Two Persons Injured In Highway 99 Crash

Two persons were injured in an accident on Highway 99 at the Birdseye creek bridge south of Rogue River about 9:15 p.m. yesterday, according to state police.

Injured were Constance Brooks, 41, of Grants Pass, who police said suffered a broken leg, and Nina Lee Reynolds, 60, also of Grants Pass, who received cuts and bruises.

They were passengers in a car operated by Roland J. Holmes, 34, of Grants Pass. Driver of the other car was Ivie Lavern Grantham, 26, of Eugene, police said.

The injured were taken to a Grants Pass hospital by Hull and Hull Ambulance service of Grants Pass. The cars were removed from the scene by a Gold Hill wrecker.

Police said the cars collided on the bridge. It was raining, and the highway was slippery at the time, they said. No citations were issued by police.

Piper, pastor of the First Christian church, will officiate. Private committal services will follow in the Siskiyou Memorial crematorium.

Mr. Loveland, the son of John M. and Lydia Strout Loveland, was born in Tennessee Feb. 9, 1892. Until his retirement five years ago, when he came to the Rogue valley, he was a civilian employee in the supply department of the Mare Island Navy shipyard.

He was not married and his only immediate survivor is a sister, Mrs. Liela Horne, in Oakland, Calif.

Stock Trades Routine In Irregular Market

New York—Stock trading was largely a routine affair in a narrowly irregular market. Lorillard and J. I. Case proved late features, running up a point each in brisk turnover.

Wilcox Oil climbed over two points and Atlantic Refining more than a point in generally firm oil group. Chrysler stood out with a rise of better than a point while Ford and General Motors eased.

Steels were little changed except for a point gain in National. Bethlehem dropped a half point to a new low then came back part way.

Today's prices on selected stocks:

Allied Chemical	70 1/4
American Can	37 3/4

CHAIRMEN NAMED TO GREAT DECISIONS
Committee chairmen for the "Great Decisions... 1958" program were named Tuesday night at a meeting of the Great Decisions temporary committee in the courthouse. General Chairman Harold Jaffrey was in charge.

Named to head various phases of the foreign policy study program, which begins Feb. 2, were Ron James, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Don Gearin, Eagle Point Lions club; Dr. R. H. Byrnes and Dr. Clifford Miller, Southern Oregon college, television; William Trout, men's group; Bruce Metzger, schools; Mrs. Justin Smith, Medford schools and Miss Mary Pat Lucy, extension units.

Chairmen for fact sheet sales, ministerial association, and women's groups will be named later, Jaffrey said.

The Great Decisions program, aimed at formation of informal home study groups to discuss United States foreign policy, is in its fourth year in Oregon and its third year in Jackson county. More than 200 persons took part in the program here last year.

Charles O'Brien, regional director for the Foreign Policy association from San Francisco, will be in Medford in December to talk with the temporary committee.

Corvallis—Oregon farmers get more for their products in October, thus wiping out the losses suffered through falling farm prices in September, according to Mrs. Elvera Horrell, extension agricultural economist at Oregon State College. National farm prices turned downward during the month.

Mrs. Horrell said livestock prices held about steady while farm crop prices moved upward for grains, potatoes, vegetables and seeds. Hay, fruit and nut prices were down. Farmers also paid less for millrun, mixed dairy feed, laying mash, scratch grain and broiler mash.
