Larry Slessler, ex-Medford high, has been one of the more promising freshmen this fall on the College of Idaho football squad. Coach Ed Troxel of the Coyotes reportedly is counting heavily on the 212-pound tackle as a fixture in the forward wall in 1958.

Troxel says he likes Slessler's spirit, attitude and ruggedness. Now just 18, Slessler is expected to add more weight to his frame during the next three seasons of collegiate football.

Slessler played in most of the varsity contests for the Caldwell school this fall, giving strength in the tackle slots which were a problem to the Coyotes in the pre-season planning. He also played on the freshman team.

ROGUE LOGGING RULES

The following matter may have made the Mail Tribune news section before but we don't remember it and will repeat because of the interest of fishermen. It's a public notice on Rogue river navigation regulations from the U. S. Army engineer district, Portland:

"The dumping of logs into the Rogue river or upon its banks below the high water line, and the rafting of logs, or floating of loose logs, sack rafts of timber and logs and the towing of log rafts on Rouge river, is hereby limited from 1 November of each to 31 March of the following year . . . Parties engaged in logging operations on the Rogue river shall arrange their work so that the channel of the river shall be free from floating logs or debris, caused by their operation, from 1 April to 31 October of each year . . ."

Howard Morris, Linfield guard and ex-Crater high player, was named lineman of the week in the Northwest conference, for his work against Willamette in the Wildcats' final game of the season. He won for his work both on offense and defense. Morris gained the same honor earlier in the season.

DON'T SHOOT GULLS

A number of people have voiced this plea to duck hunters in the Klamath area: "Don't shoot at the gulls and hawks." They contend that gulls and hawks are among the chief natural enemies for field mice which are seriously infesting the Klamath region.

HUNTERS INCORPORATED

Articles of incorporation for March Hunters of Medford have been filed in Salem by E. Edward Gordon, Ray Offord Jr., C. Wayne Chase, Dr. W. W. Stevenson and Fred Dolenchek. The group has purchased a 160-acre area in the Klamath Indian reservation for hunting and investment purposes.

BEST ROOTER

At Rotary club meeting last week, Dr. Kirk West was named "No. 1 rooter for Medford High school." West, pastor of First Presbyterian church was presented a big red and black ribbon for his lapel (about a foot long) and a blanket with an "M" sewen on it.

Old Mail Tribune clippings were read, telling about the time West lost his hat while cheering. And it was mentioned that he lost a blanket recently while doing the same. Coach Fred Spiegleberg was quoted as saying that the Black Tornado football club has never lost when West was on hand to root.

Skeet Shoot On Sunday

Medford Gun club's skeet championship shoot will be held on Sunday, Dec. 1.

Competition will be in open, 20 gauge and 410 gauge events. Contestants shot 2,600 targets and 75 prizes were awarded last Sunday in the pre-Thanksgiving turkey shoot at the club.

Two or more prizes were won by George Jantzer, J. C. Warren, Jack Burns, Charles Skeeters, Ev. Elrod, Dick Hervey, Joe Brookins, Ray Coleman, Harry Tonn, Sam Jennings, Martin Clogston and Dick Skeeters. Next turkey shoot will be on Sunday, Dec. 15.

Greene Stumping For State Unity In Boxing Groups

Paterson, N.J. — Commissioner Abe J. Greene of the National Boxing association is campaigning for unity among the state commissions to combat "sinister influences" in the fight game.

Speaking at a joint meeting of East Paterson Rotary Clubs Monday, Greene did not name the "influences," but he said there were signs of a "covert plot" to wreck the NBA — "the only true safeguard for boxing."

Greene declared that commissions are helpless in arranging fights selectively "because of the tight hold by one organization on the national television boxing shows."

RACE GROUP FORMED

Salem — Articles of incorporation were filed here today for the Lebanon Outboard Racing association. They were signed by Harry Ginhart, Ernest Whitcomb and Curt Wilbur.

Miami Marlin Hurler Tops League With .750

Montreal — Ray Semproch, 26-year-old righthander with the Miami Marlins, topped all International league pitchers this year with a .750 percentage, official league averages disclosed today.

Semproch won 12 games and lost four, and compiled an earned run average of 2.76. A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he will report to the Philadelphia Phillies next spring.

Eaton Regains World Title, Tops Dunham's Score by 38

Portland — Bus Eaton, 35, won back the world record for continuous games bowled after tumbling 66,949 pins in 67 hours and racking up 425 games, 38 games over the previous mark set last week at Medford, Ore.

The Roseburg truck driver quit at 7:25 p.m. Monday. He had bowled steadily since midnight Friday, pausing only to drink orange juice or broth. Eaton originally set a bowling game mark in Roseburg and it was broken by an Ohio bowler. Then Dennis Dunham of Grants Pass broke that mark with 387 games at Medford.

After the 425th game, Eaton said "I just decided to quit." He added, "my hands are a little swollen and my feet are tired. I guess I'll sleep all right when I go to bed."
