Warning Issued Here On Coupon Purchase

A warning on purchase of coupon books was issued this morning by Don McNeil, Jackson County Chamber of Commerce manager.

He pointed to problems connected with coupon books listed by the Portland Better Business bureau bulletin which stated (1) Although the price may represent a $100 value in merchandise and services obtainable, few people could use the wide range offered, (2) Merchants have no way of knowing how many coupon books have been issued, so when flooded with coupons often refuse to honor them, (3) Consumers are led to believe by phone they are being offered a gift, (4) Considerable ill-will is created toward the merchant when he may be forced to discontinue honoring the coupons, (5) Such promotions fail to bring many people back as customers, (6) The books of coupons cover such widely scattered businesses that it is difficult for a person to get around to all those included in the coupons.
