ON DISPLAY—The 1958 Ford went on display today at Crater Lake Motors, West Main st., Medford. Style changes, and engineering and design advances are noticeable in the new models. The Fairlane 500 Town Victoria, right, and Fairlane Club Victoria, left, include such styling changes as new safety dual headlights, corrosion-proof anodized aluminum grille, power flow hood, slip stream roof, sculptured inverted V trunk lid and two safety taillights. Engineering and design advances include new engines, new Cruise-O-Matic transmission and optional Ford-Aire suspension. Twenty-one new models in five series are offered in 1958 Ford car line.

Eisenhowers Hope To Visit London, Other European Capitals

Washington — President and Mrs. Eisenhower hope to visit London and other European capitals next year.

Sources close to the White House disclosed the first family is trying to make arrangements for the trip.

Such a tour would be in line with the President's desire to draw the United States and European nations closer together to meet the onrush of Russian science and military power.

Eisenhower will go to Paris next month to attend a "summit" conference of North Atlantic Treaty Nations to tackle ways of achieving greater Western unity.

The British have been particularly anxious to have the President come to their country. Queen Elizabeth and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan visited the U.S. last month and met with the President.

In meeting with them, Eisenhower stressed the need for greater Anglo-American cooperation to meet Russia's challenge in the new space-missile age.

Plans Disclosed
Disclosure that arrangements were underway to try to set up the European tour came after it was brought out that Eisenhower probably would not go to London following the Paris NATO meeting.

The British touched off a trans-Atlantic exchange Wednesday with an announcement that the President had been forced to defer a proposed December visit because of Mrs. Eisenhower's health.

Acting White House Press Secretary Anne Wheaton, asked if there was any basis for the London statements, said flatly: "None whatever."

She said the President's current plan to confine his December visit to France had to do with his heavy schedule and not the condition of Mrs. Eisenhower's health.

Definite Answer
Asked whether Mrs. Eisenhower was ill, Mrs. Wheaton replied: "No." The first lady, who underwent an operation Aug. 6, has been more active in recent days than in a long time.

Mrs. Eisenhower, unaware of the trans-Atlantic exchange, said Wednesday morning she was "feeling fine" when she appeared at a benefit bazaar. But she added she still "can't do too much walking." Her remarks suggested that she tires somewhat easily and is under doctor's orders to avoid strenuous exercise.

London newspapers said today Mrs. Eisenhower's health was not the reason for putting off the visit. The strongest statement was made by the Labor Party's Daily Herald which said Queen Elizabeth was "hurt" by the President's decision.

The Herald said the President called off his trip to Britain because he feared criticism that he was "too much in England's pocket."

Cave Junction Man Dies in Auto Wreck

Grants Pass — Clyde E. McNeil, about 40, Cave Junction, was killed Wednesday when his car failed to make a curve on the Redwood highway south-west of here.

McNeil was alone in the car. Police said the vehicle overturned several times after it left the road. A wife and three children survive.

WRONG GROUND
Plattsburg, N.Y. — City officials told Francis Skiff that his house was being built on municipal airport property through a deed error. Skiff said that was bad enough, but he had already sold a portion of the misdeeded property to another man who was also building a house.

Truman 'Glad' To See Ike Turning To Bipartisan Policy

Palm Springs, Calif. — Former President Harry S. Truman says he is "very glad" the Eisenhower administration has "awakened to the fact that we need a bipartisan foreign policy."

Truman's remark came at a press conference Wednesday when it was noted that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had called in former Truman administration officials for an extraordinary special meeting.

Would Be Good Plan
"It would be a good plan to to restore the bipartisan foreign policy which had been effect while I was in the White House and while President Roosevelt was there and which has been thrown to the winds by the present administration," he said.

"You see," Truman explained, "Mr. Dulles was part of that bipartisan foreign policy of mine, but apparently it didn't take. He made the statement when he went in that there should be an agonizing reappraisal. Well, we've received the agony all right, and now perhaps we are going to get the reappraisal."

Not Consulted

Truman said he was not notified or consulted on Wednesday's State Department meeting. He said he has always believed that "partisanship should stop at the water's edge," but added that the policy since 1953, when the Republican administration took over, has been "strictly partisan and that's wrong."

"The foreign policy of the United States should represent the full country without regard to the political faith of the man who is making it," Truman added. "Nobody can make the foreign policy of the United States but the President."

Truman and his wife, Bess, will leave for Independence, Mo., today after being guests of former Gov. Mon Wallgren of Washington at his desert home here.

YOU SHOULD KNOW THIS ABOUT BAKING

It's the BALANCE of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.
