

Service Groups Provide Christmas at Camp White

Camp White — Volunteer service organization members, who have arranged a complete program of activities for the Christmas season at the VA domiciliary, are going through with their plans in spite of the fog and traffic on the highways.

Starting with a variety show given by the Caesar Muzzioli accordionists, the various patron groups have been visiting Camp White regularly to provide entertainment, and to arrange for the distribution of gifts and the holiday decorations.

Sojourners Hold Party

Medford Sojourners held a gay Christmas party Thursday with members of the board as hostesses. Santa passed out presents and the serving table was loaded with fruit cake, decorated cookies and candy.

Mrs. Floyd Robertson presided at the business meeting. The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for the coming six months. They are Mrs. James Winslow, president; Mrs. Eugene Ingram, first vice-president; Mrs. Dwight Crossier, second vice-president; Mrs. Jean Nelson, treasurer; Mrs. Peston Hobbs, secretary.

Mrs. A. L. McClure played Christmas carols at the piano. Mrs. Dayton Depue was the only guest present.

Cards followed dessert. A bridge winner was Mrs. Elmer Ness. Winners at pinocle were Wesley Forler and Mrs. Vera Billingsley.

The recent dinner dance given by the Sojourners December 7 was attended by 78 people. Mrs. Robertson, the president, was especially feted.

Nut-Bowl Holiday Tradition

By JEANNE LESEM United Press Correspondent New York—This is the season when the average home becomes the nutcracker suite.

In spite of a growing preference for shelled pre-packaged nuts, the tradition of a nut-bowl and in-shell nuts returns at Christmastime.

No matter how you crack them—with a hammer, tongs or the heel of a shoe—supplies are ample this year.

Bad weather and insect damage cut the size of the pecan, almond and walnut crops in this country slightly, so that prices will continue to be a little higher than last year for these three favorites.
