

Doctor Urges Early Report If Cancer Signs Observed

Most cancer can be removed or destroyed and its threat to the happiness of your family stamped out, Dr. Robert Turner stated during a recent annual meeting of the Jackson county unit of the American Cancer society.

AF Sergeant Says He Helped Modify Plane for Flight

Washington — And Air Force sergeant testified Monday he and missing flyer Gerald Murphy modified a twin engine plane for an overseas flight a few days before Jesus De Galindez disappeared.

Sgt. Harold L. French of Denver testified in Federal court that he and Murphy leased the aircraft on the same day Murphy introduced him to John Joseph Frank, a Washington attorney and former FBI man.

Frank, 42, is accused of acting as an unregistered agent in behalf of the Dominican Republic. Galindez, a former Columbia university professor and an outspoken foe of Dominican strong man Rafael L. Trujillo, disappeared in New York City on March 13, 1956, or possibly the evening of March 10.

FBI Investigation
Murphy, who is believed to have had some information about the Galindez disappearance, vanished in the Dominican Republic last Dec. 3. There have been charges that Murphy flew Galindez to the Dominican Republic. The FBI has been investigating the Galindez disappearance.

French, a key prosecution witness, said Frank was introduced as a "Mr. Kane" and was accompanied by two other men to a meeting at the Linden, N.J., airport March 6, 1956.

French, an aircraft maintenance technician, identified the two men who accompanied "Mr. Kane" as Rafael Arturo Espallat and Felix W. Bernardino, both former Dominican Republic consuls in New York.

French said Murphy called him as a consultant in the leasing of a surplus military twin engine Beacraft airplane. He testified he last saw the plane and Murphy on March 12 at an airfield near Amityville, Long Island, N.Y. By then, he said, they had boosted the plane's range from 850 miles to 1,400 miles with the addition of extra fuel capacity.

Autopsy Report Said Awaiting Information

District Attorney Thomas J. Reeder reported today that the cause for the death of Leo Jefferson Culley, 62, Medford, who was found dead in city jail Saturday is pending reports from the Crime laboratory in Portland.

The district attorney said an autopsy had been preformed. He further stated prior to the autopsy the body had been embalmed making it more difficult to ascertain the cause of death.

Culley, according to Chief Charles P. Champlin, was lodged in city jail about 8 p.m. Friday on charges of being drunk in public. It is reported he did not appear to be sick at any time nor did he ask officers for help. About 2 p.m. Saturday officers noted Culley was lying face-down on his bunk and appeared to be unconscious. It was then that he was discovered to be dead.

Police records show Culley has been arrested several times this year on similar charges. He was a former patient at Camp White, he said, and it was reported he had a medical history of heart trouble.

Slight Impairment Of Speech Noted, Noon Bulletin Says

received a clean bill of health in a report dated Nov. 11.

This was the third major illness suffered by the President in the last 25 months.

Today's announcement came two years, one month, and two days after the President suffered a heart attack at Denver Sept. 24, 1955.

Later, Mrs. Wheaton said definitely that the heart itself was not involved in the President's illness.

Mrs. Wheaton said Mrs. Eisenhower was with the President part of the night but that the President "slept most of the night."

Mrs. Wheaton told reporters in response to questions that she did not know whether Nixon, Rogers and Adams had considered the possible delegation of some of the President's powers during his incapacity.

The illness obviously eliminated the President's scheduled Paris trip for the Dec. 16-18 NATO summit meeting although Mrs. Wheaton said she had nothing to say on that at present.

Mrs. Wheaton also did not know whether next week's session with legislative leaders would be cancelled outright or possibly held with Nixon and other administration leaders.

Mrs. Wheaton said she did not know whether either Nixon or Rogers actually saw the President today.

The medical bulletin did not indicate at what time the speech impairment was first noticed.

Mrs. Wheaton said the doctors have not informed her when the cerebral occlusion actually occurred.

Mrs. Eisenhower remained close to her husband.

Son At White House

The couple's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, was at the White House part of the day.

