Suggestions That Eisenhower Resign Continue On Some Editorial Pages

Washington—Suggestions that President Eisenhower resign or step aside temporarily during his illness continued today despite White House efforts to squelch the idea. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there had been no discussion with or by Eisenhower on quitting. He said it would be strictly the President's decision whether to let Vice President Richard M. Nixon take over his duties while recovering from a cerebral attack. He also pointed to statements he and Nixon made Thursday to scotch reports that the President's condition might cause him to resign. As was the case during other presidential illnesses, Nixon said he would preside over Cabinet and National Security Council meetings next week. Following is a sample of some of the editorial comment in newspapers throughout the country on the disability issue: Washington Post and Times Herald—"The President could safely and advantageously ask Mr. Nixon to serve as acting president during the period while he is incapacitated. . . The fact

Diplomat Arrested In Venezuela for Spreading Rumors

Santiago, Chile—Chile has suspended diplomatic relations with Venezuela because of the arrest in Caracas of a Chilean diplomat because of spreading rumors of a revolution against Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jimenez. The Chilean Foreign Office Thursday officially informed Venezuelan Ambassador in Santiago, Renato Esteve Rios, of the action. A formal note said relations were suspended because Venezuela had not replied to an official Chilean protest over the case of Jorge Basulto Guillen, an attaché at the Chilean Embassy in Caracas. Basulto Guillen was arrested by Venezuelan secret police and held four days before being declared "persona non grata" and ordered out of the country. He arrived in Chile Tuesday. Did Not Challenge The Chilean government said it did not challenge the right of Venezuela to request the withdrawal of a diplomatic official. But it maintained Basulto Guillen had full diplomatic privileges and therefore was immune from arrest and detention. An official communique issued by the Venezuelan Foreign Office said Basulto Guillen was released as soon as his diplomatic status became known. It said his arrest resulted from "confusion" arising from the fact that he had lived in Venezuela for more than 20 years and was engaged in various business ventures in addition to being on the payroll of a Venezuela firm. The communique said Basulto Guillen was taken into custody because he was "spreading false rumors to alter the public peace."

SUFFERS "CHILL"—President Eisenhower wears a weary expression on his way to Washington Airport to greet visiting King Mohammed V of Morocco. The White House announced later that Ike suffered a "chill" at the time and was ordered to bed by his physicians.

Republicans Label Charges Typical Demo 'Clap-Trap'

Washington—Republicans today labeled "typical Democratic clap-trap" charges that Vice President Richard M. Nixon was abandoning association with the "Eisenhower personality." The Democratic Digest charged Thursday night that Nixon has apparently decided to abandon the "Eisenhower personality" because, it said, the President's popularity has been on the wane since last spring. Since that time, the Digest said, "Nixon has been acting

'Pen Attorneys' In Ohio Are Busy

Columbus, Ohio—"Pen attorneys," the convicts who hope to win freedom by finding a legal loophole in their trails, are busy at Ohio Penitentiary here. Each year these cell-block lawyers file more than a hundred petitions in local courts asking for their freedom. Usually the petitions are writs of habeas corpus which the prisoners generally call "habeas escape us." The writs require the state to show why the prisoner should not be released. Warden Ralph W. Alvis said the men spend weeks and years studying law books and court decisions. Most of them refuse the advice of an attorney when they feel they have a legal point. Instead, they prefer to write and file their own legal papers and to appear in court as their own counsel. Some of the convicts win their freedom. Robert Crawford sentenced four years ago won freedom when he proved the clerk made a mistake in reading the indictment to which he pleaded guilty. Others prisoners learn sadly they should have taken up a different do-it-yourself project. A number have won freedom from the prison only to be met at the prison gates by officials from other states who have warrants for them. One "pen attorney" lost his life because of his excellent academic efforts. Cecil Yankey, serving a life term for murder, won a new trial. He was convicted again and sentenced to the electric chair where he died Sept. 12, 1950.

March, Mrs. Dodge tried unsuccessfully to sell the home and have it preserved as a museum. The old house, designed by Addison Mizner, proved a white elephant in this day of compact and push-button living, when the liveried servants who used to run the home would be nothing but an unnecessary expense. Some valuable art work went down with Playa Rienta. Paintings on the walls of the state dining room of the mansion were done by Achille Angeli and were exact copies of the 14th century frescoes of a Florentine palace.

get under way until Eisenhower came into office." The Digest said Nixon saw the danger of recent Russian accomplishments and "is now among those sounding the alarm." But it questioned whether "his 20-20 hindsight qualifies him as a national leader in these fast-moving times." Continued Weakness Noted in Area Markets Portland—Continued weakness western lumber and plywood markets was reported here today by Crow's Lumber Market Index. Slow demand was blamed on early season storms in eastern and midwestern market areas, plus the fact that retailers were holding their inventories down for tax purposes until after Jan. 1. Weather has favored both log and lumber production in the producing areas. CURTAILS SHIFT Valselt, Ore.—Valselt Lumber company's veneer plant has curtailed its second night shift, affecting about 25 workers. Company officials said the partial closure was temporary. It was blamed on a poor lumber market. About 70 men are employed on the two remaining shifts.

Chicago Sun-Times—"A prolonged illness or prolonged recovery on the President's part that would remove him largely from the daily decisions of government that must be made might have an adverse effect on the American people. Doubt and fear could sap our resolution and strength, and create bitter divisions that would require much time to heal." Chicago Daily News—"Nixon, the Cabinet and the White House staff have improvised a sort of committee procedure that worked admirably during Mr. Eisenhower's previous illnesses. . . It is a tribute to President Eisenhower's executive capacity that he has consistently employed the vice president on duties that fully qualified him for a leading part in this work, or for that of the presidency itself if it should evolve upon him." Nashville Tennessean—"Inherent in the almost feverish attempts to plant the impression that Mr. Eisenhower is in full control of the government is a dangerous reluctance to face facts—or at least to acknowledge them publicly. Certainly it is hoped that the optimism about Mr. Eisenhower's health will prove justified. But just as certainly, this optimism should not be allowed to deter those in responsible positions from considering and acting upon means national leadership while he is indisposed."

London—"The Soviet Union's leaders sent get-well-soon cables to President Eisenhower, Radio Moscow reported Thursday. The messages, sent by Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and President Klement Voroshilov, wished Eisenhower "a speedy recovery."
