Crackdown Sought On Racial Bias
Washington — The President's Committee on Government Contracts today called for a crackdown on contractors who show racial and religious bias in hiring employees.

The committee said it has asked government agencies to deny awards of contracts where there was "clear and convincing evidence" of failure to comply with the nondiscrimination clause in previous contracts.

The committee, charged with enforcing the nondiscrimination clause written into all government contracts, reported to President Eisenhower on personnel policies in more than 500 plants of U. S. contractors which it reviewed during the past year.

It found that more than 50,000 Negroes and other members of minority groups were working in 335 of the plants.

Although Negroes held nearly 9 per cent of the jobs in the plants, their representation in white collar work "was strikingly lower," the report said.

It said office jobs for Negroes were most common in Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and the New York City area.

The committee said the number of Negro apprentices for skilled trades was higher than the percentage of Negroes now working in those crafts.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, committee chairman, said the committee adopted two new methods of insuring that employers comply with the antibias clause.

Born Elizabeth (Bess) Wait, Mrs. Fries came to Medford with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wait and family, about 1890, and she and her future husband graduated from high school here in 1893, members of the first graduating class of Medford High school. She taught in Medford schools for four years. The couple was married in 1897.

She and her husband have lived in many parts of the country as he followed his Army career. They made their home in Washington for many years.

Funeral services were to be held in Washington, but details were not known here immediately.

Mrs. Amos Fries Ex-Local Resident Dies In Capital
Mrs. Amos A. Fries, a former resident of Medford and wife of a retired Army major general, died in Washington, D.C., on Monday, friends here reported today.

General and Mrs. Fries were frequent visitors in Medford, and were here most recently last June, not long before their 60th wedding anniversary. While here they visited with General Fries' sister, Mrs. O. C. Purkeypile, 30 North Holly st., and Mrs. Fries' niece, Mrs. Volney Dixon.

Mrs. Fries became ill about the first of August, and was treated at Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

Although Negroes held nearly 9 per cent of the jobs in the plants, their representation in white collar work "was strikingly lower," the report said.

Sherriff Maintains Gein Committed Mass Murder of 10
Madison, Wis.—A sheriff maintained today that bachelor farmer Ed Gein committed the mass murder of 10 or more women to obtain his collection of human heads.

Sheriff Herbert Wanserski of Portage county injected the controversial theory into the investigation Tuesday night when he said he found the shrunken head of a missing woman in Gein's "house of horrors."

However, the director of Wisconsin's crime laboratory, Charles Wilson, said it would be impossible to identify any of the human death masks or skulls by sight.

Gein, 51, a frail, mild-mannered farmer from near Plainfield, Wis., has admitted butchering a woman storekeeper last Saturday. He said he got the rest of the skulls found in his junk littered home by robbing fresh graves.

Gein was scheduled to undergo further lie tests today at crime laboratory headquarters here in an effort to settle the issue.

Gein was questioned for about five hours Tuesday afternoon and submitted to a 35-minute lie test.

Wanserski told newsmen he and other authorities found the "face and head of Mary Hogan," a 54-year-old tavern operator from near Plainfield who disappeared nearly three years ago.

Gein has admitted dragging Mrs. Worden's body from her hardware store and hanging it by the heels in his woodshed.

There also were traces of formaldehyde in Gein's house, Wilson said, which could mean that Gein embalmed murder victims or that the skulls could have come from persons already embalmed.

But Wilson said he did not think Wanserski could possibly identify the head of Mary Hogan from among Gein's ghoulish trophies.

Wanserski said the heads found in the farmhouse had been skinned and made into death masks.

Sheriff Arthur Schley of Gein's home county said he was satisfied that Gein killed only Mrs. Worden and that the other skulls came from graves.
