Garcia To Seek Aid For P. I. Economy

Manila — President Carlos P. Garcia said Saturday he would seek more financial aid from the United States to put the Philippine economy back in shape.

The 61-year-old President, who was returned to office by a massive margin in last Tuesday's elections, did not mention a specific figure.

He said he might take a trip to Washington in the near future to help solve the dispute between the United States and the Philippines about jurisdiction of U. S. military base here.

Presumably he also would discuss the subject of further U.S. financial aid then. Garcia, in an interview with United Press, said he plans to continue the five-year fiscal plan of the late President Ramon Magaysay, killed in a plane crash last March 17.

He said the Philippines "certainly" would welcome more American financial aid. Garcia said he planned "a few but not too many" changes in the top level of his administration.

the army in Beatrice, Neb., June 24, 1918. He received his discharge at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. on Sept. 29, 1919. He moved to Redmond in 1921 and to Southern Oregon in 1933. He retired from orchard work in Dec. 1949, making his home in the Central Point area.

Surviving is his wife Lola Ann Buck, Central Point; a stepson, Arlie Thompson, Central Point; a step daughter, Mrs. Georgie Lee Hamilton, Cottage Grove; two granddaughters, Mrs. Arlene Hogan, Willits, Calif.; Mrs. Emma Gifford, Medford; a grandson, Raymond Lynn Hamilton, Portland; a brother, Charles Buck, Medford; a sister, Judith Russell, Cozad, Neb. First of Series Of Improvements Made at Hospital

Ashland—First of a series of proposed improvements at the Ashland General hospital has been accomplished with the completion of an addition to the west end of the building to house the new laboratory and x-ray facilities.

Members of the medical staff of the hospital report that the new diagnostic unit as modern as any in the county. The new x-ray machine is of the latest type, the staff reported. With the new x-ray unit, studies of all parts of the body man now be done at the hospital.

The laboratory facilities provide for blood cultures, for growth of bacteria necessary to identify certain illnesses, and for tests sensitivity to the various antibiotics.

The x-ray department at the hospital is headed by Dr. Duane Gillum, specialist in radiology, who with his wife and two children reside at 1060 Park st. Dr. Gillum is a graduate of the University of Oregon. He will supervise the x-ray department and handle the various diagnostic procedures.

Dr. Gillum will be assisted in this work by the x-ray technician, Ron Maxwell, who is a registered medical and x-ray technician. Maxwell is president of the Oregon State Society of the American Medical Technologists. He has had previous experience

Youth Held In Jail On Larceny Charges

A 17-year-old Medford youth was arrested on charges of grand larceny, auto, in a stolen car late Friday evening by city police after he was stopped by state police near Ashland, according to Medford police.

Police said the boy, in a signed statement, told police he had taken the car from 31 North Grape st. on Thursday evening. Police said the youth also admitted in his statement that he had tanked three other cars from Medford during the past year.

The youth said he had taken a car from a service station on Nov. 14, telling the owner he wanted to try it out, police said. The car was later recovered by county sheriffs near Biddle rd.

He also said he had taken a car on a trail basis from a Medford used car dealer on Oct. 30. City police said the car was recovered about one block from the lot on Oct. 31. Police said he also said he had taken a car in late 1956 which was later recovered in Dallas.

He was lodged in the Jackson county jail pending action by juvenile authorities, according to the city police. They said five juveniles picked up with the youth were released when it was learned they had no knowledge of the stolen car.
