

Psychiatrists to End Tests on Gein

Waupun, Wis. — Psychiatrists at the state mental hospital today prepared to complete an examination of butcher-killer Ed Gein who has confessed to raiding two more graves.

The 51-year-old bachelor farmer admitted Wednesday at the state crime laboratory in Madison that he pillaged nine graves instead of seven as had been reported previously. Gein said he opened graves at Plainfield, Hancock and Spiritland, Wis.

The seven-hour lie detector test at the crime lab was terminated when Gein complained of a headache. He was to be returned here so extensive tests could be conducted to find out if he is sane. Wisconsin law prohibits criminal trial of the insane.

However, crime lab authorities said they want Gein to return to Madison for another lie detector test after the mental examination to clear up unsolved portions of the case. They are looking into the possibility he may have had an accomplice in the moonlight grave robbing expeditions. They found one skull that is not accounted for either by his admitted slayings or grave thefts.

Gein, a frail-appearing bachelor who lived alone in a "house of horrors" filled with parts of female bodies, has admitted killing Mary Hogan, 54, of Bancroft, Wis., and Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, of Plainfield, Wis.

Thorpe Named Director Of Kiwanis Club Here

Vernon Thorpe, city public works director, will serve as a Medford Kiwanis club director in 1958.

He was elected at the club's session yesterday at Rogue Valley Country club. A run-off vote was conducted because of a tie in voting a week ago. Bill Singler was elected president in the Nov. 20 balloting.

Three Men Charged In Death of Father

New York — Police charged three men Wednesday night with the impulsive shotgun murder of the father of seven children, including quadruplets.

Two of the accused—Woodrow Miller, 30, and Edward Daniels, 35—were picked up shortly after the murder Tuesday night riding in a black and pink convertible. James Jordan, 25, was arrested Wednesday. Police said Miller admitted firing the death weapon.

The victim, Joseph Graber, 43, was shot by three holdup men who got so panicky they fled without taking money. Graber told police before he died early Wednesday that he had offered the men the $250 in his cash register. He said they shot him with a sawed-off shotgun as he walked to the cash register. All three are Negroes.

Graber stumbled to the pavement outside the store and cried: "What's going to happen to my wife and seven children? My poor children."

The Graber quads, three girls and one boy, are five years old.

Police Investigate Report of Blood Spot

Columbus — Police recently rushed to a suburban Bexley home when a housewife called and said she had found a pool of blood at the bottom of the basement stairs.

She told officers she had gone to investigate a loud noise in the basement.

Police found only a jar of jelly that exploded in the summer heat.

Home rooms cooperated in the toy drive, and a load of toys were taken to the firemen for renovation. They will be distributed at Christmas time by the Lady Lions.

Jackson School

By: Nancy Burger Sharon Baize

Tuesday Jackson school had a Thanksgiving dinner. Everybody said it was the best dinner they had eaten. There were over 550 who ate here on that day.

We are all glad the six weeks tests are over, as we won't have to worry about them over the holidays.

All the rooms in Jackson school are receiving a telephone, but these will not be in use for a couple of weeks. This communication system will help everyone a great deal.

Wednesday we had a short assembly in observance of Thanksgiving. Margaret Doolen, student body president, presided.

Legion Gives Book In Memory Of Capps

The Medford American Legion Post has presented the Medford public library with a copy of "Sunset Outdoor Building Book" in memory of the late Ellis H. Capps.

The book was selected by the post because of Mr. Capps' interest in remodeling and improving things around his home. The book is designed to help home owners repair and properly maintain home equipment.

The legion post has traditionally added a book to the library shelves as a useful memorial for each of its members who have died. A book has also been ordered in memory of the late George E. Gates.

Three U.S. Presidents have been assassinated and four have died natural deaths while in office.
