

Fire Brigade at Work

Photos: Orlando from Three Lions

GIVE A BOY a match and you've got a fire, some say. In Mamaroneck, N. Y., however, give a boy a hose and you've got a fire fighter.

Teen-agers there have organized a Rangers Conservation Club to battle flames in the surrounding woodlands, where even a small blaze can become a holocaust.

Operating with teen-size equipment—bicycles, water pumps strapped to their backs, and lots of enthusiasm—the youngsters have earned praise from the New York Department of Conservation as well as from their thankful neighbors.

Brush fire has flared up, so off go Mamaroneck Rangers. Teen-agers fight blaze which could spread to residences.

Now the task of restoring equipment for next emergency.

Rangers carry out educational campaign to prevent fires.
