Surgery For Heart Disease

At a recent meeting of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Richard T. McDonald and associates, of the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, reported autopsy studies on 113 hearts which showed that less than 13 per cent of the patients who had died of arterio-sclerotic heart disease could have benefited from coronary artery surgery of any kind. The difficulty is that when a bad heart attack comes, it may come only after several arteries in the heart have been diseased for a long while. They are so badly narrowed that the problem of getting plenty of blood to the heart muscle is too great to be solved by any method as yet available. It is interesting to note that at this meeting of 8,500 surgeons, many of the papers were on heart surgery.

vive for as long as nine months. This is a tremendous achievement. It was done by preparing the recipient rat by early injections of cells from the lymph nodes or spleen of the donor rat. This preparation must start shortly after the recipient is born. Then, when the rat grows up, he will accept foreign skin and keep it for months.

Subcommittee To Consider Road Bill

Portland—First item on the 1958 agenda of the Senate roads and highways subcommittee will be the bill of six Pacific Northwest Democratic senators for an ultimate $50 million authorization for National forest access roads, Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.) said today upon his return from regional hearings on the measure. This would be by far the largest access roads fund in history.

Neuberger said he had received this assurance from Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) chairman of the subcommittee which is considering the bill. Neuberger added that Gore told him "he is fully convinced of the soundness of the legislation and is highly hopeful of its adoption by the Senate."

Neuberger said the clinching argument with Gore was testimony by a number of Oregon lumber operators, during the hearings in Portland on Dec. 11, that private construction of access roads actually was financed out of the funds which the government collected for National forest stumpage.