Mrs. Wheaton said she knew of no discussion so far that any of the president's duties might be delegated during his illness.

She said she knew of no official duties that absolutely required action by the President today and that no papers had been sent him so far as she knew.

County Tax Money Is Apportioned

County Treasurer Karl Janouch reported today that $1,100,120.74 was received by his department Monday from the county tax collector. He explained that this amount represented 31.8 per cent of the total amount expected from the tax assessments.

He stated that the county treasury today mailed out approximately $1,200,000 of collected taxes to different tax bodies, including schools, cities, and water districts.

Express Shipments of Gift Packages Increases

Salem — Shipment of gift packages by railroad express has increased more than 200 per cent since 1947, the Public Utility Commission announced today.

The job of protecting the Negroes will be turned over to 900 National Guardsmen, federalized by President Eisenhower when he ordered in the paratroopers, but still residents of Arkansas.

Because of the Thanksgiving holidays, which begin Wednesday, the first possible test of the quality of protection of the National Guardsmen will come next Monday.

In command of the National Guardsmen is Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, a regular Army officer and commander of the Arkansas military district.

Gov. Orval Faubus does not think all the troops could leave now without violence.

Illness Brings Wild Selling on Market

New York — President Eisenhower's latest illness, diagnosed as a mild cerebral occlusion, brought wild selling into the stock market in the last half hour of trading today.

Tickers ran nearly 10 minutes behind actual floor transactions, recalling the wide heart attack break of Sept. 26, 1955, and the lighter drop in the illitis attack June 8, 1956.

But time was in favor of the market today. There was actually only 20 minutes after the news was announced from the White House until the final closing gong ended trading.

That ending of deals turned sales to the Pacific Coast Market in San Francisco. It gave time for traders to reconsider if they wanted to leave their sell orders in the brokers hand to be executed at the opening Wednesday.

If so that opening could be a tremendous one with specialists hard put to try to find buyers for the offerings at prices far below tonight's closing levels.

These closings were down $4 or $5 a share from Monday's last prices. The losses would have been much wider if the news had broken earlier, the experts said.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—THREE

Safety Commission Approves Program

Salem — The Oregon Traffic Safety commission has approved a long-range plan for improving the state's accident prevention program.

At a meeting here Monday, the commission made several recommendations, some of which will require legislative action. They include:

To expand present accident information and enforcement comparison studies and to provide standard accident report forms for use of investigating officers.

To expand the program of installing protective devices for railway grade crossings.

To seek legislation authorizing police to cite for traffic misdemeanors at the scene of an accident without first making an arrest and amendments that would eliminate the necessity for written consent in chemical tests for intoxication.

To increase activity of the Department of Motor Vehicles' improvement program.

To continue to encourage high school driver education.

To expand the staff for public safety education.

Formation of an advisory committee for citizens' safety organizations.

To ask the legislative interim committee on judicial administration to include a study of courts handling traffic cases.

Firemen's Dance Set For Thursday

The Medford Fire department will hold its annual Fireman's Ball at the Medford National Guard armory on Thanksgiving, Nov. 28, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., according to Fire Chief Gordon Barker.

Tickets for the annual event can be obtained from any fire station, the chief said. All proceeds from the dance will be used for toy-repair expenses, he said.

The fire department is now in full swing in repairing toys for the needy, according to the chief. He said the Central station is the repair center with personnel of the two branch stations doing the painting.

Total of $110,000 Raised For Crusade

More than $110,000 has been raised by the United Medford Crusade towards the goal of $123,130, it was reported at the weekly report luncheon of the division chairmen at the Jackson hotel Monday noon.

This is about 87 per cent of the total goal, according to Herb Patridge, crusade publicity chairman. The group expects to fill the goal by next week's meeting, he added.

Bob Johnson, UMC general

chairman, praised the division chairman and workers for their work in the campaign. He pointed out that the lumber and special events divisions had gone considerably over their goal.

Johnson expects a large part of the 13 per cent to be collected will be accounted for when one remaining account is turned in this week. He added that a large part of the remainder of the quota will depend on major contributions.
