

"The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" will be shown tonight at Southern Oregon college for a two-night run and shown here in the scene where Captain Blakeley (Orion Hammett) administers the oath to Lt. Cmdr. Queeg (Isaac McCauley) while Commander Challe, played by Peter Lungreen, holds the Bible. Seated is the court stenographer, played by Dale Flowers.

The tense drama is being presented by the Southern Oregon college players under the direction of Angus L. Bowmer. The Players' version was written by Herman Wouk. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. at Churchill hall; reserved seats are on sale at the Mart, Ashland, and Puruckers, Medford, or at the door.

Musical Comedy Seen As Ambitious Stage Production at MHS

Medford High school students and faculty staged a full-scale musical comedy last night—possibly the most ambitious stage production ever undertaken by the school, and it came off with flying colors. Almost a full-house audience was on hand for the school's production of "Carousel" and the applause was warm and sustained throughout the entire program.

While not as fast-paced as the work of professional cast, the musical proceeded smoothly and if there were any mishaps, they went unnoticed by this reviewer. The music and dances, the voices, both solo and chorus, the costumes, the sets and lighting, all are excellent for a student production and in many cases, much better than those in the audience had expected to see and hear. Rosemary Doolen is a pretty and sweet-voiced Julie, and John Frohmayer, a handsome and dashing Billy Bigelow. These two, and other students in the production, bring a freshness and innocence to the plot and theme of "Carousel" which is most appealing.

Sense of Comedy

Sue Baker played and sang Carrie Pipperidge with zest and a true sense of comedy which her audience found delightful, and the scene between Miss Baker and Ted Lawson as Jigger Craigin is one of the best in the production.

The principals had good support from Bob Gee, who played Enoch Snow, Dee Clark as Mrs. Mullin, Linda Smith as Nettie Fowler and David Frohmayer as David Bascombe.

Lesser Roles

Lesser roles were played by Milton Smith, Pat Hilton, George Koch, Nancy Adams, Lynn Knight, Jim Corum, Keith Berg, Mike Forbes, Pam Cooksey, Larry Taylor, Jim Ellis, Dennis Barr, Sharon Wymore, Dick Rankin, Craig Walstead and Dale Shaw. Miss Cooksey, cast as Louise, daughter of Julie and Billy, appeared in an effective dance scene.

The production staff is headed by Lynn Sjolund, musical director, and Lenore Zapell, dramatics director. An orchestra of both students and faculty members provided the major musical background, but Ray Lewis and Melody Pierce, pianist and organist, deserve special mention for their accompaniment of solos and duo numbers.

Warren Wolf designed the sets. John Drysdale coached the orchestra and Justin L. Dyrud the vocal music. Bud Wicker and Stanley Zapell assisted with the set construction and Jean James was responsible for costumes.

The musical will be repeated tonight at the high school auditorium, with curtain time at 8 p.m. O.S.

Students, Former Navy Men To Appear in College Drama

Ashland — Isaac McCauley, Ashland student at SOC, in playing the role of Captain Queeg of Caine Mutiny fame, conveys the feelings and actions of an unmasked psychopath in one of the most stirring courtroom scenes in the history of the theater, according to Director Angus Bowmer.

Dramatist Herman Wouk's prize Pulitzer award play will run Friday and Saturday, November 22-23, in Churchill hall auditorium beginning at 8:15, it was announced, and those attending are urged to be in their seats promptly at curtain time as the initial action contributes an integral part in the suspense of the drama and its surprising denouement.

Studded with players whose experience extends beyond college productions, the play is a dramatization of the trial of Lt. Stephen Maryk, played by Leslie White, Eugene, whose action in taking command of Captain Queeg's ship, the USS Caine, has led to his court martial. Young White is an Air Force veteran with four years of service.

Rudolf Vest Jr., well-known Ashland Shakespearean Festival actor, plays Lt. Barney Greenwald, defense attorney. He is also an Air Force veteran. Peter

Lungreen, Klamath Falls, has the role of prosecuting attorney Lt. Com. John Challe; and Bill Gregory, Central Point, the role of Lt. (jg) Willis S. Keith, a handsome, grave, but stupid, junior officer. He starred as Boris Kolenkov in "You Can't Take It With You."

Carl Richards will portray Junius Hannaford Urban, signalman 3rd class. He is from Portland. John Converse, Ashland, will enact the part of Lt. Thomas Feefer, communications officer, a novelist friend of Maryk's, and Robert W. Anderson, a native of Leetonia, Ohio, will take the part of Dr. Lundeen, navy psychiatrist. Mr. Anderson has served twenty years in the United States Navy and has retired after reaching the rank of aviation chief structural mechanic.

From Medford comes Gary Blew, the orderly, who starred in the SOC Player's production of "Aladdin," presented last spring term. He is joined by Dale Flowers, also from Medford and a veteran of "Aladdin," who will serve as court stenographer. David L. Bowdoin, Ashland, will play Dr. Bird, psychiatrist, whose dramatic experience includes roles in "Our Town" and "Ever Since Eve." He has served three years as a corporal in the USMC and is now in the Marine corps reserves.

Orion Hammett, Rogue River, will portray Captain Blakeley, president of the court, and brings to the role 30 years of experience in the US Navy, retiring with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.
