Oklahoma, Notre Dame Clash In Collegiate Grid Headliner

By UNITED PRESS
If long-range odds hold up, New Year's Day will find Ohio State vs. Oregon in the Rose Bowl. Oklahoma vs. Duke in the Orange Bowl, Texas A & M vs. Army and Navy in the Cotton Bowl and any combination of teams from south of the Mason-Dixon line in the Sugar and Gator Bowls.

Oklahoma, the only team already assured of a bowl trip, steps outside the Big Eight Saturday and is favored by 18 points over Notre Dame in a game to be televised nationally by NBC. That three-touchdown spread surprised football observers because Oklahoma, despite 47 straight wins, has gone through anxious moments this season. On top of that, it's an open secret that Notre Dame has been pointing all year for the Sooners.

Iowa Over OSU
Iowa is a one-point favorite over Ohio State, Oregon seven over Clemson Cal., Duke seven over Clemson, Texas A&M seven over Rice and Tennessee seven over Mississippi.

While the Ohio State-Iowa battle will crown the Big Ten champion, Iowa is barred from the Rose Bowl because it made the trip last New Year's Day. That means Ohio State can make the run for the roses with a victory over Iowa or Michigan, its opponent next week. Similarly, Oregon needs only one victory in its remaining games with Southern Cal or Oregon State for its first Rose Bowl appearance since 1920.

Duke needs only a win over Clemson or next Saturday's foe, North Carolina.

Texas A & M, rated No. 1 by the United Press Board of Coaches can sew up the host role in the Cotton Bowl by beating Rice. The Cotton Bowl Committee is believed to be leaning toward the winner of the Nov. 30 Army-Navy classic for the visiting team.

Eye Vols and Ole Miss
If the service academies nix a Cotton Bowl appearance, the Tennessee - Mississippi game probably will produce one team for the Cotton Bowl and one for the Sugar.

Fanfare

Yesterday this column took occasion to print some editorial comment. It prompted a letter to the sports department from Carl S. Landis, Medford photographer and ardent supporter of the local high school athletic teams. Said Landis:

"The editorial comments from the editor Kenneth Hicks of the Grants Pass Courier were very enjoyable, but controversial."

"As he mentioned, football is only a game, and this one is over and decided, at least for the record. But, in mentioning the long punt return made by Johnny Jones, he called long punt returns as luck. Personally, I don't believe this is the case, as I'm sure that Jones really meant to get the ball all the way to the end zone, and the run therefore could not be called accidental. As for rugged play the downfield blocking on that return wasn't a tea party. Ask any of the boys that threw those blocks."

"Perhaps Mr. Hicks should be told this story: In 1925 when Cornell played Dartmouth, the forward pass had just come into its own. The Cornell team ran the ball all afternoon while the Dartmouth team passed. The final score was Dartmouth 62, Cornell 13. On leaving the field, the Cornell coach, Gil Dobie, said, 'Well, we won, 13 to 0.' The sports writer, Grann Rice asked, 'What about Dartmouth's 62 points?' Dobie countered, 'I don't count those scores made by passing, that isn't football.'"

"Well, we don't want to eliminate passing in football, because it gives the game a wide open aspect, but, maybe some of the Medford fans should take that attitude. To Mr. Hicks we do want to say that the Grants Pass team has one of the best passing combinations we have seen."

Douglas Key In Indian's Last Chance

San Francisco—Stanford's last chance to rate a bid to the Rose Bowl will hinge on the passing arm tomorrow of quarterback Jack Douglas as the Indians play favored Oregon State at Corvallis.

In the meantime, Oregon's Ducks figure to nail down their first Pasadena trip in 37 years and they only have to knock off weak Southern California to do it. The Trojans, ripped apart by conference penalties, are devoid of seniors this year and almost as shy of wins. They have one triumph and six losses.

UCLA, rolling along with a 6-2 mark despite similar penalties, goes to Stockton to play underdog College of Pacific. The Tigers' best attack is Tom Flores' passes and end Dick Wallen of the Bruins is a mast at breaking up ball games with interceptions.

Cal Versus Washington
California, with one triumph in eight games, hosts an erratic Washington team which has upset two of the strongest teams in the PCC—Oregon and Oregon State.

Idaho and Washington State tangle in their traditional at Pullman, where the Vandals will seek to close out a surprisingly good year by upsetting the Cougars. Washington State was a Rose Bowl contender for a while but faded.

San Jose State is at Fresno State in another time-honored hassle while San Francisco State and Chico State will settle the battle for the Far Western conference crown on the latter's gridiron.

