The Medford Kiwanis club sponsored a luncheon Wednesday at the Country club for the football players. This luncheon was to include those that earned their varsity letters. The third men were excused after three period, in order to be at the Country club by noon.

Back-to-school night was held Monday, Nov. 25, at MHS. The Future Teachers of America club registered some 496, according to FTA advisor, Mrs. Maxine Smith. After registering parents attended a general assembly in the auditorium, where James Johnston welcomed all of the parents and introduced the members of the faculty who hold no classes. They were Lester Harris, principal, Miss Josephine Kirtley, vice principal, and deans Mrs. Grace Berg and Alex McDonald. After the 10-minute classes. Following the class schedules, refreshments were served in the boys' gym by members of the Future Homemakers of America. In the remaining half hour, parents were permitted to return to any teacher to make appointments for personal counseling concerning their child.

Despite the fog, a large number of people turned out to see the final performance of the musical play "Carousel." The play, which was previously scheduled for Nov. 21 and 22, was also presented Tuesday night for those who had purchased tickets but were turned away because of a full house on Thursday and Friday.

Following a short business meeting, Maj. Gen. Joseph Hicks from the Jackson County Civil defense spoke to the Future Nurses of America Tuesday afternoon on the subject of radio-active fallout. After the meeting refreshments were served.

The Medford High band and choir will present a pop concert Dec. 8 at 2 p.m. in the high school auditorium. This will be a benefit radio show produced by radio station KMED. The admission will be $1 per person. The proceeds will help send the band to San Francisco.

Last Tuesday's International Relations league meeting took the form of a small model United Nations assembly. Four groups representing Syria, Turkey, Russia and the United States debated over the problems resulting from the relations between these countries. The session was held for the purpose of acquainting IRL members with UN procedures in preparation for the state IRL convention to be held next February.

With the departure of the 1957 football season and only anticipation about the '57-'58 basketball season, there is a lull at MHS. Without pep assemblies and daily announcements concerning sports, students' conversations are now about different subject than they were a month ago. However, the studies might be profiting because of this lull!

St. Mary's High School

Sharon Roberts, St. Mary's junior, was recently chosen the local winner in the "I Speak for Democracy" contest. After being selected the school winner Sharon gave her speech on television and was chosen the local winner on the program.

The other school winners out of whom Sharon was picked were John Kerr, Mike King, Carl Michael, Loraine Smith, Constance Sokolowski and Richard Theilard.

The football season is over and letters have been awarded. Those receiving letters are Harold Allen, Jeff Anhorn, Todd Caster, Charles Cavin, John Champ, Gary Cutting, Willie Debrick, Jack Hill, Willie Jones, Tom Kimball, Bill Kropp, Bruce Martin, Joe McCalvey, Dick Morehouse, Pat Pepper, Jerry Scarborough, Owen Triggs, and Greg Wolfe. Managers awards went to Danny Hays and Mike Anhorn.

Basketball practice has begun and the squad has been narrowed to 15. They seem to be in good shape to meet the first opponent, Hedrick, on Dec. 6.

The next junior high skating party has been scheduled Dec. 9. This will be a reward for good behavior at the last party.

A movie will be shown Dec. 19 and 20 for grades four through eight. This is to be part of the Christmas observance. The third grades will see a series of short films, and everyone will enjoy movie parties on Dec. 20.

Dec. 6 is the date decided for the annual PTA chili feed. The band and chorus will entertain afterwards.

The eighth grade homemaking classes recently completed a five-week course in baby sitting. Rates were decided upon and a certificate was given to all who completed satisfactorily.

School was dismissed at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday Nov. 27, and Thursday and Friday gave students an teachers a four day week end, because of Thanksgiving.

Squaws in the halls! A bartender roaming around? There's one day in the year when this kind of dress is allowed, and that's Western Day. Winners of the contest for the best dressed people on Western Day were Marilyn Jones and Donna Colpitts dressed as the Indian squaws, and Mike Nolte dressed as a bartender.

The winners were announced at the FFA barn dance held on Friday Nov. 22.

"On your mark, get set, go!" They were off with the speed of lightning and the sound of thunder as Allan Kimney fired his gun to officially start Sadie Hawkins Day. The boys ran for all they were worth as the girls lined up to start after them. With the second shot, the girls were off after the men. Squeals of delight came from the girls as they caught the men, but no one came from the men! After a girl caught her man, she proceeded to take him over to Marrying Sam (Reilly Armstrong) where the ceremony was performed for 50 cents. She then received a marriage certificate which was her ticket to the dance that night, and of course, a wedding ring (which in reality was a chicken band).

At the dance that night, Patty Peffley and Warren Straus were chosen to be "Maid of Honor" and Daisy Mae. They presided over the festivities of the evening. The senior class sponsored Sadie Hawkins Day and the dance. The cafeteria was decorated in Dogpatch theme with a mural on the wall depicting a typical "Kissin' Rock and the Cave were some of the other decorations.

One of the long awaited holidays of the year finally arrived. A four day vacation was a relief from the hectic week that preceded it. Students will return to school on Monday after the effects of a Thanksgiving dinner have worn off.

There are 11 articles in the United Nations charter.

"Turkey Hop" was the theme for the eighth grade dance held Nov. 27. The dance, along with other activities, was held in the Hedrick gymnasium from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The dance was also a "sock hop" at which all students had to dance in their socks.

The band officers have announced Dec. 6 as the date for their Christmas dance. Besides recorded music the band will present its own dance band to play many popular songs and others appropriate to the theme. The theme has not been announced as yet.

The Hedrick cafeteria featured a Thanksgiving Turkey dinner Nov. 26. A total of 684 students were served from Hedrick and the Roosevelt Annex. Free ice cream and other specialties were features of the occasion.

Hedrick students attended the playoffs of the boys' basketball intramurals from 1 to 2 p.m. Wednesday before being dismissed for Thanksgiving vacation, Thursday and Friday. All three games were played simultaneously, one on the stage and two on the main gym floor. The winners were 8th grade, Mr. Graves' home room; 9th grade, Mr. Richardsons' home room; 7th grade—the All Star Team.

Several new yellow litter receptacles have been placed at various points around Hedrick. The custodians made and painted them and decorated them with hornet emblems.

The students from the Spanish classes at Hedrick Junior High participated in a radio program recorded at KMED at 3 p.m. Nov. 27. The program consisted of interviews portraying different phases of Mexican life. Those participating were Janice

Nelson, Susan Yoder, Lonny Willoughby, Mark Goodman, June Wheaton is the Spanish instructor at Hedrick. Sarah Martin, Jerry Jarman, Use Mail Tribune Classified Ads
