Quotes From the News

By UNITED PRESS

Seattle—Dave Beck Sr., testifying in the grand larceny trial of his son, Dave Jr.:
"If anyone has done anything it's me."

Washington—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, in saying he thinks the 13-month rise in living costs to a record peak has come to an end:
"There may be seasonal fluctuation, but all signs point to an end to the persistent rise in the cost of living."

New York—Former President Hoover, in blaming the American high school system for the shortage of engineers and scientists:
"In my view there is fundamental weakness from the too prevalent high school system of allowing a 13 or 14-year-old kid to choose most of his studies... a youngster's first reaction in school is to seek soft classes, not the hard work of science and mathematics."

Houston, Tex.—Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, noted nuclear physicist, in saying it was "heartwarming" how quickly Americans are responding to the Soviet space challenge:
"We are taking the necessary measures not only to insure our survival, but to maintain peace in the world for the benefit of mankind."

Cushing, Okla.—Mrs. Almonia Hubbard, on why a doctor wasn't called when seven members of her family became ill and one died:
"We don't use doctors. It is against our religious belief."

High School Principal Reports Flying Saucer

Cherokee, Ala. — U-P — High School Principal Homer Blankenship and his wife reported seeing a flying saucer Thursday night, its lights "flashing on and off."

Blankenship said the object, about 100 feet wide and tapered at the bottom, hovered over the highway moving up and down. He said, "it definitely was an object with enough speed to scare my wife and me half to death."

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

Hundreds of women write, asking what is the cause of their great nervous exhaustion, and I cannot say because there are several causes for exhaustion. If a woman has a good nervous inheritance, with no cases of nervous or mental illness or epilepsy in her family, and if she has always been a bit frail, then when perhaps now in her thirties, she has had great overwork and strain, with perhaps a sick child or sick mother or husband, or some tragedy, a bad accident, a long-lasting influenza, or a weakening operation, her exhaustion is likely to be due to her strain. In this case, a good vacation, a rest, or for a while the help of a maid in the house can straighten her out.

I am more worried about the woman who has a poor nervous heredity, with perhaps one or more moody, silent and melancholic people in the family. If such a person who has had an easy enough life, rather suddenly, without any obvious reason, gets to feeling exhausted, blue, discouraged, weak and toxic, and if careful examination fails to show anything physically wrong to account for the illness, I will suspect that what she has is a mild spell of depression. In such case, a vacation plus a lot of rest plus much psychotherapy is not likely to do much, if any, good. Then, a few electroshock treatments will often bring the woman quickly out of her depression.

Spurs on the Heels
People ask why they are getting spurs on their heel bone. I imagine it is part of a generalized tendency to arthritis, plus perhaps some aging. If the thing is painful enough I imagine an orthopedist can chisel the thing off.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time... with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it from place to place. We aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this Plymouth crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way up and down across the country... passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes... creeping through city traffic... arrowing down super-highways... feeling its way through 500 miles of rutted detours. And when the drivers turned the key to end the marathon, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself—today? You'll see what we mean.

That's the Plymouth "track"... and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!