Southern Oregon Vies At Humboldt State In Gridiron Finale

By BOB MCKENZIE

Ashland—Taking to the road for their final football game of the season, the Southern Oregon College Red Raiders travel to Arcata, Calif., this Saturday to battle with the Humboldt State college Lumberjacks.

Winners of the Oregon Collegiate conference the Raiders increased their prestige last Saturday night when they dropped the undefeated Seattle Ramblers, 25 to 21. Coach Al Atkins' Red Raiders will carry a record of six wins one loss and one tie into the Humboldt fray.

Ron Maurer, line-smashing Red Raider fullback, is again expected to lead the SOC against attack. Maurer raced for two touchdowns against the Seattle Ramblers, one a 55-yard pass interception run to give the Raiders the margin of victory.

Freshman halfback, Lee McGill, made his bid for starting honors for the SOC club in their final game by running against the Ramblers for a total of 102 yards, scoring a touchdown on a 41-yard sprint.

Hoping to avenge a 33 to 6 loss to the Humboldt State Lumberjacks last season the Red Raiders have been drilling hard for the final game. Stressing defensive play, the squad moved in out of the Southern Oregon liquid sunshine Wednesday to run drills in the gym, but were outside for their drill.

Schayes Breaks Pro Hoop Mark

By UNITED PRESS

Dolph Schayes, one of the under-rated stars of the National Basketball association, broke George Mikan's total-points record Thursday night as he scored 29 points for a nine-year total of 10,171 in leading Syracuse to a 97-84 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors.

Bureaus Hold Meeting With County Officials

Representatives from the Bureau of Land Management and Bureau of Reclamation met with the Jackson county court Thursday to discuss the Hilt Lake project. Also discussed, according to County Judge Rodney Keating, were county roads in the area.

Judge Refuses Plea From Caryl Chessman

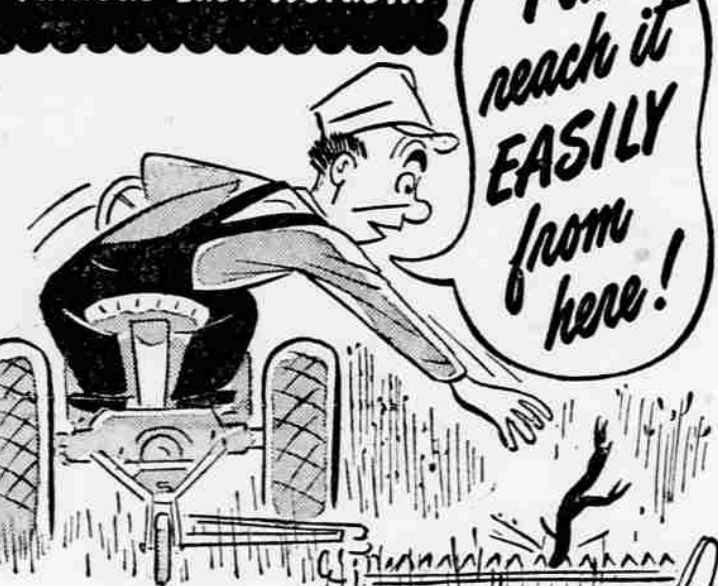

Los Angeles—A superior judge has refused convict author Caryl Chessman's plea for a court order to force the warden of San Quentin prison to release Chessman's latest book for publication.

Judge Frank G. Swain denied the petition Thursday on the grounds that Chessman should obtain possession of the manuscript from Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker.

American Civil Liberties Union Attorney A. L. Wirin, acting on Chessman's behalf, had filed petition for a writ of habeas corpus to compel Warden Fred R. Dickson to release the manuscript of the book "The Novel is one of several books Chessman wrote in prison while in death row appealing his death sentence on kidnap-rape charges. His first book, "Cell 6455 Death Row," was a best-seller.

The Supreme court ordered a hearing, which has been set for Nov. 25, to determine if the transcript of his original trial was inaccurate. Thursday Mono county, Calif., Superior Judge Walter Evans was appointed to preside at the hearing.

Famous Last Words...

Unclogging, oiling, and adjusting farm implements while they are running are the major causes of 30 per cent of farm-work accidents. Don't you take a chance! If something is wrong or needs adjustment, turn off the power before you investigate. Avoid stepping over or under moving belts; don't wear loose-fitting clothes around machinery; keep guards in place on power shafts and chains. By taking these precautions, you can be doubly sure your farm will be a safe place to work... to live.
